MORDECAI BROWN TO MANAGE REDS

Three-Fingered Hurler Named as Successor of Joe Tinker, Says Rumor.

WILL BE HIS FIRST TRY

President Farrell, of Yankees, Made Good Offer To Buy Tinker From Cincinnati.

[Canadian Press.] New York, Nov. 27.—That Mordecai Brown, the three-fingered pitcher, has been selected to manage the Cincinnati Nationals, succeeding Joe Tinker, is the statement declared to be based on good authority, printed here this morning. Brown is a member of the team, which got him from Louisville last year after he had been released to that club from the Chicago Nationals, for whom he starred in the box for many seasons. He twisted a good many games for Tinker last season. He never has professed managerial ambitions, so far as is known, but his friends assert that as a level-headed, intelligent baseball man, who knows the game thoroughly, he is worthy of a trial in Tinker's place.

President Frank Farrell is anxious to buy Tinker's release from Cincinnati, of the Reds, and telegraphed the Cincinnati president on the subject yesterday. The Cincinnati president declared he would outbid any other manager for Tinker's services. "Perhaps we can induce Herrmann to let Tinker out of the National League," said President Farrell, who is in this city, and had heard Frank Farrell's statement.

CAPITALS WON JUNIOR HONORS

Defeated Dundas in Final Game by Score of 46 to 9.

GAME WAS A CLEAN ONE

Caps Jumped Into Lead in First Quarter and Scored Easily After That.

Toronto, Nov. 27.—Capitals, of Toronto, won the Junior O. R. F. U. championship at Oakville yesterday afternoon by beating Dundas 46 to 9, and local fans who saw them in action here against Sarnia are not a bit stronger than the team London had. In fact, many Rugby fans in this city believe that had London or Petrolia won the local Junior O. R. F. U. title, they would have captured the title Capitals won yesterday.

Sarnia Was Off-Color. The Sarnia team was decidedly off-color in its game here with the Capitals. The Tunnel Town squad played a miserable game, and had it played like that against London here at the first of the season, the locals would have run up as big a score on it as Capitals ran up on Dundas. And yet the Capitals were only able to beat Sarnia here by the score of 9 to 2, scoring a fluke touchdown at that.

Petrolia Was the Sam. There is little doubt, even in the minds of Sarnia fans, that Petrolia had the best team in this group, and should have won the honors. They would have, had London played against Sarnia as it did against Petrolia here. Both teams were not at its full strength, and even when Petrolia played here, several substitutes were on the lineup. However, both London and Petrolia looked better than Sarnia did here against the Capitals, and had either

LONDON HOCKEY TEAM TO TAKE BIG TRIP

Will Play Series of Two Games Each in Detroit and Cleveland, Starting on Dec. 16.

The London hockey club has completed arrangements for a ten-day trip, commencing on Dec. 16, and finishing up on the 19th, during which two games will be played in Cleveland and two in Detroit. Secretary Vilim called up Manager Brown, of the Detroit club, last night, and arranged to play in that city on Thursday and Friday, Dec. 18 and 19. He wired Manager Shannon, of Cleveland, asking for dates that on Dec. 18 and 19. This trip will be one of the biggest ever attempted by a local hockey club, and should do much toward conditioning the players for the hard O. H. A. season which begins in London about Jan. 1.

ARE TORONTO CAPS. BEST TEAM IN JUNIOR O.R.F.U.?

Showing of the Championship Winners Against Sarnia Here Produces the Belief That London or Petrolia Could Have Beaten Them Easily—Sarnia Was Off Color.

Star Wing of McGill Team Is Shown Up by Maritime Papers.

Sydney and Fredericton Papers State Emphatically He Is Man Who Played Professional Baseball.

[Canadian Press.] Halifax, N. S., Nov. 26.—In an article on Joe Donnelly, the McGill line plunger, accused of playing professional baseball, the Sydney Post says:

We are of the opinion that it is the self-same Joe. In fact, in a letter received from a friend in Montreal, recently, the Post was informed that "Joe Donnelly, star wing of the McGill football team, wishes to be remembered to you." Again, we have seen several pictures of Joe in football regalia which appeared in recent issues of a Montreal paper, and if it's not Joe it's his twin brother. Joe played first base for the Dominion C. B. team two years ago, and stayed with them last season. He was released, however, and signed on with Waterford, for whom he started during the latter part of the season.

The Fredericton Gleaner says: There are a good many of us who always had the idea that the Cape Breton baseball league was a semi-professional organization, at least, but now Joe Donnelly comes to bat with a statement that his "brother" had played professional baseball, but he had never done so. "I don't think many people have been of the opinion that Joe has been playing ball since he came to McGill," the Gleaner says. "He was on the payroll of the St. John Magdalen until he drew an indefinite suspension, after which he jumped to Cape Breton while on the blacklist, and in my office today is a telegram in which he placed $30 per week as salary he wished to draw down from the Fredericton club for playing baseball. He did not get such a cake from the Fredericton club, and then it was that the McGill strong man signed up with St. John."

Every Middleweight Calls Himself Champ

Instead of One Successor to Stanley Ketchel There Are a Dozen of Them, and Still No Sure Prospect of Settling Claims to Leadership.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 25.—It has frequently been said that the middleweight class has had no leader since Stanley Ketchel passed away. One of the reasons probably was that the middleweights seemed to have no desire to get together and determine who should be head of the class.

Judging from the signs of the times it is different now. The welter and middle weight classes have fused and there are quite a number of claimants of the championship. The little men advancing the claims are imbued with fighting spirit as well as the spirit of argument, the middleweights should furnish the cream of fistful entertainment during the winter and far into the summer of 1914.

Jimmy Clabby, who is to box Frank Logan at Coffroth's Day City arena Thanksgiving afternoon, says that he is the real champion, and by the same token, he has as much right as any of the other to claim the distinction.

Eddie McGoorty, who went to Australia a few days ago, considers himself the champion. Now, if the dispute were confined to Clabby and McGoorty, we would only have to wait a few months to have the matter settled, for an understanding has been entered into by which Clabby and McGoorty will get together on the latter's return from the antipodes.

Of course, if Jimmy or Ed were worsted will go by the boards. Jack Dillon, who is to box Sailor Petroskey at Butte on Thanksgiving Day, is another champion claimant.

Frank Klaus recently, says it makes him laugh to hear a lot of fellows laying claims to something that belongs to a gentleman by the name of Chip.

Gibson is Bothering Mr. Chip. Of Frank Klaus nothing which smacks of warfare intentions has been heard lately, but one, Mike Gibson, who, like Clabby, is a graduate

BERT DANIELS HOLDS UNIQUE RECORD IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

The Former Canadian League Player Was Hit by Pitched Balls Seventeen Times During the Season—Larry Lajoie Was Second With Fifteen Dents.

New York, Nov. 26.—When Frank Farrell sent Bert Daniels to Baltimore as part payment for Fritz Mabel he removed from the American League the player who was clearest at teaching first base by being hit by pitched balls. The former Yankee drew seventeen casualties last season, being winged three times in one game played with the Senators. On this occasion Daniels probably set a major league record, for while it has happened before that a player has been hit three times in a game, no one remembers when a player was hit three times in a game by three different pitchers, as was Daniels. The men who winged him were Galita, Engel and Hughes.

Next to Daniels the man who received the greatest number of Red Cross passes was Larry Lajoie. They played today's game, the Yankees pitched balls fifteen times, the would be received from Kieffer, of the Yankees putting him on the hospital list. The better man, Daniels, was seriously crippled by a pitched ball was Catcher Sam Agnew, of the Browns, who was hit of the Nationals, beamed him on July 25, six weeks.

A team made up of players who were most frequently hit by pitched balls last season would have on it five members of the champion Athletics, two Naps, one Speed Boy and one Highlander. These were the Spartan athletes of 1913 and the number of times they were hit: Catcher—Shang, of Athletics, hit nine times.

Pitcher—Plank of Athletics, hit three times. First base—Johnston, of Cleveland, hit seven times.

Second base—Lajoie, of Cleveland, hit fifteen times. Third base—Barry, of Athletics, hit ten times.

Left field—Daniels, of Yankees, hit seventeen times. Right field—Speaker, of Boston, hit seven times.

Shortstop—Barry, of Athletics, hit nine times. Catcher—Shang, of Athletics, hit nine times.

Rev. John Coburn was the only speaker of the evening, and he discussed the problem of temperance as the only real issue in today's by-election. His clear and forcible delivery drew his points home with telling effect.

"Five thousand men go to their death every year in Canada through the liquor traffic," he said. "The number has to be recruited annually from among the boys of the country. Have you any boys to spare? If not, then vote for Mr. Laidlaw and the abolition of the traffic in drink."

TOM L. HAYGARTH says:

"There is a great diversity of opinion regarding the correct shirt to wear at balls, weddings, theatres, dinners and other formal and informal affairs.

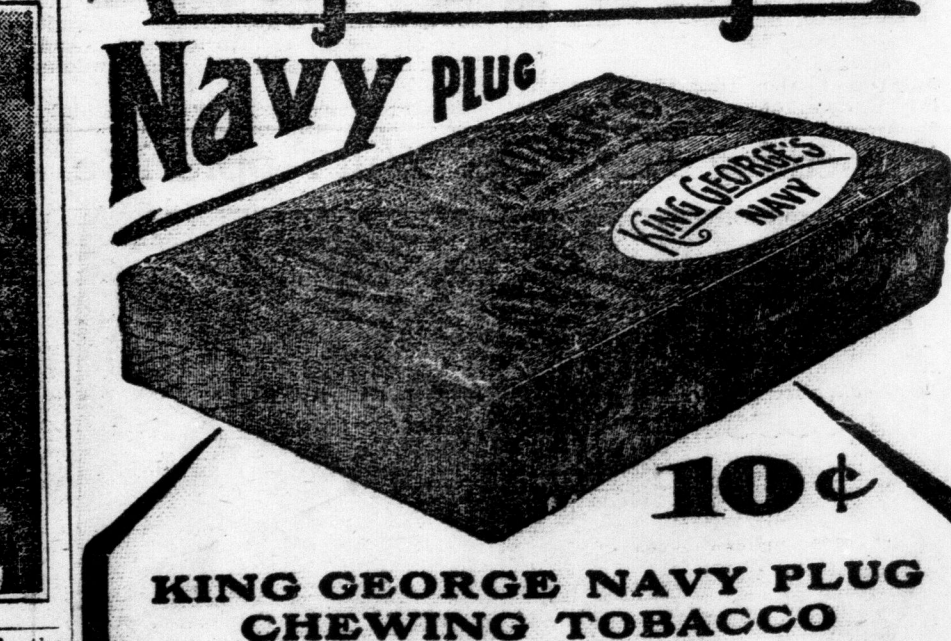

"It is quite true that the pleated bosom shirt is very comfortable and looks well on some men, but the discriminating dressers of London, Paris and New York have confined themselves to wearing it for dinner at home, stag parties, and occasionally the theatre.

The only correct shirt for balls, wedding receptions and formal functions being the starched bosoms, either in pique or plain linen.

"The Semi-ready Store is showing Dress Shirts in a variety of styles suitable for all occasions, and as these Shirts are made with extra care, they give the comfort and styles so often overlooked in styles for dress wear."
