"STEEL TRUST" RIVAL FOR NEW SOUTH WALES

To Be Erected at Sydney.

Washington, Dec. 25 .- A formidable rival to the so-called "Steel Trust" is to be created in New South Wales, where a steel-making plant is to be built at a cost of $5,000,000. The information is conveyed in a report just received by this Government from American Consul-General John P. Bray at Sydney, who says that $50,000 already has been spent in preliminary work. The mills will be erected near Newcastle, and they will be extended as the needs of Australia

"The amount of money to be expended will be unlimited," Mr. Bray declares in his report, "because the company will be spending money all

Kicked to Death.

Deep cuts on the head and face, a broken arm and wrist, and many bruises told plainly of rough and brutal freatment. The police say he was kicked to death. The man's overcoat, undercoat and vest were missing, one sleeve of his shirt was ripped off, and the remainder of the clothing badly torn.

Those who examined the body say the man had died but a very short while before being found, and he probably lay there dying, a hundred feet from heip, throughout the frosty night. Those at the station heard neither the noise of fight nor appeals for assistance. People enjoying Christmag Eve in the nearest house, 50 yards distant, knew nothing of what was going on; crews of trains that passed and stopped there during the night were unaware of anything uncommon.
