CHOWDER RECIPES

The food is not heavy enough to produce the lousy feeling, but is nourishing and stimulating to tired little brains and growing bodies.

Potato Chowder.
Four cups milk, 3 cups potatoes, 1 cup diced carrots, 2 slices onion, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon celery salt, 1-2 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons minced parsley.

Put potatoes and carrots in kettle and pour over boiling water to barely cover. Cook five minutes. Add milk and simmer twenty minutes. Melt butter in a small pan with the slices of onion. Let the butter and onion stand over hot water for five minutes. In melting the butter be careful that the butter does not bubble. Remove onion and stir in flour.

Cook three minutes, stirring constantly to cook the flour. Stir into milk, season with salt, celery salt and pepper, add parsley and cook three minutes longer. Serve with regular chowder crackers or toasted bread sticks.

Corn Chowder.
One can corn, 2 tablespoons diced salt pork, 1 small onion, 2 cups diced potatoes, 1 cup boiling water, 2 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter, 6 large crackers.

Try out salt pork and add onion cut in slices. Cook slowly five minutes without letting the fat brown. Strain fat into kettle. Add diced potatoes which have been parboiled for five minutes and drained. Then add the boiling water to the fat and potatoes and cook twenty minutes.

Add corn and milk, season with salt and pepper and bring to the boiling point. Add butter. Split crackers and soak in cold milk for five minutes. Put these in the soup tureen and pour chowder over them. Serve at once.

Mixed Vegetable Chowder.
Two cups diced potatoes, 1 cup diced carrots, 1-2 cup diced turnips, 1-2 cup diced celery, 1 sweet green pepper, 1 onion, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 cups boiling water, 4 cups milk, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon pepper.

Mince onion and put all the vegetables in the kettle. Pour over the boiling water, cover and simmer twenty minutes. Add pepper, which has been minced, after removing seeds. Add milk and salt and bring to the boiling point.

Melt butter, stir in flour and cook five minutes. Add to milk and cook three minutes longer. Season with pepper and serve with large crackers or croutons.

Larger Ivories Winning Great Favor

BY MARIAN HAYE.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—With the all-black gowns good at all seasons and all hours, one invariably finds the smart woman wearing a bit of ivory, a fanciful pendant on a black velvet or grosgrain ribbon which extends quite below the waistline.

These odd pendants may take any form their designers desire and may be as large as a silver dollar. In fact, a tendency of the moment seems to be toward the larger ornament.

These Nouveaute designs are of the type most used—pure white and quite flat. Occasionally, however, one sees exquisite bits, such as a single forget-me-not or perhaps a group of them on a fine gold chain. There are roses, too, beautifully tinted, and daring yellow daisies.

lons and Mrs. J. Hamilton poured at a table attractive with red tulips, surrounded with white and red tulips. The many guests were ushered to the tea-room by Mrs. Archie McPherson, Mrs. Jared Vining and Mrs. A. H. Morgan, and the tea-room assistants were Mrs. E. V. Buchanan, Mrs. Pryde, Mrs. Miller and Miss Norman Switzer.

Mrs. T. A. Symington entertained at the tea hour Thursday afternoon at Knox Church manse, South London, when her guests were the wives of the members of Session. The house was bright with spring flowers, daffodils and tulips used in the living-room, while the dining-room was gay with daffodils and freesia. Mrs. William Martin and Mrs. H. W. Alexander presided at the attractive tea table, centred with tulips and freesia, gracefully arranged in a glass bowl and resting on a fillet lace cloth. The tea-room assistants were Miss Ferguson, Miss Eva Waddell and Miss Anne Argo. The guests included Mrs. W. H. Weston, Mrs. H. W. Alexander, Mrs. C. H. Baker, Mrs. Ernest Coleman, Mrs. William Duncan, Mrs. C. J. Farr, Mrs. A. A. Fitzsimmons, Mrs. R. F. Gray, Mrs. V. K. Greer, Mrs. Robert Kemp, Mrs. W. D. Love, Mrs. J. N. McLeod, Mrs. C. H. Mitchell, Mrs. G. E. Ollerhead, Mrs. L. H. Scott, Mrs. H. E. Westland, Mrs. McLeod, Mrs. C. H. Elliott, Mrs. Morris, Miss Mabelle Stuart, Mrs. John Ferguson and Mrs. E. Dunn.

A very pleasant evening was the one spent by the members of the "True Blue Class" of the Askin Street Methodist Sunday School, when they met on Wednesday evening at Miss Birdie Ruse's home, South London. The meeting was in the form of a farewell party for Miss Carolyn Rogers, member of the class, who is leaving for the West this month-end. During the evening the girls presented some very pretty individual silver salt and pepper holders to Miss Rogers, who acknowledged with an appropriate speech. After the usual business session, the girls indulged in games, and the meeting concluded with dainty refreshments served by the hostess.

Mrs. Percy Millman was the hostess Thursday afternoon of a charming tea given at her home in Grosvenor street, when she entertained the Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. William Beattie, wife of the minister of the First Presbyterian Church, who has recently come from Ottawa, received with Mrs. Millman. The rooms were lovely with spring flowers tastefully arranged. At the tea hour Mrs. Fen-

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS.

"BUSKINS AND THE TWINS"

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

Pretty soon the Land of Everything looked as orderly as a Sunday school

THE Twins helped Buskins to do all sorts of things up in the queer place in the sky, which we shall now have to call the "Land of Everything." They found all of the stove's lids, scattered far and wide by Whizzy Tornado, and put them on; they found the wheel for the wheelbarrow, but got it on backward and the poor thing always had to go backward after that; they milked the cow and gave the milk to a dry churn that said it was losing its hoops; they tied on the pump handle, plinned the washing on the line, emptied the dust out of the farmer's boots, stacked up straw, lay out broken fence, and pretty soon the Land of Everything looked as orderly as a Sunday school.

"Well, that's done!" said Buskins, taking out his book. "Now the next thing is to return all these things to their owners. We have to keep place pretty well cleared out to make room for the next lot. Whizzy Tornado usually makes several trips a year, and if he doesn't come himself, Howly Hurricane or Curlicue Cyclone are sure to be along and they do just as much damage as he does."

"All right," said Nick. "Let's begin."

And so they did. With the magical apple tree elevator and their wonderful Green Shoes, it was amazing how quickly the tornado things were returned to earth. Buskins said that he didn't know how he had ever gotten along before without the children's help. One thing sure, he said, he never could again!

"Are you going on more adventures?" asked Nancy.

"Goodness, yes, child," answered Buskins. "The Land-of-Up-in-the-Air is a big place. We haven't begun yet. Did you ever hear of the Runaway Feathers?"
