COL. FRED GETS THE CALL

MR. DENISON THE CHOICE OF WEST TORONTO CONSERVATIVES.

Selected on the First Ballot—Dr. John S. King Mentioned by the Reformers of the East—Two Cabinet Ministers in Town—Campaign Notes.

Total number of votes	243
Necessary to a choice	122
Col. F. C. Denison	159
James Beaty, Q.C., ex-M.P.	46
Arthur R. Boswell	36
A. P. Macdonald	2
	243

It was just 10 o'clock last night when Chairman Edward Gurney announced to the Conservatives of West Toronto, in convention assembled at St. Andrew's Hall, that by the above ballot, the first one cast, that Col. Fred. C. Denison, the gallant major of the Governor-General's Body Guard, would be their candidate in the coming elections. The Colonel's name was received with storms of applause, showing that he was "solid" in the West.

The decision of the convention was received with much alleged surprise by a certain portion of it, but the knowing ones quietly put their fingers on their nose and softly whispered along the line; "I told you so."

Mr. James Beaty, the old member, was quietly but determinedly thrown overboard by the delegates. In fact it looked for nearly an hour after the convention opened that he would not be nominated at all. The names of Col. Denison, Mr. A. R. Boswell and Mr. A. P. Macdonald were sent up to the table before Mr. Sam. Burnett and Mr. David Williams offered Mr. Beaty to the convention.

There were not a few rumors afloat during yesterday that there would be a "row" at the convention if Mr. Beaty were not selected. The promised "row" did not come off, for the simple reason that the convention was overwhelmingly Denisonian.

The press of all shades of politics was rigidly excluded. A burly doorkeeper would allow no one to pass who could not "produce a circular." This rule, however, did not apply to a number of the faithful who are welcome at all Conservative gatherings. They were allowed to pass without challenge. The reporters shivered at the door and obtained their information in various ways.

Mr. Ed. Gurney, as he always does, made a felicitous and business-like chairman. A resolution was passed before the balloting commenced that the lowest candidate should be dropped after each ballot. The movers and seconders of each candidate pledged the convention that their nominees would abide by the decision of the majority. If they were authorized to do so, there is no danger of any of the malcontents, if there be such, coming out in defiance of the convention.

At 9.30, when the nominations closed, these names were regularly before the convention:

Col. F. C. DENISON, moved by Ald. John Baxter and Ald. Felix Johnston.
Mr. A. R. BOSWELL, by R. H. R. Munro and C. Robinson.
Mr. A. P. MACDONALD, by H. W. Priestman and John Weeks.
JAMES BEATTY, by Samuel Burnett and David Williams.

Mr. H. E. T. Symons, of the Young Men's Conservative Association, was nominated by A. T. Roach and E. T. Lightbourn, and at once withdrew, as did Chairman Gurney, who was also nominated.

The ballot papers were then distributed and Col. Denison was selected on the first ballot by the figures printed at the top of this column.

Col. Denison was at the back of the hall when the result was announced, and he walked up to the platform amid wild applause and shook hands with Mr. Gurney. Around the chairman's table close to the platform were gathered such stalwarts of the party as Ald. John Baxter, John D. Henderson, Ald. Felix Johnston, Ald. St. Leger, Ald. Graham, ex-Ald. James Crooker, Ald. R. King Dodds, H. R. Clarke, M.P.P., the Rad Clarke, M.P.P., Barlow Cumberland, ex-Ald. James H. Morris, W. R. Brock and F. D. Barwick. A deputation of Conservatives from North York, consisting of Messrs. Willoughby, Anderson, Currie, Robinson and Pugsley, were given seats on the platform.

Without further ado than shaking hands with Chairman Gurney, Col. Denison accepted the nomination in a rattling ten-minute speech. He said his opponent would be H. E. Shepherd, an ex-lieutenant who, failing to see the Stars and Stripes hoisted over the Dominion, had invented a bastard flag. Lively speeches were made by A. R. Boswell, H. F. Clarke, M.P.P., Ald. Dodds, H. E. Clarke, M.P.P., and Ed. Gurney. Ald. Dodds told Mr. Gurney that it would be the proper thing for him to run for Centre Toronto. Mr. Gurney said ward organization was the thing that won elections.

Mr. A. R. Boswell moved that Col. Denison's nomination be made unanimous. The motion carried. A motion was also carried appointing Chairman Gurney, W. R. Brock, R. F. Clarke and A. R. Boswell a committee to wait on Mr. James Beaty and thank him for his services as their member in the Fifth Parliament of Canada. Ald. Baxter moved a vote of thanks to Chairman Gurney, which the meeting endorsed with cheers and applause.

The meeting was over at 10.45.

Sir Charles to Enter the Cabinet.

OTTAWA, Jan. 26.—It is announced on the authority of a Cabinet minister to-night that Sir Chas. Tupper will enter the Dominion Cabinet. A decision has been come to on this point, but it is not yet known what portfolio he will take. Sir Charles will stand for his old constituency of Cumberland, N.S., where no Conservative candidate has yet been nominated.

Sir Charles to Oppose Secession.

OTTAWA, Jan. 26.—It is officially announced that Sir Charles Tupper has resigned the office of High Commissioner to England and is to reenter Canadian public life, contesting Cumberland, N.S., his old seat. The alleged reason is because a deputation of his supporters in Cumberland met him in New York and asked him to again contest the county and represent the cause of union in opposition to those who would disrupt federation and raise the cry of secession. Sir Charles said he had not meant to reenter politics, but the crisis was so grave, and he had received so many pressing appeals to aid the loyal cause that he had put aside personal convenience. He was confident Nova Scotia would, on second thoughts, be opposed to any severance of the ties which bound the provinces to the Dominion, and he looked forward to a glorious victory. He would not say whether he was about to re-enter the Cabinet, but now he will do so at a very early date. He will remain here for two or three days and then depart to commence the campaign in Nova Scotia.

Suburban Conservative Meetings.

The annual meeting of the Parkdale Liberal Conservative Association was held in the Masonic Hall last night. Mr. Clarke Wallace, M.P., was present and made a stirring address. The meeting was also addressed by Dr. Rowe, Mr. James Armstrong, Col. Gray and Dr. Strangways. Mr. John H. Thompson was elected President for 1887, and Mr. Thos. Hill Secretary.

The Conservatives of West York held a big meeting at Weston yesterday. On motion of Col. Gray, seconded by Mr. J. P. Mull, Mr. Geo. Booth of Parkdale was elected President for the ensuing year. Dr. Strangways was elected Secretary. Addresses were delivered by Messrs. Clarke Wallace, M.P., Frank Turner, James Armstrong, Col. Gray, Dr. Strangways and others.

LINDSAY, Ont., Jan. 26.—Adam Hudspeth, Q.C., of this town was nominated to-day as Conservative candidate for South Victoria.

HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 26.—At the convention of the Liberal party of Lunenburg County to-day James Eisenhaver was nominated.

Arrival of Two Cabinet Ministers.

Hon. J. S. D. Thompson, Minister of Justice, arrived from the Capital yesterday morning and went to the Queen's. Hon. Thos. White, Minister of the Interior, also reached the city last evening. Mr. White will address his Cardwell constituents at Mono Mills to-day. Mr. Thompson, it is understood, returns to the Capital this evening. Both of the ministers were called upon by a number of prominent Conservatives last evening. At the Reform Club it was said that Mr. Thompson's mission in Toronto was to "heal the breach in West Toronto." But it looks as if the West Enders did that themselves last night.

Notes of the Campaign.

The Conservatives of Hamilton will meet to-night to nominate candidates.

The Conservatives of Centre Toronto will meet this evening at the Orange Hall. The Conservatives of the East will meet to-morrow night. In the Centre it is any man's race, is about the way it stands.

Dr. John S. King is popular among the Liberals for East Toronto, if they decide to run a straight party candidate.

Ald. Piper's stock for the Centre took a big jump yesterday. His admirers in St. John's Ward, and there are many, declare that the jolly little founder of the Zoo could get there beyond a doubt. Hoop'er up, Pipe.

Wonder if Col. G. T. will support Brother Fred. You bet.

Military circles were jubilant last evening when it became known that Col. Fred. Denison had been selected by the Conservatives of West Toronto.

Mr. Hay, up to last night, had not decided whether he would again run in the Centre or not.

A number of prominent Conservatives were seen flirting with Alex. Manning yesterday and suggesting that his ex-Worship should come out for the Centre. Mr. Manning spends most of his time at the coal trials.

AMUSEMENTS.

St. Basil's Church Sacred Concert and Organ Recital—At the Theatres.

The sacred concert given in St. Basil's Church last night, on the occasion of the opening of the new organ, was first class in every respect, and attended by an audience that completely filled the recently enlarged edifice. The Lieutenant-Governor and party occupied prominent seats. The organ, which was built by Messrs. S. R. Warren & Son, at a cost of $3000, is a handsome one with chestnut case, and pumped by hydraulic power. It has two manuals, eleven stops in the great organ, nine in the swell and two in the pedal. The capabilities of the fine instrument were fully shown by Mr. F. H. Torrington, who played several solos in masterly style. The vocal soloists were Mrs. Petley, Miss Brandt, Miss Bolster, Miss Nichol, the Misses Ormsby and Mr. J. F. Kirk. Miss Brandt's soprano voice, of great strength and compass, was at its best in Dana's "Ave Maria," while Mrs. Petley's coloratito was shown to advantage in Danks' "Not Ashamed of Christ." Mr. Kirk and Miss Bolster, Millard's "Ave Maria" was sung by Miss Bolster with fine expression and feeling. Mrs. Drechsler-Adamson playing a violin obligato. The trio, "Gratias Agimus," from Rossini's "Messe Solenuelle," was well rendered by Miss Nichol, Mr. Kirk and Rev. P. Chalandard, the conductor of the choir. St. Basil's Choir is noted in Toronto as being an excel ent one, and its rendering of several choruses, including the "Gloria" from Haydn's Second Mass and Lambillotte's "Te Deum," fully maintained its reputation.

"Grand" Prices.

Editor World: I read with pleasure Manager Sheppard's announcement of reduction in prices. No mention of matinee prices is made. Allow me to suggest that a return be made to the practice of former years, and that matinee prices be reduced to 25 cents for any part of the house, with the privilege of reserved seats beforehand without extra charge. If this were done theatre goers would be much pleased, and I do not think the management would be the losers, as they would have crowded houses every MATINEE.

Present and Coming Attractions.

"Saints and Sinners" drew large audiences at the Grand yesterday afternoon and evenin .

John W. Ransone and his company are still "Crossing the Atlantic" at the Toronto and drawing good houses.

The Caledonian Society's annual concert opens at the Pavilion Music Hall to-night. There promises to be a good program of Scotch songs and some rare dancing.

One of the medals was won in Glasgow, in a competition open to the world.

The Fishery Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Chairman Belmont, of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, says the Fishery Bill adopted by the Senate will probably be considered at the meeting of the House Committee to-morrow. Although that committee was authorized to report the matter back to the House at any time, Mr. Belmont does not believe it will be ready to report before next week, and intimated that the bill might be amended by the committee before being presented to the House.

A Canadian Forger Arrested.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—The police have under arrest a Canadian forger and embezzler named Benjamin Hageman, who is wanted in Thorold to answer to a charge of swindling his employer, William H. Howland, grain commission dealer of Toronto, out of $15,000. He will be extradited.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 25.—At a public meeting to-night in connection with his candidature, Mr. Hugh Sutherland announced that his company would expend $4,000,000 in the coming year in the construction of the Hudson Bay Railway. The company was having three ships specially built at Newcastle-on-Tyne for the navigation of Hudson Bay, ten locomotives at the Glasgow Locomotive Works, and rails for 200 miles of road at the West Cumberland Rolling Mills. He promised that the road would be completed two years from this time, which created a pleasing sensation.

Hungary Does Not Want War.

PESTH, Jan. 26.—During the debate on the budget in the Lower House of the Hungarian Diet to-day Premier Von Tisza declared amid acclamations that no one wished for a war with Russia. THE LIVERPOOL CONTEST.

MR. GOSCHEN DEFEATED BY A VERY SMALL MAJORITY.

The Supporters of the Government Very Much Aggrieved at the Result—A Forecast of the Queen's Speech to be Delivered To-day.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 26.—The election for member of Parliament for the Exchange Division in this city, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of David Duncan, was held to-day and resulted as follows: Mr. Neville, Gladstonite, 3222; Mr. Goschen, Conservative and Unionist, 3211. Nine votes remain in dispute and there will be a recount to-morrow. At the last election Duncan, Home Ruler, received 2920 and Bailey, Conservative, 2750.

Forecast of the Queen's Speech.

LONDON, Jan. 26. — Following is a forecast of the Queen's speech, which will be read at the opening of Parliament to-morrow. England's foreign relations are friendly. Affairs in Southeast rn Europe are in a fair way of settlement, but England must insist upon the observance of the treaty of Berlin. In Burmah and Egypt there is a gratifying improvement. Grave anxiety is caused by the state of Ireland. The system adopted there of combining to force tenants to evade just debts may compel further legislation, and the Government will not hesitate to ask for additional powers if necessary. Among the bills to be submitted by the Government are measures relating to land transfer, railway rates, trade marks and the facilitation of agricultural allotments.

The Queen's speech is characterized by more than usual vagueness. The hints of legislation for Ireland are especially obscure. The only allusion to a conspiracy bill is found in the reference to the plan of campaign and the Government's intention to introduce, if necessary, a bill altering the existing laws so as to enable it to cope with the movement. An indication of the extension of the Ashbourne Act is given in the expression of the hope that the labors of the Rent Commission will have issue in a measure to ameliorate the condition of the country. The leading measure for England and Scotland is a county government bill.

The Defeat of Goschen.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—The defeat of Mr. Goschen is felt by members of the Carlton Club to be a great party disaster. All the clubs were crowded at a late hour to-night, and there was much excitement over the result of the election. The members of the National Liberal Club are jubilant. The absence of Mr. Goschen from the House of Commons leaves the Government in an awkward position. Even if he should be provided with an uncontested seat he cannot sit in the House for the next ten days and probably for a fortnight, which will be critical-time for the debates and divisions. The votes were counted three times by the inspectors and a fourth time by the counsel of the candidates. The count was made by six Conservatives. The official announcement of the result was deferred until to-morrow. This is a certain indication of the defeat of Mr. Goschen, even if the majority against him first announced should be reduced.

The Reply to the Address.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—The Gladstonians have not yet decided what shall be their line of action on the address in reply to the Queen's speech. They will meet on Friday to determine their course. The Parnellites will move an amendment to the address if Gladstone fails to do so.

DR. McGLYNN'S SUCCESSOR.

Father Donnelly Meeting With Much Opposition From the Congregation.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Father Donnelly, who was appointed by the Archbishop to succeed Dr. McGlynn, was ordered to leave St. Stephen's Church this afternoon by a number of women, who were guarding Dr. McGlynn's confessional box, and as the priest went out he was hissed by the congregation. The red light, which is supposed to burn perpetually night, which is supposed to burn perpetually before the high altar went out yesterday, and it has not yet been renewed. It is the duty of the sacristan to see that the lamp is filled with oil, but he has neglected his work. Dr. McGlynn's friends are still reticent. Their present plan is to so reduce the revenue of St. Stephen's that concessions will be made. The parishioners propose to attend service regularly, but they will give nothing for their seats and will not make the customary offerings for charity. Dr. McGlynn's condition to-day is reported to be better.

Rev. Dr. Curran, who had been Dr. McGlynn's assistant for fifteen years, has been transferred from St. Stephen's parish to the Cathedral, and all Dr. McGlynn's former associates in St. Stephen's have been transferred to new fields.

The Coal Handlers' Strike.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—At no time since the strike of the coal handlers and longshoremen began has the situation worn so threatening an aspect as that of this afternoon. More than 500 men joined the longshoremen strike to-day. If present plans are carried out nearly 2000 more will join them to-morrow. The intention is to call out all the longshoremen in New York city and perhaps in Brooklyn, and if possible to stop the loading of every vessel at the docks.

A Slight Cause for a Strike.

NEWARK, N.J., Jan. 26.—Between 400 and 500 hands employed in the Edison Electric Light Works at Harrison went out on strike to-day. The cause of the trouble was the discharge of one of the boys, who, it was discovered, had broken about 250 of the glass lamps stored in the building. A committee of the Knights of Labor demanded the reinstatement of the boy and the discharge of the foreman who discharged him. This was refused and a strike was ordered.

A Cocking Main.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Jan. 26.—A large party of sports witnessed a cock fight of thirteen battles at North Adams last night. The main was between birds from Troy, Mechanicsville, Adams and vicinity on the one side and North Adams on the other. The North Adams birds were victorious, winning eight battles out of the thirteen. Four cocks were killed. About $1000 changed hands on the result. The police have been investigating the affair.

Nothing New From Massowah.

ROME, Jan. 26.—In the Senate to-day Count Di Robilant, Minister of Foreign Affairs, said no further news had been received from Massowah. There was nothing alarming in the situation, he said, as the troops now at Massowah were more than sufficient to drive back the savage hordes. The Senate, without a division, declared its confidence in the Government and passed the order of the day.

A Monument for Manzini.

ROME, Jan. 26.—In the Chamber of Deputies Senor Villanova, a member of the Extreme Left, tabled a bill for the erection in Rome of a monument to Manzini at the expense of the State. Premier Depretis said the Government would not oppose the bill in its first stage, but would declare its course when the measure came up for discussion.

The Coon Championship.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Johnny Banks, the colored middle-weight champion pugilist, and James Desverney, also colored, to-night fought to a finish with kid gloves for a purse of $150 and the colored championship. Desverney won on a foul in the ninth round.

A DISPUTED POINT.

Can a Man Extradited for a Certain Offence be Tried for Another?

OTTAWA, Jan. 26.—The case of Blackstone, the Portland, Me., defaulter, now awaiting extradition at Winnipeg, raises a disputed point in international law, which is attracting the attention of the officials of the Department of Justice. An almost parallel case, the Winslow extradition case of 1876, created serious complications between the Imperial and Federal Governments. In that year Winslow, a defaulting cashier of Philadelphia, was arrested in Toronto charged with forgery, which is one of seven crimes covered by the extradition treaty. The prisoner was found guilty, but before delivering him up, the British Government required from the Washington authorities an assurance that he would be tried in the United States only for the offence for which he was extradited and not for other offences. This, the American Government refused to give. The question was not authoritatively settled and still remains a disputed point between the two governments. Most of the writers on international law favor the British view. It is likely the present case will lead to further ventilation of the subject.

A STARTLING OCCURRENCE.

A Young Man in Hamilton Dies From the Effects of Chloroform.

HAMILTON, Jan. 26.—This morning William Fonger, living at 23 Merrick-street, went to the office of Dr. William Philp to have an ingrowing nail operated upon. He asked to be given chlooroform, but the doctor told him he would not administer it unless some of his friends were present. He then went out, and his brother, Charles Fonger, returned with him. The doctor examined his heart before administering the drug, and found it beating naturally. He gave the man a teaspoonful and a half, just enough to render him unconscious. While he was taking the nail off the finger Fonger appeared to be breathing away all right but shortly after he finished the operation he noticed that his breath was becoming very weak. Dr. Woolverton, Dr. Storms, Dr. Bingham, Dr. Laferty and Dr. Cockburn were telephoned for and did all in their power to restore the man to consciousness, but he was too far gone. He died about an hour after the chloroform was administered. Fongfer left his home in good health and had never been sick a day in his life. Coroner Dr. Woolverton will hold an inquest at 4 o'clock.

MERRY WEDDING MARCHES

TWO BRILLIANT HYMENEAL EVENTS IN TORONTO YESTERDAY.

Mr. William C. Macdonald and Miss Caroline Wyld—Mr. W. B. Brouse and Miss Tottie Gooderham—A Grand Display of Trousseau.

For weeks past Toronto society has been talking and enquiring about a couple of interesting events that were brought to a happy culmination yesterday. They were two marriages from well known families, and both set down for the same day. The first young couple to be officially linked was Mr. William Campbell Macdonald and Miss Caroline Emilie Wyld in St. James' Cathedral, and the second two who were made one were Mr. William H. Brouse and Miss Florence Josephine Gooderham in Little Trinity Church.

Macdonald-Wyld.

Shortly after noon the chiming of the Cathedral bells gave a hint to those who were not already aware of the event that was being celebrated in St. James'. It was the marriage of Miss Carrie E. Wyld, the only child of Mr. Frederick W. Wyld of Wyld, Brock & Co., to Mr. William Campbell Macdonald. The gallery and centre part of the church were filled with spectators, whose position in society was attested by the long array of carriages in the vicinity of the church. When the bride entered the sacred edifice at 12.30, leaning on her father's arm, she looked as sweet and charming a bride as the old Cathedral had ever witnessed. Her wedding gown was of cream moire, trimmed with chenille, ruche and epaulets, the satin petticoat being covered with a net work of chenille. The wreath was of myrtle with tulle veil hemmed with pearls. The ornaments were pearls and diamonds. The bridesmaids were Miss Alice Barrett of Port Dover, Miss Tisdale of Simcoe and Miss Howard of Toronto. The three young ladies were dressed alike—in cream cashmere trimmed with a shower of ribbons. They each wore at their throats pins of filigree gold, studded with pearls, the gift of the groom. The gentlemen who attended the groom on the momentous occasion were Mr. Donald Macdonald of Brampton, Mr. J. O. Miller and Mr. J. Dudgeon of this city. The ceremony was performed in a satisfactory manner by Rev. Canon Dumoulin, assisted by the Rev. J. Scott Howard, rector of St. Bartholomew's Church, and cousin of the groom.

The young couple having been made man and wife after the most approved fashion, the party adjourned to the handsome residence of Mr. Wyld in Queen's Park, where a reception and wedding breakfast was held. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Darling, Mr. and Mrs. R. Brock, Mr. and Mrs. J. Macdonald, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maclean, Mr. and Mrs. Bourlier, Miss Wanzer and Miss Smith, of Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. Allan Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Darling, Mrs. Humphreys, Rev. Canon and Mrs. Dumoulin, the Rev. James and Mrs. Little, Miss Proudfoot, Mr. A. H. Sims, Mr. F. D. McCrea, Mr. Andrew Harding and Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald. As might be supposed the presents received were of the very best and of every description. Probably the handsomest present ever given by a father to his daughter in Toronto was yesterday when Mr. Wyld quietly handed his only child a check for an amount which The World is creditably informed is away up in the six figures.

Brouse-Gooderham.

The second wedding took place shortly after 4 o'clock in Little Trinity Church, in King-street east. The contracting parties were Mr. William H. Brouse, of the law firm of Beatty, Chadwick, Blackstock & Galt, and son of the late Senator Brouse, and Miss Florence Josephine, or "Tottie," Gooderham, eldest unmarried daughter of Mr. George Gooderham. For nearly an hour before the wedding party arrived at the church the neighborhood was crowded with persons anxious to see all that was to be seen. The building being small, it was found necessary to reserve most of the sitting room for the relatives and guests, and hundreds were thus denied the privilege of seeing the pretty face and handsome costume of the young bride. Her wedding gown was of ivory satin and the trimmings were embroidered tulle with pearl pendents. The veil was of tulle and the wreath of orange blossoms and myrtle. The ornaments were diamonds. The four bridesmaids were: Miss Ella Gooderham, sister of the bride, dressed in Nile green faille and crepe; Miss Lula Gooderham, cousin of the bride, dressed in pale pink faille and crepe; Miss Amy Beatty, dressed in lemon faille and crepe; Miss Lily Mill of Ottawa, dressed in pale blue faille and crepe. The groomsmen were Mr. Allan Jones of Prescott, Mr. G. H. Gooderham, Mr. Dickson Patterson and Mr. G. A. Stimson. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Alex. Sanson, rector of the church, assisted by Rev. Canon Dumoulin of St. James' Cathedral.

The wedding presents received included a magnificent silver tea service, cut glass, Steiner piano, sets of china, silver and glass ware and cutlery, besides other articles of too numerous a nature to enumerate.

At the wedding breakfast and reception, which followed at Mr. George Gooderham's residence on Trinity and Front streets, the guests were:

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Cosby, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Coulson, Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Blackstock, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Gooderham, Mr. and Mrs. Austin, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Beatty, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Boswell, Mr. and Mrs. Totten, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gooderham, Mr. and Mrs. Hargraft of Cobourg, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cawthra, Mr. and Mrs. C. Jones, Dr. and Mrs. Albert Whitney of Hamilton, Rev. and Mrs. Sanson, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Chadwick, Mr. and Mrs. S. Ford-Jones, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Cawthra, Miss Allie Gooderham, Miss Josie Gooderham, Miss Maggie Gooderham, Miss Sage of Buffalo and Mrs. Smart.

The young couple left the city on the 8 o'clock train last evening for Montreal, whence they will proceed to New York and spend a few weeks in visiting leading American cities.

The Wedding Outfit of the Brides.

The trousseau of each young lady was probably as complete and expensive as ever owned by a Toronto bride on her marriage day. The material used in all the gowns was imported direct from New York and Paris, making some of them when complete worth several hundred dollars each. The buttons used on one of Miss Gooderham's dresses cost $1.50 each, and the net work of chenille on Miss Wyld's wedding gown was manufactured expressly for the occasion. The day before her marriage Miss Gooderham gratified the curiosity of her immediate friends and relatives by holding a reception, at which the wedding outfit was exhibited, and it completely captivated the hearts of the ladies. The World talked to a little bird that saw in the window and learned from it some of the wonders of a bride's outfit. The assortment of every description of underclothing was alone enough to stock a dry goods establishment, but The World is not sufficiently versed to go into particulars. The eighteen gowns included evening costumes of the following costly material: Black Duchess satin, with jet ornaments; a Nile green satin and Canton crepe; a sapphire faille, trimmed with sapphire jet.

Miss Wyld's trousseau, though not quite so extensive, was equally expensive and tasteful.

Yesterday's Fires.

A fire broke out at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in an old frame building in rear of D. W. Porte & Co.'s wholesale fish warehouse on the Esplanade at the foot of West Market-street and occupied by the Ontario Tanners' Supply Co. Little damage was done.

At 10.30 last night an unnecessary alarm was rung from the box at Yonge and Isabella-streets, the cause being an overheated stove in a building on Yonge-street opposite St. Mary's-street.

Toronto's Belle.

—Now let me sit in mine office chair,
With my good big pen and my short-cut hair,
And let me write that in "eighty-seven"
"The cheapest place to buy" (under heaven),
Tobogans and sleighs (tell your neighbors to go),
And then you can brag—"I told you just so."
It's Strathern that sells to "Toronto's Belle,"
A toboggan that suits her very well. x
