NEW THEATRE AT ANNAPOLIS

The Finest Building of its Nature
Between Kentville and Yarmouth

(Spectator)

The opening of the new King's Theatre marks an epoch in Annapolis Royal which will be notable for many reasons. It is not only the finest building of its nature between Kentville and Yarmouth, but it is the most modern in type, architecture and convenience of any in the province and it places this town as a leader in facilities for gatherings which it never before possessed in its more than three centuries of existence. It has been erected on a site which it would be difficult to equal in any other town for convenience of access and excellence of surroundings, and it is now being completed within two weeks of the day on which the land was purchased, on Lower St. George street, opposite the Post Office. When the old theatre on St. James street was destroyed in the great fire of September 7th, it was not thought possible by the public that a new one would be available before next spring, but Mr. King has done the trick and thanks to his indomitable pluck and enterprise the building has become a fact, a feature to which the citizens of any town might well point with pride. In its erection the proprietor has not only covered himself with credit, but deserves the thanks of the community for having so promptly and excellently risen to the occasion.

The new building reflects the care and skill of a modern architect, J. Graham Johnson, of Kentville, while in rapidity and efficiency of construction it is a monument to the foreman, William LeBlanc, of Annapolis, Digby County, the structure having been entirely erected by day's work under his indefatigable day and night superintendence, solving all problems, masonry, painting or heating as well as carpentry, by his or his assistants' handy readiness. The building is 42x109 feet and two stories high. The theatre entrance is 10 feet wide by 8 feet deep, with an inside lobby 8 feet wide by 10 feet deep leading to the auditorium which is 54x40 feet, besides a stage 20 feet wide by a dressing room of 10 feet by 10 feet. The floor of the auditorium has been carefully built on a slope that assures the best possible view of the stage from every seat. The two aisles are each 3 1/2 feet wide and the lighting, ventilating and acoustic properties are excellent. For the first time in Annapolis Royal the seats are regular theatre orchestra chairs, having been obtained from an Ontario manufacturer at special expense. The house seats 400 without the galleries designed on the plans and which may be installed later. The orchestra pit is 6x14 feet in front of the stage. The heating is by hot air furnaces. There are no posts or pillars to obstruct view. The floor is a modern metal ceiling, 16 feet clear, interior trim of Douglas fir and hardwood floor. The theatre office is on the right of the main entrance with the moving picture operating room on top of same.

The new theatre building, however, is not only a theatre, but a material addition to the town for commercial and social purposes. The north-east corner of the ground floor has been leased by the Annapolis Hardware Co., as offices, a general office 13x22 feet, private office 7 1/2 x 12 1/2 feet, with lavatory in rear. The south-east corner will be a store about 7x22 feet with an opening also on the theatre lobby, connected by a passageway with a counterpane, etc.

A stairway six feet wide at the South corner of the building leads upstairs to the Oddfellows' Hall in rear of the second floor, occupying an area 40x45 feet, with ante-room, recreation room, toilet, etc., in the centre of the building. The recreation room will be equipped with a cook stove and facilities for preparing refreshments both for the Oddfellows and for parties who may use the front part of the second floor, this being a small hall 24x36 feet, for transient rental for dances or private functions.

Taken altogether the building is a comprehensive success from every point of view and is bound to be the scene of many attractions from both sides the river and surrounding country. The opening night, on December 15th, the first show in this town since September 5th, was with Alice Brady in "The Land of Hope" and four reels of comedy, the new Annapolis Royal Jazz Orchestra furnishing music.

ANNAPOLIS

E. E. Amey was in Moncton last week, returning Wednesday. George E. Corbett went to St. John Saturday, returning Tuesday. Miss Helen Adams, who has been with Mrs. A. E. Adams for several weeks has returned to Burlington, Vt. During Friday night, D. L. Wear moved into his new store, built by W. R. Perkins on the site of Wear's old grocery.

Harry Corbett is visiting Mr. and Mrs. George E. Corbett, having come from British Columbia, for the Christmas season. R. S. Miller came home on Saturday, and left later for Boston, to spend Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Miller.

W. Roy Smith and Mrs. Smith have gone to Sackville, where they spent Christmas with Mrs. Smith's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Borden. Robert King, youngest son of the late G. G. King, was in town for the first time in many years. He returned last week to his home in New York.

The new theatre built by A. W. King, was opened last week, a picture entitled "The Land of Hope" being presented to a capacity house of about four hundred people. The Annapolis Royal orchestra was in attendance, and added to the enjoyment of the audience.

WEYMOUTH

Miss Chute, P.H.N., of Bridgetown, visited the school at Plympton recently. Mrs. E. P. Theriault was a passenger to Yarmouth on Friday, returning the same day.

Messrs. W. F. Read, Jr., and E. P. Morse, of Digby, were guests at the Goodwin on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Marshall and daughter, of Plympton, were passengers to Bridgetown recently.

A meeting of Court Bay View, Canadian Order of Foresters, was held at Barton on Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. ## XMAS SERVICES IN BRIDGETOWN

The Services in all the Churches
In Keeping With The Christmas Festival

As intimated in our issue of 21st inst., Sunday last being Xmas Day, the services in all the churches were in keeping with the festival.

PARISH OF ST. JAMES, BRIDGETOWN

As usual, the services in the parish of St. James' commenced with a celebration of the Holy Communion in St. Mary's church, Belleisle, at 8 a. m., and the hymn with which the service commenced, "O Come All Ye Faithful," never seems more appropriate than at this time. The sacred edifice was appropriately decorated with fir, hemlock, and pine, and never looked better. A second service was held in this church at 3 p. m.

At the Parish Church (St. James') Bridgetown, the services were at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m., and here also the decorations were in keeping and very effective. In the windows the text (read letters on a white ground edged with spruce) were "The Word Made Flesh"; "The Prince of Peace"; "To Us a Child is Born"; "A Son is Given." On the pulpit and lectern the spruce decoration was relieved with holly beautifully ferned—this having come from England, and donated by Mrs. R. Whiteway. A pleasing thing about the chancel screen, which is a distinct piece of decoration in itself, and has been in use for many years, was that this year it was erected by its maker and donor—viz., Mr. Albert Wade, he being in town for the holiday season. The Sanctuary with the Altar resplendent in its fine furnishings, was further beautified with a profusion of cut flowers (white and yellow narcissus with asparagus fern) sent from the famous nursery of Murray's, Montreal, by Mrs. McAllen, in memory of Miss Marjorie Bird.

All these things helped to give point and tone to the services of the day. That in the morning consisted of a celebration of the Holy Communion at which there was an exceptionally large number of communicants. At this service the Rector preached his Christmas sermon from Galatians IV.4 "When the fullness of time came, God sent forth His Son, born of a woman, born under the law, that He might redeem them which were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of Sons."

The evening service consisted of Evensong (without sermon) followed with special music. Of this music, as put out in the morning, it is the general consensus of opinion that it would be impossible to speak too highly. The anthem, "O Zion that bringest glad tidings," by Sir John Stainer, was a difficult score, but with the leadership of Mrs. H. Ruggles, and under the baton of Mr. H. A. Francis, the choir had mastered it, and gave a rendition with that precision which can only come from painstaking and persistent practice. This may also be said of the Carol Cantata—"The Angels' Message," by E. Vine Hall, which gave scope for two finely rendered solos (soprano Mrs. H. Ruggles; Tenor, Mr. C. E. Wheeler) and three stirring choruses. Another outstanding feature was the quartette, "Sleep Holy Babe," by Miss M. Dearness, Mrs. C. Ruffee, Mr. C. E. Wheeler, and Mr. H. A. Francis. Mention must also be made of another gem—"The Birthday of a King" by Mrs. H. Ruggles. These items, together with a number of carols, were well rendered, brought home the Christmas message to a well filled church in a way not soon to be forgotten, in fact, it could well be wished that the same ensemble could find the necessary time, and overcome all obstacles, to the preparation of similar music for rendition from time to time. We say this, because we note that the members of the choir are scattered over a wide area and the impediments in the way of getting together must be many. But what was accomplished on Sunday speaks such volumes as to what can be done by those whose hearts are in what is undertaken, that we venture to express the above wish.

In the Diocese of Nova Scotia (and we believe in the Anglican Churches throughout Canada) it is the custom, by resolution of Synod, to give the collection on Christmas Day to the Rector of the parish, for his sole use over and above stipend guaranteed

In St. James' Parish on Sunday the offering was by far the largest in its history on such an occasion, and the Rector wishes, through these columns, to heartily thank all those who contributed to it. He also wishes to thank, on behalf of himself and Mrs. Underwood, the many kind friends who sent gifts to the Rectory. It would seem that the Christmas spirit was very much abroad in St. James' Parish in every way.

BAPTIST NOTES

The Christmas services in the Bridgetown Baptist Church were well attended. The gifts presented at the "White Gifts for the King" service are to be placed upon a Christmas tree which the Sunday School is giving to the Ingleswood Sunday School to-morrow evening (Thursday, December 29th), at 7:30 p. m. If stormy the Christmas tree will be given Friday afternoon, December 30th, at 3 p. m.

New Year's Sunday, January 1st, will also be a day of special services. At the 11 o'clock service of worship the pastor will speak upon "The Forward March of the Church of Christ." The Bible School will meet for the first time at the new hour, 12 o'clock, immediately at the close of the morning worship. There will be new classes for men and women as well as the regular classes for boys and girls. It is expected that a large number will attend this opening session of 1922. In the evening at the 7 o'clock service the subject will be "Pressing Toward the Mark." At 8:15 the first service of the United Week of Prayer, as announced elsewhere in this issue, will be held.

OLYMPIC CHAPTER ENTERTAINS PATIENTS

Kentville, Dec. 21—"A Delightful Evening" was the unanimous opinion of all who attended the "party" given the patients of the N. S. Sanatorium Tuesday evening by the members of the Olympic Chapter, I. O. E. E., Kentville. This pleasing event was held in the Men's Dining Room at the Sanatorium. A very large number was in attendance. The first part of the evening was spent in progressive whist, the prizes being carried off as follows: First lady's, Mrs. Stallard; consolation lady's, Mrs. Smiley; first gent's, Howard H. Carey; consolation gent's, John Follett.

A feature of the evening was the vocal solos so captivatively sung by Miss Juanita Bishop, with Mrs. J. D. Clark as accompanist; also the reading, "A Corner on William" given by Miss Alice Fair in her own inimitably delightful manner.

At the close of the evening a vote of thanks to the Madam Regent, Mrs. J. Graham Johnson, and members of the Chapter, was moved by E. C. Leslie, seconded by James Dalch, and extended by J. D. AuCoin.

PORT LORNE

VALLEY INSURANCE MEN AT WOLFVILLE

Underwriters Attend Gathering and Report on Progress Made in Work

Wolfville, Dec. 21—The quarterly dinner held by the Valley Underwriters Association at Acadia Villa Hotel, Wolfville, proved a successful occasion. The interest in this gathering was evinced by the fact that some of the members from 40 to 50 miles away were present.

H. E. Woodman, of Wolfville, District Manager of the Canada Life, and President of the Valley Underwriters Association presided.

After the guests had done full justice to the dinner provided, speeches were made. Introductory remarks by the chairman were followed by a talk on "Business Insurance" by R. H. Sutton, Windsor, representative of the Great West Life. Miss Eleanor Longley, of Acadia Seminary, is at home for the holidays. Mr. Gordon Starratt is spending the holidays with his parents.

Mr. Ralph Baird, of Framingham, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Bishop. Mr. Max Munro is spending his vacation with his sister, Mrs. C. F. Harris.

Mrs. F. H. Balcom very pleasantly entertained the pupils of her French class on Tuesday evening.

Mr. F. C. Banks, of Morristown, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Banks.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Ruggles and children, of Halifax, are guests of Mr. Ruggles' mother, Mrs. J. C. Phinney.

Messrs. M. G. and Erle Saunders, of Halifax, and Llewellyn Bowby, of Acadia University, are at home for the holidays.

We are pleased to report that Mrs. Rupert Chesley, who has been seriously ill, is somewhat better at the time of writing.

Our teachers, Miss Ruth Kempton, Miss Jessie Bowby, Miss Mariel Fillett, Miss Charlott, Bowby, and Miss Ronald Longley are spending the holidays at their respective homes.

The Sunday School, under the management of the teachers, held their concert in the vestry of the Baptist Church in the evening. The children did their parts creditably and the programme was much enjoyed by a large audience.

The school children entertained their parents and friends on Friday afternoon at the school house, the occasion being their annual Xmas concert, followed by the unloading of the Christmas tree, and a visit from Santa Claus which was a special delight to the little ones.

choice, he found that the object of his financial contributions and the object of his affections were one and the same person.

And when the girl discovered who had been supporting her she almost forgot that she loved him and that he loved her. In fact, she so far forgot that it took a spectacular automobile accident and a corps of hospital attendants and doctors who had drawn a lot of false conclusions to jog her memory and carry her back to happiness.

"Her Husband's Friend" is carried along with snappy action, clever touches of humor, and a delightful love interest that runs throughout Tom Chatterton heads a capable supporting company.
