The battle on the Somme front and has continued since with brief bulls, is still being engaged by British and Germans with the utmost stubbornness. An indication of the importance the Germans attach to defending their third line is found in the report of Gen. There is no news as to whether the Australians, who hold the greater portion of the Village of Pozieres, have yet secured the eastern part, which is on the plateau dominating the village. But General Haig tonight reports the repulse of a German infantry attack from the east.

Criticism of the Hearst Government's prohibition enactment was voiced at a meeting of the Ward Six Conservative Association, held last night in the old Y.M.C.A. building, West Queen street. Ex-Ald. J. A. McCausland, a prominent member of the association, declared the Ontario Government to be out of touch with the sentiment of the rank and file of the party, and the expression of this view was applauded by the score of Conservatives present.

After the lists of delegates to the Southwest Toronto nomination meeting were handed in, Mr. McCausland rose and asked Chairman Thomas Rooney if any would-be candidates had been mentioned to contest the riding for the Conservative party. In the battles of the present day in France the rifle appears to have become semi-obsolete. Struggles at close quarters are conducted with bayonet, knife, revolver and grenade, as revealed by an officer who fought at Pozieres and was wounded. A Great Crop on the Way

We are going to have another record-breaking crop in West-ern Canada. The most conservative observers who have traveled over the prairie pro-vinces agree in this. Yester-day a leading Toronto business man received a letter from another living in Winnipeg, who is one of the big men of affairs on this continent, and is in close touch with every section of Manitoba, Sarkatchewan and Alberta. Upon his return to Wirnipeg from a trip thru the west, he writes:

"Manitoba at the present time

"Manitoba at the present time has a better crop than she had in 1915. Saskatchewan and Alberta, I think, have equally as good, but it is hardly possible for us to expect anything like we had last year. But kind Providence may be good to us and also good to the great British Empire, which is depending upon us for the bread of life, and it may be that we will be able to give them almost as much wheat in the year 1916 as we did in that of 1915."

Borden in not prohibiting the export of Canadian nickel ore becomes more and more glaring as the unfolding facts become better known to the public. We have no other words to use than those he intends to do in view of these statehave no other words to use than those in the indictment of Sir Roger Casement: "affording aid and comfort to the King's enemies." Had Canada prohibited the export of nickel ore when the war broke export of nickel ore when the war broke but the blow would have been so severe to Germany that it might have greatly weakened the whole of her campaign. But Germany knows now, as she practically knew then, that she controls the nternational Nickel Co. and its output, international Nickel Co. and its output, and that she could rely upon a large share of the nickel product of the Canadian sudbury mines being stored for her in the United States if it could not be shipped, and in case it could be shipped surreptitiously then by undersea boats she would get it! No formal cabinet meetings was held today, but Premier Asquith conferred privately with David Lloyd George, secretary for war, Arthur J. After this conference Mr. Asquith went to the palace for a conference with the King which is supposed to have been connected with the Irish difficulty.

A number of informal conferences between the party leaders were held today. A meeting of the Irish parliamentary party will be convened to morrow in the house of commons to discuss the situation and consider plans for future action by the party.

Mryames Lincoln Ashley, treasurer of the International Nickel Company, official action can no longer be delayed. Mryames to have said:

"The company could not refuse to sell nickel to any purchaser, and there was nothing to prevent the purchasing of nickel from some company supplied by the International."

In this interview, freely published through the United States, he declared that he "knew nothing of the reported refusal of the company to sell nickel to Germany." As this responsible officer of the company, according to a published interview, has no knowledge as to the ultimate destinction of the metal mined in Ontario, it must be impossible for the officers engaged in watching this intricate and complicated danger to Canadian and imperial interests to give assurances of material value. While this interview remains without denial or correction, Canada must lie under the charge of supplying munications to the enemy.

War justifies any measure necessary to avoid contributing to the enemy's strength. This possibility must be considered above all private interests. In the conflict of nations, every private interest, however important, must be regarded as secondary, and must be saorificed when occasion demands. We have no constitutional restraints.
