

MANOMO RIOTERS SENTENCED TO LONG TERMS IN PRISON

Five, Including Two Boys, Will Serve Two Years, and Twenty-Three One Year, While Eleven Others Escape With Lighter Terms—Strike May Be Called Off.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 23.—(Can. Press.)—Judge Hovey passed sentence today on more than two score Manomo rioters. The maximum sentence was two years. Many of the rioters were sentenced to one year in connection with the coal miners' strike on Vancouver Island. It was reported today that the international headquarters of the miners have ordered Frank K. Farrington, an American lawyer, Unionist, who came to British Columbia and handled the official end of the strike to stop the strike and have the men return to work. It is said Farrington tried to stop it, but has failed.

Three men and two boys were sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary. Five were given imprisonment for one year and a fine of $100 each. The remainder were sentenced to terms of six months and will have to pay a fine of $10 each.

The Sentences. A sentence of one year in jail and a fine was imposed on J. H. Allsopp, J. H. Armstrong, Carl Johnson, E. F. Baughman, Wm. Baul, Geo. Baul, Geo. Baumgartner, Sam Brightman, James Colley, Robert Cossar, Peter Oulaka, H. H. Langdon, Duncan MacRae, secretary of the Ladiesmith Union, Joseph Malrea, Jr., James Marshall, Charles Mortimer, Steve Merus, Steve Puyachik, George Porter, Wm. Sackhouse, formerly a lieutenant in the United States army, and a prominent business man of Ladysmith, North Star, James Wallace, Robert McPherson and Charles Togo. Togo served last year on the Ladysmith City Council and has for years been closely identified with public demonstrations. He declared in his defence that he had not been out of the house at the time he was accused of taking part in the disturbances. He was participating in the riot, George Murray, international board member of the United Mine Workers of America, and Walter Nelson, a miner, were found guilty of instigating John Wekke, a miner, and sending to serve two months in jail.

MADY GAY'S HUSBAND DIED OF PNEUMONIA.

Alfred Ernest Denison died in the Toronto General Hospital at four o'clock yesterday morning, in his 63rd year, after suffering for two weeks with pneumonia. Mr. Denison was well known and prominently connected in Toronto, being a brother of A. J. Denison, architect, and a cousin of G. G. T. Denison.

Mr. Denison was the fifth son of the late Lieut.-Col. R. L. Denison, and his wife is well known in literary circles under the nom de plume of Jay Gay of The Toronto Saturday Night.

For several years Mr. Denison was a member of the Royal North West Mounted Police.

The funeral will take place today at three o'clock at the family burial grounds in Weston.

"I'm going to have this over-stock corrected at one crack!" Said Billy Hay.

Everything you want at less than you want to pay—

To my mind the small prices at this Over-Stock Sale will keep away some men who think that they should pay high prices to get high quality.

I have explained the "why" of this sale—the weeks and weeks of delay in getting possession of the store—the cloths ordered at the mills in England on the builder's promises—and the consequent loss by delay.

Now, I'm going to be cheerful and take the loss in one fortnight.

Suits worth $15 to $30	Fall Overcoats $15 to $30
for $8 to $20.	for $10 to $20.
Usters worth $15 to $30	Winter Overcoats $15 to $30
for $8 to $20.	for $8 to $20.

And I'll clear out every Raincoat in the store, plainly marked, $10, $12, $15, and $18, at from $7 to $13.50.

Less than cost, surely.

Labels and plain price values in the pocket.

MASSEY HALL NOT HALF BIG ENOUGH

To Seat Those Anxious to Hear "Sons of Scotland" Concert.

BALLADS AND DANCING Pleased an Overflow Audience at Annual Caledonian Musical Entertainment.

Massey Music Hall could have been sold out twice over last night's Sons of Scotland concert, which was the report made to the committee by those who had received tickets to sell for the popular annual event. But while there was a limit to the seating capacity of the hall there was no limit to the enthusiasm of the audience.

Grand Pipe-Major George Macdonald presided over the program a fitting and inspiring prelude of Scottish airs. Grand Chief P. S. Means expressed the gratification of the committee over the spontaneous popularity of the annual concert. The special attendance they always commanded but one cause for regret. It was that Toronto had no concert hall large enough for the audience which could be secured for the event. This gratifying support and an abundance of the programs furnished, and the approval by the citizens of the aims and need of the association.

The new Dovercourt branch public library, situated on the southwest corner of Bloor street and Gladstone avenue, was formally opened last night by Thos. Self, chairman of the public library board, and others.

About 1000 people congregated in the children's section of the library and listened intently for some time to the remarks made by the various speakers on the campaign waged in order that the library could be built and its location in the greater part of Toronto, Canada and the United States.

According to some of the speakers, who ought to know the Dovercourt branch library, is the most beautiful and best equipped branch library in Toronto, Canada, even in the greater part of the United States.

Thomas Self, chairman of the library board, who also acted as chairman of the opening, gave the history of the library and outlined the literary work carried on by Ald. McBrien, Controller McCarthy and others in persuading the city council to make the grant for the erection of the building. The building itself cost $40,000; the property $20,000, and the books $6000, a total cost of $66,000. The name of Dovercourt had been given the library to commemorate the district and the greater part of one time been owned by the late Col. Geo. H. Denison, father of Magistrate Denison. Mr. Self detailed the various differences in the number of books that were read today, over the read ten years ago. He said that 70 per cent more books were being distributed from the libraries than ten years ago. At present there were 13 libraries in Toronto, while ten years ago there was only one.

There was no square deal for the workers under the capitalist system. He advocated the right of organized labor against the Cataract Power Co. in Hamilton, how they had succeeded and how today Hamilton is getting power at a cheaper rate than ever before in its history. Mr. Studholme advised the ratepayers to go in for municipal ownership and refuse to be bled any longer.

TODMORDEN

The large influx of people into Todmorden makes it imperative that better school accommodation be provided. At present the schools on the Don Mills road and Gowanus avenue are overcrowded. So much so that the Methodist Church Sunday school and the basement of the 700 road school are being used. The board of education increases every year by 1000 applications, and the school board are at the present time looking for a suitable school site. A meeting will be held in the near future to discuss the matter and to remedy the congestion. George Moss Jr., the president of the Todmorden Conservative Association, together with C. H. McDonald, the township assessor, left yesterday on a visit to New York and other American points, but they will study suburban transportation problems.
