

Borderlands, industry, labour and immigration; Energy and the environment; Public policy and culture.
HF1453 .N685 1992

- Robinson, Ian. "The NAFTA, Democracy and Continental Economic Integration: Trade Policy as If Democracy Mattered." In How Ottawa Spends 1993-1994: A More Democratic Canada ... ?, edited by Susan D. Phillips, 333-80. Ottawa: Carleton University Press, 1993.
HJ7662 .S6 1993-94 REF
- Robinson, Linda et al. "Mexico's New Revolution: President Salinas Uses Free Enterprise to Drive His Country Into the Modern Age / Breaking a Union's Grip on a Key Mexican Port / Mexico According to Carlos Salinas: 'we Have Tried to Build a Social Consensus'" U.S. News and World Report 111 (8 July 1991): 38-41.
- Sanderson, Steven E. "Free Trade: Can Mexico Win?" Hemisphere 3 (winter/spring 1991): 16-24. On long-run social and political costs of NAFTA to Mexico.
- Sassen, Saskia. "Free Trade and Immigration." Hemisphere 3 (winter/spring 1990): 2-3.
- Schlefer, Jonathan. "What Price Economic Growth?" The Atlantic 270 (December 1992): 113-18. Discusses social and economic aspects of North American free trade.
- Simmons, Alan B. "Latin American Migration to Canada: New Linkages in the Hemispheric Migration and Refugee Flow System." International Journal XLVIII (spring 1993): 282-309.
- Sires, Theresa M., and Hector F. Garza-Trejo. "Assessing the Maquila Industry: Maquiladoras Work to Help Communities Break Stereotype." Twin Plant News 9 (September 1993): 44-52.
- Smith, Peter H. "The Political Impact of Free Trade on Mexico." Journal of Interamerican Studies 34 (spring 1992): 1-25.
- Stokes, Bruce. "NAFTA: A Hard Sell." National Journal 25 (16 October 1993): 2472-76. On NAFTA politics in the U.S.
- Taylor, Paul D. "Whither Hemisphere Trade?" Business and the Contemporary World 5 (winter 1993): 130-43.