The Markets Open to Us in Great Britain.

Hon. George W. Ross on Our National Prospects and Opportunities.

At the Labor Day gathering in Toronto fair grounds, Hon. George W. Ross was one of the speakers. He and future progress. At the Chicago exhibition a few years ago, he remarked, it was shown that we are equal to producing goods equal to those of any other country, and this opens up other problems. If we produce these goods, how are we to find a market for them? That is a problem which for the Dominion of Canada appears to me easy of solution. In finding a market there are one of two essentials. think, and the next is the power to produce in large quantities; I think we have natural resources in unlimited tion of transportation.
