JOCELYNE ALLOUCHERIE

"The elements in Alloucherie's new work combine very successfully to reconstitute the viewer as subject. Alloucherie neither takes the view of domination by technology, nor an expressly maudlin view of the world, but provides instead a context in which to experience ourselves, much in the same manner that we face our own reflection."
- Trevor Gould, Parachute, Number 58, 1990

Jocelyne Alloucherie was born in Parc des Laurentides, Quebec, in 1944. She obtained her Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from Université Laval in 1973, and her Master of Fine Arts degree from Concordia University in 1980. She has participated in numerous exhibitions and her work is represented in a variety of collections. Jocelyne Alloucherie lives in Montreal.
