Actionage General—This explanations are proposed to the interest charged in 1880 and the later the three in the control of the page of the control of the later t

LETTING OF THE CONTRACT
for the N. & W., he said that the Government did not asct hastily in changing the route, but the papers would show that they had taken a mouth to investigate the subject, and had only made the change when they learned that it was in the interests of the results and had only made the change when they learned that it was in the interests of the results and the Company. It would not have been in the public interest to have compelled the Company to connect with the Indiantown Branch for reasons already well pointed out by Burchill. The Government would have been subject to serious censure if they had not made the change of route. The Government was not advised that the Federal Government intended to subsidize the Indiantown Branch. He thought McLeel, when he said this, was mistaken, for his recollection was that no information was received on the matter until some time after the prorogation. The building of THE INDIANTOWN BRANCH was not fair to the Company because they

Adams—I repeat what I said.

DANGEROUS MEN TO TALK TO.

Attorney General—This only shows how regrettable it is that gentlemen will retail private conversations, another instance of which we had from Mr. Park this afternoon. Their whole stock in trade seemed to be the relating of private conversations and correspondence.

He then referred to the payments, to what Adams had called the "Patent Combination of Crocket, Gregory, Lurgin and ments were wrong. He did not commit himself to an erroneons statement as his leader had done about the Agricultural Report.

ATILITA

CHECKING DOMINION ENCROACHMENT.

This correspondence shows how unfounded the charges made by Park and Adams were, and that the Government did not move in the matter until nearly every resident of Derby had requested them to, and not until after every means of arriving at an amicable settlement had been exhausted. Park knew the serious character of the obstruction. Before the injunction was applied for the Chief Commissioner, who is well known to be a careful man, investigated the matter and the conclusion he came to was that unless we were prepared to give up the whole country the courts should be appealed to.

that injunction would be sustained that the Dominion Government would have to recede from the stand they have taken, and acknowledge the rights of the Province. The Opposition had hoped to show that Snowball and the N. & W. Coupany were responsible for the proceed. Province. The Opposition had hoped to show that Snowball and the N. & W. Coupany were responsible for the proceedings but the correspondence did not bear them out.

Mr. Park—At what date were instructions given to obtain affidavits on which to apply for injunction? I was told on Nov.3rd by the Secretary that the Government had not interferred, and that he would come and see the place and if there was not any obstruction to the highway nothing would be done. If the affidavits were made on Nov.5th, instructions must have been sent before the 3rd. This was why I said the proceedings were sprung without the knowledge of the rest of the Government.

HAVING RID THEMSELVES OF THE PESTILENCE

do they wish to suffer from it again? Do they wish to enable him to obtain vast treats of public land for a song and build roads to it out of the public treasury? Do they wish to enable the honorable problem treasury to his own pocket? No, the country does not desire to return those gentlemen to power, but will sustain the present Government in an honest administration of affairs

Do they wish to enable him to obtain vast treats of public land for a song and build roads to it out of the public treasury? Do they wish to suffer from it again? Do To ARRIVE. DUE.

Attorney General—This explanation does not alter the case. The Government had not interferred on Nov. 3rd, but an Order-in-Council had been made on Octowas not fair to the Company because they had been led to expect a subsidy of $3.200 a mile for a road on either side of the river and had made contracts on the faith of it. He believed that Parliament would do the Company justice in this mather than the Company justice in the Company justice in this mather than the Company justice in this mather than the Company justice in the Company justice in this mather than the Company justice in the Company jus discover the combination of Fraser, Wetmore, Winslow and Cropley which had drawn $7,859, as against the $6,500 drawn by the combination of Fraser, Wetmore, Winslow and Cropley which had drawn $7,859, as against the $6,500 drawn by the combination he referes to. He (Blair) did not complain that the payments in the latient of the combination were taken without consultation with the other members of the Government, and also Adams' stylement that it was made at the instance of Snowball. Neither he nor the Government had any correspondence with Snowball on the subject and did not know his views. On October 8th last a large number of people in Derby complained by petition to the Chief Commissioner of ENCROACHMENTS ON THE HIGHWAY and saked that the Government would endeavour to prevent them because there was not sufficient width between the houses and the river for both railway and highway. The people asked if they could prohibit the building of the railway and said that they would give the railway a right of way on what was called the Fowler Line. They also,

THE INDIANTOWN BRANCH

He (Blair) did not complain that the payments in the latter case were wrong, but it was what all Governments had done in the payments and would do in the future. They agiven their partonage to their friends, and it would not be found that the late of their charge is, that the income for the last year fell short of the expenditure.

THE OVER EXPENDITURE was shortage of $25,000 in the immore from lumber. The over-themethed the payments and that year.

In 1879 there was a shortage of $25,000 in the same subject but no notice was taken of their remonstrances. The Chief Commissioner submitted these papers to the Government with his own opinion upon the case. It therefore became the duty of the Local Government to remonstrate with the Dominion Government as it did do and also to take legal steps to prevent the rights of the people being interfered with.

WETMORE AND PARK AGAINST POPULAR RIGHTS.

No doubt Wetmore and Park would have submitted to have the rights of the Province taken away. The Federal Government did not treat the remonstrance with curtesy but ordered Snow ball tog on. He (Blair) then wrote to the Federal Government with a view to avoid litigation. He read a letter from the Acting Minister of Railways stating that he would be obliged to interfere by legal process if the Railway Department would not stop the work and choose the line in the rear, and expressing a hope that an amicable arrangement could be made.

CHECKING DOMINION ENCROACHMENT.

This correspondence shows how uniformed the chief of the subject and under the content of the subject and under the content of t recountry the courts should be appealed to.

PARK'S INCONSITENCY.

It was only then that application to the Courts had been made, and now four months have elapsed and the injunction has not been dissolved.

Hanington—It is all frozen up.

Attorney General—Then why did my friend Park obtain affidavits that irreparable damage would be done if the work did not go on? Why did the Dominion Government employ counsel in the matter and strenuously argue it? The people of Derby felt a debt of gratitude to the Government for their action. He felt that
