THE STORY OF AN OVERCOAT

A daring piece of thievery was committed in a home in Peters street on last Saturday night. About nine o'clock a short, ragged person with a peaked cap pulled over one eye, slipped into a vestibule, stole noisily up stairs to the front hall of the up-stairs flat, and made a grab for an overcoat that was hanging over a banister. As he was making his way down again he was noticed by one of the household who, thinking that it was one of the members of the family, let the incident pass without thought. Then becoming suspicious the incident was investigated and the man was seen making his way down Peters to Waterloo with an overcoat under his arm. The coat that usually hung on the banister was then missed. The matter was reported to the city detectives, who searched the vicinity, but no trace of the coat or the man was to be found. He had made a successful getaway. But, fearing lest he would be eventually discovered, the coat was returned but not to its former resting place. It was found early the next morning in the alley way adjoining the house neatly folded. A new pair of gloves was missing.

COUNCIL MEETINGS

As there was no quorum for the common council committee yesterday afternoon, the committee will meet on Monday afternoon.

WAS POSTPONED

The examination of the Home Nursing Class, which was to have been conducted last evening by Dr. Emery, Major Bishop and Dr. Kenney, was postponed out of respect for the memory of Dr. Hogan, the able and kindly instructor of the class.

"KHAKI CLUB" ENTERTAINED

Members of the "Khaki Club" and their friends were entertained last evening by Mrs. Fred McMullin and Mrs. A. G. Brown at the home of Mrs. McMullin, Bridge street. The evening spent pleasantly with music, games and dancing.

MR. WINCHESTER'S CASE

Albert Winchester, reinstated by the common council as superintendent of streets on Tuesday, last evening resumed his duties. Commissioner Fisher said this morning that Mr. Winchester is not on duty and had nothing to add in explanation of the situation.

THE CATCH BASINS

The catch basins around the city streets are freezing up almost as fast as the department of water and sewerage can thaw them out. The flow of surface water at noon times freezes as it flows into the basin and makes the catch-basins being kept busy day and night on the work of keeping them clear.

NOT COMING HERE

The military officials a few days ago received word that a special construction battalion from Regina would make their quarters here for a few days. It was learned this morning that the unit will not come to St. John, but will proceed to Halifax. No further particulars were received.

INTEREST IN REPORT OF SHIPBUILDING PLANT ON THE MIRAMICHI

The Times' report of plans to erect a large steel ship-building plant on the Miramichi created much interest in this city. Shipping men seem unanimous in the opinion that it would be a good place for such an industry, as iron ore is available and also owing to the fact that there is a good opportunity of getting an abundance of coal for smelter purposes.

That the men behind the movement mean business is evident. It is said on good authority that stock was offered to local capitalists and that Montreal capitalists are interested.

The site of the proposed plant is said to be an adequate one for such an industry, and if plans materialize, it is said that it will be one of the most modern ship-building plants in America.

A CASE ABOUT DOGS

"Pigs is pigs and ducks is ducks," but it was a case of dogs is dogs in the police court this morning. Harned for keeping several ferocious animals called dogs in her premises in Erie street. Policeman Henriksen made the report. He and Jacob Spragg, a coal dealer in Brunswick street, gave evidence on the case. The defendant had several canine individuals which were not of first-class winners and were annoying to passers-by by running out in threatening manner barking savagely and making all kinds of actions as if to bite. In some cases, it was said, the dogs had attacked people.

The defendant said that the dogs were very playful and that they would not bite. This might have carried weight had not she made known to the court that one of the pet names applied to one of the mongrels was "Dynamite." One of the court officials suggested that this was not a very safe name for a dog. With this remark the case was laughingly disposed of and the magistrate said that the defendant would have to satisfy the police and muzzle the whole canine tribe.

POLICE COURT

As a result of a raid in a house in Brussels street about six o'clock last evening, William Cook and his wife and Della Coveney were arraigned in the police court this morning. The two former on the charges of keeping a disorderly house and the latter with being an inmate. They denied the charge.

Detective Barrett said that while he was at supper last evening his attention was called from his part of the house across the hall, where the defendants live. There was loud talk, with swearing and a general commotion. He went in and told all hands to keep quiet. He was forced, he said, to telephone to Detective Briggs and the two, after useless attempts to restore order, were forced to arrest all hands. There had been drinking, he said. Detective Briggs gave a like evidence as did Deputy-Sheriff Clifford. He had a message to the house and on the way out he heard general commotion across the hall.

Two children were found in the house, one three months old and the other about four years. Neither belonged to the people who occupied the house. They said that they were getting $4 a week for keeping each child. The magistrate said that this was a bad business. He sent the woman Coveney, to the House of the Good Shepherds for nine months. She said that she had three children, all of whom were in the Good Shepherd's Home at present. She had been in court before.

Owing to the good word spoken on behalf of the Cook family by David Watson, for whom the defendant works, and some others, Cook and his wife were allowed to go.

Mr. Watson said that he had known Cook worked for him for five years and during the last two years he was working steadily with him. He was a hard worker and the witness said that he had confidence in him.

The two children are now in the care of the Children's Aid Society.

Six other prisoners were all charged with drunkenness. They pleaded guilty and were fined $8 or two months in jail.

CITY SHOCKED BY NEWS OF DEATH OF DR. HOGAN

Brilliant Young Physician Succumbs to Pneumonia After Illness of Few Days

DR. FRANCIS J. HOGAN.

Though a paragraph in the Times yesterday announced the very serious illness of Dr. Francis J. Hogan of North End, news of his death, which occurred about six o'clock last evening, came as a shock to the city. He had been in vigorous health but a few days before, attending to the demands of his practice when he was stricken with pneumonia. Even so late as Tuesday of this week he was out. Doctor Hogan, though but nine years a physician, already had won a high place in the profession and in the esteem of the community. He was a son of Mrs. Julia Hogan and the late Michael Hogan and was but thirty-five years old. After attending the city schools he took his B.A. degree at St. Francis Xavier University and then went to Harvard where he made an excellent course in medicine, graduating in 1908. He opened an office in the North End, had developed a large practice and was looked upon as one bound to all a high place in his profession. He was brilliant, careful, genial and kindly in manner and he numbered friends everywhere, and readily retained their friendship. He was a member of St. John Council, Knights of Columbus and held office in the medical societies. Dr. Hogan also gave of his time and skill freely to the Children's Aid Society and he also was a lecturer in the home nursing and first aid work.

Socially he was very popular and he also was gifted musically. He had a most pleasing voice, while in Boston had trained under a prominent teacher and became one of the best baritone singers the city has known.

Dr. Hogan is survived by his wife, who was Miss Mary Magrath of Portland, Me.; his mother, and three sisters, Mrs. D. C. Deardon of Douglas avenue; Mrs. F. E. Corbett of Miss Marton. The deep sympathy of a large circle of friends goes out to them in their great loss.

On opening his court, at a coroner's inquest last evening, Dr. W. F. Roberts made reference to the death of Dr. Hogan. The medical profession of St. John, he said, has a cloud hanging over them in view of the sudden death of Dr. Hogan who was secretary of the local society. Dr. Hogan, he said, was a gentleman of large heart and high education and had based upon a career, which bore promise of being a most successful one and he felt that if he could do public duty in the late Dr. Hogan, in any way, he should do so not only from the standpoint of the profession but also from a personal and intimate friendship with the deceased. Dr. Roberts spoke feelingly of the loss the community had sustained in the death of Dr. Hogan. He was a brilliant man, he said, and gave every promise of rising to high position in the profession.

THE P. TATO EXCHANGE MATTER

The next step in the proceedings against the New Brunswick Potato Exchange, Hon. B. F. Smith, its president, and the other prominent potato producers and dealers who are members, is being awaited with interest. The attorney-general has given the formal permission requested by the acting commissioner re the cost of living, and there is now no further bar to action. As the proceedings are being taken through the dominion labor department, it is not likely that the provincial authorities will be required to take a hand in the matter, which will be looked after through federal channels.

The charges include the formation of the exchange for the purpose of controlling and enhancing prices, acting in restraint of trade and competition and not giving proper returns to the department. Members of the exchange continue to deny that there has been anything illegal in the conduct of the business, or that they have had anything to do with raising the prices of potatoes.
