Andrew A. Lockerby has been absent from the island for thirty-seven years. The first seven of these he spent in St. John, but after being burned out in the great fire there he removed to Boston, where he has since resided.

NEW BRUNSWICKER WAS SHOT IN HEAD

Bullet Tore Along Top of Skull and Cooper is Not Badly Hurt

Presque Isle, Me., Oct. 18.—Perley C. Brown, county attorney, went to Washburn on Monday afternoon, where he conducted a hearing on an assault case, which occurred there on Sunday afternoon. It seems that George Cooper of Conners, N. B., and John Conlon of Providence, R. I., were employed by one of the farmers during potato digging, and roomed together. On Sunday afternoon Cooper, who owns a house, went out to get some views of the village, and was accompanied by Conlon. While Cooper's attention was directed by his work Conlon shot at him with a revolver, the bullet plowing along the skull, and stunning the victim for a minute. He quickly recovered, however, and saw Conlon, who was frightened at the results of his deed, running away. He gave the alarm and the fugitive was captured. It transpired during the hearing that Conlon had taken it from his suit case. Only the fact that the revolver was practically worthless, prevented Cooper's death. Conlon was bound over to appear before the supreme court in Houlton next month and was taken to Houlton jail. Cooper apparently feels no ill effects from his wound and will be as well as ever in a few days. He is apparently a quiet fellow, with a good reputation, while Conlon is one of the floating population who drift into Aroostook from all over the United States every fall.

MARRIED THIS MORNING

In the Cathedral this morning at six fifteen o'clock a pretty marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. A. W. Meahan when he united in marriage William Leo Warner and Miss Kathleen, daughter of the late Dennis and Mary Coe, in the presence of immediate relatives and friends. The bride was nicely attired in a costume of cream Bedford cord trimmed with duchesse satin and wore a white beaver hat and carried a bouquet of white carnations. She was attended by Miss Genevieve Donohoe as bridesmaid, wearing a pretty grey suit and black beaver hat, and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom's best man, Fred C. Warner was best man. After the wedding a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Patrick McDonald, 32 Brussels street, and Mr. and Mrs. Warner left on a honeymoon trip through the Annapolis Valley. The bride's travelling gown was of Copenhagen blue with black beaver hat. They received very many presents, including a check for a substantial sum from the bride's uncle, William.

FOUND SEAM OF COAL. Gloucester Bay Gazette.—An eight foot seam of coal has been discovered at Loch Lomond by Messrs. Lawlor and Barrington of North Sydney, it is reported. These gentlemen have been boring in that district for some time, and on Friday afternoon discovered the coal after sinking a shaft some seventy feet. At a depth of sixty feet a hard rock was encountered. A diamond drill was used and after boring through the rock for a distance of ten feet, the seam was discovered.

ALL PROTECTION STREET FOR WORKS

Residents Say Government Should Take Over All Property

LIFE GETS UNBEARABLE

Elevator and Railway Operations at Front Doors and Now Another Grain Building and More Railways at Rear—Suggest Use Whole Place

The residents and property owners of Protection street, Carleton have a grievance. They say their homes are being made untenable and their lives miserable by the surrounding conditions and instead of seeing any relief ahead they have only the expectation of finding things getting worse if they continue in that location. Under the circumstances they are convinced that somebody ought to do something and as the trouble is caused by the extension of the harbor facilities in that district they suggest that it is up to the government to compensate them for damage to their property. At the time when the wharves and elevators at Sand Point were built, the northern side of Protection street was bought up and wiped out to make way for the improvements and on railway tracks puffing locomotives now run along that side of the street. As the room on the eastern side of the street was not needed as a site for any part of the terminal facilities, the property there was not bought and the owners and their tenants continued to reside there. Until recently the situation was not too bad as in the rear of their lots faced on the harbor and there was nothing on that side to disturb them. Now the core to the rear of Protection street is being filled in to afford a site for the new elevator and room for shipping and storage tracks for the railway. In the meantime there is quite enough smoke from the work of construction which is going on, and which cannot be prevented. When the improvements are completed, however, matters, they say, will be much worse; the houses will be overshadowed on either side by towering elevators and will be smothered by chimneys, locomotives, etc. and it will be no place for a comfortable home. The people who own the properties cannot afford to vacate them and lose the money invested in them and the terminal facilities has been made that the terminal facilities at that place would be greatly improved by the entire removal of the buildings and the devotion of that section to additional track space. The construction of the damage to the property by the work done and that which is being carried on now and the advantage of the street from clearing the houses away from the property owners have figured out that the dominion government ought to buy up their properties, remove the houses and convert the street into a railway yard.

BUILD SOME MODERN HOMES HERE AND MAKE A GOOD THING OF IT

A View of the Situation in St. John—What Real Estate Men Say

The suggestion of the provincial commissioners from British Columbia, who were here a few days ago, that St. John be ripe for a building boom, is heartily endorsed by the real estate men of the city. Probably every office in the city has a list of applications from persons seeking homes, applications with which they are unable to do anything. The trouble simply is that there are not enough desirable houses to go around. The city has been filling up steadily during the last few years and the amount of building which has been going on has hardly been sufficient to keep up with the number of dwellings which are burned, condemned or otherwise taken out of the market, to say nothing of keeping up with the increase in population. Rents are already about as high as the market will stand and even a willingness to pay a far rent than the average will not help the home seeker materially for there is a scarcity of higher priced houses and few as well as those of lower rent. In addition to the demand for houses to rent there is a good market for the sale of houses and it cannot be supplied because there are practically none of the type wanted for sale. The older houses in St. John, in most cases, do not come up to modern requirements, and few of the newer ones are offered for sale. The real estate men, who are in close touch with the situation, all are agreed that any one investing some capital in the erection of a group of modern dwellings would make a handsome return on their investment.

HOME FROM WEST, DOUGLAS McARTHUR HOLDS ST. JOHN AS FIRST; PEOPLE HE MET

Douglas McArthur is home from the west after a trip as far as Regina. While full of the graces of the western land and the possibilities there, he says St. John, with its prospects and the better life here is his choice beyond any place he saw while away. Over all the western cities visited he gives the palm to Saskatoon which he is assured has a great future. In what way Mr. McArthur met many former St. John men who are doing well. They include A. L. Haining, Mr. Casswell, P. B. McArthur, Mr. Saksaton; Fred Doig, who, with his partner now owns two business houses, one in Brandon and a recently established branch, and Mr. Sweeney of St. David street, who has prospered in Winnipeg.

OCT. 17, '12. One of the Things a Boy Calls "The Limit" is having to go to school wearing last year's outgrown suit. Buy him some clothes that evidence good style and expert tailoring and see what happens—watch him brace up, square his shoulders, step out energetically.
