Dreaming and Doing.

Dreaming is pleasant, I know, my boy
Dreaming is pleasant, I know
To dream of that wonderful tie-off do
When you'll be a man and have only to —
To this one and that one do that and do the While your wishes fulfillment never shall —
May fill you with pleasure, but deeper the
Of doing a thing yourself, my boy
Of doing a thing yourself

Dreaming is pleasant, I know, my girl
Dreaming is pleasant, I know,
To dream of that far-off, wonderful day
When you'll be queen and hold full sway
Over hearts that are loyal and kind and true.
While your sweet "I'll you please" will mean "I must!"
May fill you with joy, but you'll find pleasure
In doing for others yourself, my girl
In doing for others yourself.

TORONTO TOPICS

From our own Correspondent

One of your city subscribers suggested the other day that the columns of the METE would be much improved by having a correspondent whose duty would be to look after the news concerning those of our friends living in the eastern part of the city. The change would no doubt be beneficial to all concerned, and would probably give us a chance to judge whether or not your Ottawa correspondent has any ground for his claim that the wise men come from the east.

One of the job printing offices in the city, where a member of our circle is employed, is making arrangements to put in a typesetting machine and it is probable that the entrance will be the signal for the exit of our friend. We trust his fears may not be well founded.

The usual crowd of frequenters of the Simon-station in the city must have been somewhat startled on the afternoon and evening of the 16th ult., that being the date on which the annual migration of scholars takes place to the Belleville Institute. All afternoon they kept arriving by trains, and when in the evening a number of our city brethren and sisters gathered to greet the travellers the scene was sufficiently animated to be not easily forgotten by spectators who had not before witnessed such a scene. Judging by the bright smiling faces we saw there was just as much pleasure in the gathering as you would find in a mixed crowd anywhere. Many old friends renewed acquaintance and hearty handshaking was the order of the day as new arrivals were greeted. A very pleasant evening was spent and the scholars and visitors certainly seemed to enjoy what might almost be termed an "annual meeting" of the dead of Western Ontario.

The Bible-class was resumed again after being closed for the summer months on the opening evening, 7th inst. Mr. Bridgden gave a very interesting lecture on the "Pilgrim's Progress." The description of the combat between "Chris- tian" and "Apollyon" was most realistic. Owing to the length of the story no lecture was divided into three parts, the first part having been given last inter. The last part will be given some time next month. The meeting was well attended.

PUPILS' LOCALS.

From the Girls' Side of the Institution.

BY ERIC WILDE.

We will try to make our locals interesting this year

—A few weeks ago some of us girls went to town shopping and had an enjoyable time.

The leaves are falling off the trees now and it shows that winter will soon be coming.

—The little ones who are here for the first time seem to be happy with each other and they are doing well in school.

—On the 7th inst. Miss Mary McKay got a photo from some of her friends, which was greatly admired by the girls here.

—On the 31st ult., Felicia Howitt was glad to receive a box from home, which contained some sweetmeats and other things.

The 7th inst. was the birthday of one of our teachers and we wished her many happy returns of the day. Guess who she is?

One of the girls got a letter from Mary Graham who left here last June. She says that she works in a millinery shop and is doing well.

On the 3rd inst. we gave a pantomime in the chapel, which greatly amused all the little ones. We hope to have many more this winter.

-Lillie Watson was glad to receive two photos of Laura Tudhope and her mother. One of them was for little Laura, who is a new arrival.

upon Mrs. B. during her husband's absence to assist her and the children in any way necessary.

A nefarious little skunk tried to force entrance into the house of one of our friends one night recently and was fairly successful, but an officer of the law was summoned and his skunkship was forthwith ejected, but not without the officer having to use his revolver. It had no
