

INDEX.

275

ement at St. John to him from
"s", from Thunder wan (see "Land
ederal School, and
iver, 233.
arch, its probable
Red River, 212.
gy the promoters
n, 11, 20, 25, 214
tiquia, Matawan,
ny, Red, St.
ipeg rivers).

described, 41.

ured by the in-
shot, 19.
der of the Red 1.
ture from, 98;
ake, 103.
its height above
; described, 103.
the Winnipeg
er mine, 45.
nder Bay, 62, 63.
Winnipeg river,

as Special Com-
rt on the insur-
proceedings, 12;
n of Major Boullanguets, 17; his
s execution, 18;
olesey's proclama-
Settlement, 88;
olesey at Fort

the troops, their
by health and 4, 63, 114; super-
the Red River
ce, Appendix E.

A, 231.
ariat),
beautiful scenery,
agnitude, 45.
Red River, their insurrection, 154,

T.

TACNÉ, Roman Catholic bishop at Red River, his complicity with the insurgents, 191; his efforts to maintain French preponderance at Red River, 212, 213; his complicity with the insurrection, 211, 217; letter from him to Riel, 217.
Tea, its superiority to spirits proved by the health of the troops and the absence of crime, 116.
Thunder Bay, Lake Superior, described, 16; frequency of thunderstorms, 81.
Timber at Portage des Pins, &c., 121—125

Toronto, interest of the inhabitants in the expedition, 20, 33; the rendezvous of the forces, 24, 26; volunteering for the militia battalion, 21.

U.

UNITED STATES, difficulties with, as to route of the expedition, 32; their removal, 33, 42.

V.

VEILS to protect the face from flies, 70, 82.
Voyageurs, their general inefficiency, excepting the Iroquois and Lower Canadians, 94; many dismissed, 95, 153 (and see "Boat Transport Service").

W.

WALLACE, Capt., his exertions during the expedition, 191, 193, 195.
Winnipeg Lake, its magnitude, 189.
Winnipeg River, Col. Feilden commences its descent, 166; described, 173; its numerous rapids, dangers encountered in their descent, 172—183.

Winnipeg, arrival of the expedition, 191; description of the town, 208.
Wolseley, Col. Sir Garnet Joseph, his preliminary report on the expedition, 21; selected to command it, 23; his former services, 24; his claims to be appointed Lieutenant Governor of Manitoba, 35; expedition lands at Thunder Bay, Lake Superior, the spot named "Prince Arthur's Landing," 18; unloading stores and horses, 54; his inspections of Mr. Dawson's road, 50, 72; with Lieut.-General Lindsay, 85; sends stores by river to Lake Shebandowan, 74; sends boats up the Kaministiquia river, 66; descends the rapids in a canoe, 68; joined by a volunteer, a captain of Lancers from England, 76; his proclamation to inhabitants of Red River Settlement, forwarded from Thunder Bay by Mr. Donald Smith, 88; superintends departure from Shebandowan, 99, 102; his arrangements for carrying stores over portages, 107; his interview with Chippewa Indians, 145; leaves Fort Frances for Fort Alexander, 155; loses his way in Lake of the Woods, reaches the Winnipeg river, 169; descent of the Winnipeg rapids, 181; arrival at Fort Alexander, 185; crosses Lake Winnipeg to Red river, 187-189; ascent of the river, 189-191; disembarkation at Winnipeg, 191; march to Fort Garry, Riel's flight, takes possession for Government, refuses to arrest Riel, 195-198; prepares to return to Canada, leaving militia at Settlement, 200; his "order of the day" on the issue of the expedition, 202; departure from Fort Garry, 204; the return, arrival at Montreal, 205; general order from the Field-Marshal Commanding in Chief, 205; Standing Orders for the expedition, Appendix E, 259.

Y.

YOUNG, Captain, commands the first boats sent up the Kaministiquia river, 66; his exertions, 86, 87.
Young, Dr., principal medical officer to the expedition, 38.