Pastor Russell's Sermon "BE YE RECON-CILED TO GOD." Text: "You that were some-time alienated, and enemies in your mind by wicked works. yet now hath he reconciled." (Colossians i, 21).

In order to use a telescope to ad-vantage we need first to obtain a proper focus on the object to be ex-amined. And so it is with the divine plan and purpose. Looking at it with and every tongue confess, the elect church, His bride, will be with Him in plan and purpose. Looking at it with the eye of faith thru the telescope His throne, sharers of His glory and of God's word, adjustment of the fo-cus is necessary. This focusing of the participants in His work-the work of blessing and uplifting the world-re-conciling the world to God. word, Christian people in the past Calvin, Knox and others of the re-have very generally overlooked. As a result the divine plan has a blurred and indistinct appearance to our sight. The various word-pictures, symbols, formers, we may then see, were quite right in their insistence that none at the present time are in a reconciled types, allegories and plain statements of the Scriptures without this focusing condition toward God except the com-paratively few of our race-the saints. together, make a very unsatisfactory and nondescript matter of the gospel These turn from sin to righteousness, of Christ, one that is unsatisfactory to everybody, one that the learned of our turn from disobedience to faith and consecration, and in and thru the merday have repudiated entirely—an am-biguous collation that is a source of vexation to millions of God's consecrated people. The difficulty is that the Telescope was tampered with during the dark ages and the proper fo-cus was lost. Since then Christian people have feared to readjust it. They have gloried in the fact that they never changed the focus. However, they have overlooked the fact that some one else did change it for them ong ago and that the unsatisfactory view we have gotten is the result of this and is entirely out of accord with the clear and beautiful vision of God's grace and truth and mercy and love and wisdom and power as seen by the apostles in the early church.

Some of us, dear friends, instead of throwing away the telescope of the word of God, are taking pleasure in see that both were right! Now we see that the election belongs to this gospel age and to the high calling to the/dicleaning the lenses of the dust of the dark ages and adjusting the focus by a careful endeavor to speak where the word of God speaks and to be ing this free grace toward all of the silent where it is silent, and to bring, race of Adam will prevail. And law, will be blessed with full reconciliation to God and eternal life on the huall this, we perceive, is exactly what the Scriptures foretold, namely, that a man plane-in Paradise restored-while the intelligently perverse, infalling away and darkening of the unfalling away and darkening of the dath of derstanding would follow the death of the apostles, but that in the end of the says, be punished with everlasting stead of being everlastingly tortured. the age the darkness would begin to scatter before the oncoming light of destruction (II Thessalonians i., 9). the Sun of righteousness, in the morn-ing of the new dispenusation of Mes-Redeemer and the glory of our heavensiah's reign ly Father are multiplied a million times. Our Redeemer not only is to be the Saviour of the "little flock," His

In accord with this, note the fact that for centuries we have been overlooking certain Scriptures while acepting others. We accepted the apostle's statement, in our text respect-ing the reconciliation of the church, but we overlooked entirely other Scriptures which speak of a still different "tasted death for every man, In the Beloved" one? What did we do or could we do to contribute to this favor of God bestowed upon us? The apostle assures us further along the same line, that the elect church by nature was not superior to the world from which it was selected. He de-clares that it contains not many great, not many learned, not many rich, but chiefly the poor of this world, rich, in faith, many of them ignoble as re-spects birth and natural advantages of heredity. The difference between these spects birth and natural advantages of heredity. The difference between these and others was, first, that they had "an ear to hear" the divine message. Sometimes this hearing ear came to them thru sorrow and tribulation. In their weariness and heaviness they heard the Master's volce, "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are neavy-laden and I will give you rest" Mat-thew xi, 28). They heard this volce, while some of their neighbors more favorably situated heard it not. But favorably situated heard it not. But a still further blessing came to them as they responded and drew near to the Lord by faith and prayer.

Desiring to come nearer and nearer they strove to put away all filthiness of the flesh—sin in its every form—the while realizing that they could not cleanse themselves. Then it was that the Master informed them of the terms the Master informed them of the terms upon which they might join His church —"The Body of Christ which is the Church." They must make full con-secration of themselves to God and to righteousness, even unto death. They must do this with a full understanding that it would take the the terms turn from disobedience to faith and consecration, and in and thru the mer-it of the Redeemer are acceptable as probationary members of the elect church. If faithful they will shortly, in the "first resurrection," constitute the church of glory, the bride, the lamb's wife and joint heir. Brothers Wesley, Whitfield and oth-ers were also right in their proposition that God was not content with electing merely a saintly handful, but surely loved the whole world and would sure-ly give to every member of the race a full opportunity to come to a know-ledge of Christ and to seek a share in the merit of His sacrifice for sins and an opportunity for life everlasting. Those dear brethren contended ear-nestly with each other over their diff-ferences, the one upholding the doc-trine of election, the other contending that it the election belongs to this govel ase and to the high calling to the dot. of gathering out of the world the elect. Let it not be forgotten in this con-nection that when the world shall be reconciled to God in the future, the blessings of that reconciliation will come to them while still in their fallen state, to assist them to the recovery of all that was lost in Adam. Hence our influence even with the worldly should be to encourage them towards as high standards of righteousness as possible, standards of righteousness as possible, knowing that whatever they may at-tain in the present life will be that much of advantage to them in the fu-ture life, and that in proportion to their degradation will be their difficulties in connection with their restitution to perfection. So then godliness is pro-fitable, not only for the life that now is, but also for that which is to come; not only for the saints who hope to be of the "little flock" and associated with Christ in His kingdom, but also for the Christ in His kingdom, but also for the world of mankind, whose hope is to be blessed under that reign of righteous-ness and its uplifting influences.
