Says War is Over Save in Remote Corners.

His Latest Work - Brought About the Surrender of 300 Men.

How It was Managed - Has Now Asked Leave to be Allowed to Come Home — Has No Enemies in Africa

The most recent letter received in Lindsay, Ont., from Col. Sam Hughes was addressed to Capt. Williamson of that town. It reads as follows:

Well, the show is over! With Capt. Mackie and seventeen men I have just concluded the surrender of Gen. de Villiers and all his corps of about 300 men and fifteen great ten-team oxwagons, nine carts, tons of ammunition and thousands of animals. The terms are signed. Thus the war is over, except in remote corners of the Transvaal and Orange River Colony. After our advance from Griquatown to Reitfontein and Papkine, the work has been sharp. At Griquatown I arranged that the wives, daughters and sweethearts of leaders and others of the enemy should write them urging peace and giving facts re Pretoria, etc. At Papkine Gen. Sir C. Warren sent me on free-handed to Daniels' Kine. Well, in three and a half hours my force-Warren's Scouts and Intelligence Corps-with Capt. Mackie of Pembroke, covered the distance, 22 miles, and had the wire in operation an hour later. Thence I got instructions to proceed onward on a reconnaissance, again free-handed. That is how I like to go. Then a fellow is on his own responsibility, and feels it so: accordingly he takes far more precautions than if tied up by orders and cau-

At Daniels' Kine the enemy got out so hurriedly that they left their Union Republican flag flying. I now have it, as well as the Transvaal one I captured at Griquatown. I wired for seventeen days' rations in addition to four I already had, and on Saturday morning, in a terrible storm of rain, sleet and hail, began my march of my were supposed to be. I looked at would shoot one of them with a rifle forty miles to Koening, where the eneit this way: The horses were better saddled and moving than shivering in rain and frost, and so were the men. made all fold the blanket Indian fashion, so as to cover the knees, and with heads set facing the storm, off we all went. I had neither blanket nor overcoat-only my light cape, my boots. These soon filling and the water getting warm, I was quite com-

SAM PRAISES MACKIE. Capt. Mackie stood it like a hero.

You may not remember him-as the ong, slim 6 feet 4 in. adjutant of the 42nd, whom we met at Niagara last France, China or any other nation Luke Byron, Campobello. There is no better fellow than Mackie. I have had him under me, and with me, day and night, for six has been right up with me, and as he says himself feels all right so long as am around. The feeling he says is that if I am on deck the Boers and not we must do the dodging. Well, through the rain, sleet and hail for 40 niles like heroes. It was a better test of manly qualities than a battle. At he home of a lovalist. Mr. Roux, at Mount Carmel, whose wife was formerly a Miss Fraser, a Scotch lassie, we were treated as not one of us will ever forget. That family did all they ould to make our rest pleasant and cheering. Often afterwards would the ninds of the whole party revert to Mrs. Roux and her family, and many blessing has rested on their home om the hearts of the boys. I induced Mr. Roux, a British field cornet, to accompany us with his cart. My plan was for him to go on Kuruman and get Rev. Tom Brown, another splendid fellow, an Anglican clergyman there, to go with him o the Boer camp and assist in geting them to surrender. These two gentlemen are deserving of special hanks for their valuable services, for though I had all arranged before they got to the Boers yet they helped materially to keep all smooth on the four days' trip back.

floor, and were quite comfortable. All were glad that we had pushed on, even amid the greater discomforts, for our horses got oat sheaves and we got shelter.

A. S. C. clerk-and we were not the after the enemy, and at sunset were hirty-five miles north of Koening. I last night met three of the Boer leaders, having sent on a native with a summons for their surrender. The terms are all signed and sealedeverything to be surrendered unconditionally; citizens of the former Orange Free State. now Orange River Colony, or of the Transvaal, are to proceed to their homes, provided the district whence each comes is free of the enemy and is occupied by British troops. I also made special mention of a couple of rellows who claim to be merely trekking and not fighters, but they must be meantime treated as prisoners and prove their case at their district towns. I have not heard Kine, and I am now 75 miles north of have done your heart good to have been with Mackie and me for the last three or four days. The Boers came in two and two to surrender. Well, just put 240 men on horseback, many leading spare horses, and behind strung out fifteen covered wagons, each drawn by from 14 to 20 oxen, besides nine carts, nearly all four or six in hands, with thousands of sheep, cattle, etc., bringing up the rear, and you have a view of our procession. I had hoped the main column would have caught up to us in time for the old veteran, Gen. Warren, to be present at the surrender, but we had moved too rapidly for any column to keep pace with us. I had twice daily sent back reports to the general, and wondered why none came in reply. The first night I had those prisoners, the 20th, a runner reached their camp with the yarn re the capture of our fellows below Kroonstad, in the Orange River Colony, and with the further yarn that Lord Roberts was cut off, etc. My spies among them soon let me know what was going on, so I prepared for the emergency I saw approaching. The chief landrost came to me and suggested backing out of the agreement. I at once agreed, said our column would never forgive me for taking their surrender, suggested that their force retire to the position occupied by them the previous day, while we would advance to where we had also been, and two days later we would make their wives widows.

PUT BOERS ON THEIR HONOR.

I also circulated a counter yarn as if I had got it from the general, admitting the Boer success between Bloemfontein and Pretoria, but that the following day our main force had captured the whole Boer outfit, upon hearing of which Kruger had asked to surrender, etc. I had not heard a word, but I was not going to be caught by them at their own game, and you see how near I was to telling a straight story. Was it mind-reading? At all events I last night landed my column of nearly three hundred here. Besides Mackie and myself we had only seventeen men. I did not let the Boers know it until our arrival here, but assured them I was not going to humiliate them by bringing the whole force up to march them back, that I would treat them on their honor, merely guarding the wagons with the rifles piled on, etc.

Really, Jack, they are a rather fine lot, and in our four days' march back I learned to like many of them. Of course. I never allowed anything to stand in the way of duty, but while I in his hand as I would a dog, yet once in my power as prisoners, I John Dolby, St. Andrews. would, and did, use them like gentlemen. No man of our side in South Africa has been ahead of your humble servant where the bullets were flying, and no one has gone straighter for Walter B. Morris, St. Andrews. them or made them "get a move on" which you have often seen me wear- quicker than I, but there my old as a consequence the rain dripped off sporting spirit comes in. I had no percape to the knees and down into sonal hard feelings against them. One fellow told me he tried to hit me Robert Allingham, Campobello. three times at Faber's, but within 100 Thomas E. Batson, Campobello. yards. I had no ill-will towards him Alfred Brown, Campobello. for it, but rather a feeling of contempt at his being such an infernally Galba Brown, Campobello. bad shot. Nearly all assured me before going to their homes that if I wanted a corps against Russia, than the Transvaal, they would to a man come with me. The day before yesterday I rode 57 weeks, and a better-hearted or braver miles. The first word I got from my fellow never lived. In every scrap he general was that morning at Coe. He said he was moving from Daniel's Kine to Blikfontein. Thus I had been 75 miles in advance. I at once sent Capt. Mackie on towards Koening with the Boers, while I crossed counpoor Mackie and all the rest came try southeasterly to this place. That night I rode to Koening, covering 57 miles in the saddle. Turpin was with

ASKED TO BE RELIEVED.

Yesterday we came from Koening here, and I can assure you the camp opened their eyes. The Canadian Artillery boys are all delighted at my success, and, indeed, I do not think I have an enemy or jealous officer, baring one or two, in the entire force. I have officially asked the general to relieve me from duty, for the show is over and I want to get back to Canada. I hope to leave here in a day or two. Phillips and Turpin have been at my back through everything. They are fine fighters and good boys. There is a rumor here that all the regiment is in Cape Town and will sail in a few days. That makes the two lads wild to get back, and now that there is not one soldier in arms in the west or northwest of the Transvaal, Orange River Colony or northwest provinces, my mind reverts also Canada-wards. I forgot to say Gen. de Villiers at the last moment backed out from surrendering and escaped At Koening that night we all slept in after the agreement was signed from a church with a fire on the earthen the Boer camp the day before they came in to me. Thus far I have succeeded in every thing here. It is a pleasure to me to have vindicated myself and my principles here, and to have fived through The next day our wagons came in, it to have witness the triumph of Bribut by mistake, instead of having four tain—the Greater Britain—in her and seven days' rations, they had only greatest struggle. My great object of four and three—a mere mistake of an years' agitation has been crowned with success. I leave Africa without party to sit down and whine and de-having made an enemy here that I mand explanations, etc. On we went know of, with thousands of men and officers having repeatedly asked to serve under me, and without one single action or movement on my part that has not been crowned with success. I hope to be home in August. SAM HUGHES. Farewell.

BIG STORM IN MANITOBA.

WINNIPEG. Aug. 18.—One of the worst hail storms ever experienced in Manitoba swept over Rosser municipality today. The storm was accompanied by blinding flashes of lightning, and the wind blew at a terrific rate, unroofing buildings, tearing up trees and destroying hundreds of acres of ripe wheat. The hall stores were as large as birds' eggs, and all glass on sides of buildings exposed to the storm were demolished.

SECOND ACCIDENT

Casts Gloom Over Paris

PARIS, Aug. 19.-A second serious accident has happened at the exposi- thronged the wharf and its approaches tion. It occurred, unlike the first, and all the streets through which the when many were killed or injured, men were marched on their way up through the falling of a foot bridge near the celestial globe, amidst a scene of rejoicing. The first was on an ordinary Sunday afternoon. The latest was upon the occasion of the most successful fete given, casting a deep gloom over the city. It had been decided to give a night fete befitting the day when the prizes were distributed, and consequently all the buildings were brilliantly illuminated by electricity, the luminous fountains were playing, and the Seine was alive with hundreds of boats lit by Chinese lanterns. All the Paris exposition, therefore, was crowded, including the bridges joining one part with the other, and it was on one of the wooden constructions, that joining the Invalides to the Italian pavilion, that the accident happened. It was rumored at first that the bridge had fallen, but it was found that this was not absolutely correct, as only the handrail on one side had given way under the following circumstances:

Just before 11 o'clock, some one passing over from the direction of the Champ de Mars, shouted "It cracks," and although there was no justification for the cry, it was repeated by the crowd, causing a terrible crush and panic. At a certain point on the Invalides site the bridge curves around somewhat, and it was hear that the ten to fifteen yards. Through the pressure of the crowd thirty persons were precipitated from the bridge to the roadway, three yards below. Two of these are not expected to live. One of those believed to be mortally hurt was injured internally and the other sustained a fracture of the skull. The injuries of the others consists of wounds upon the head and face, broken arms and ribs and internal lesions. Most of the victims were women. The minister of commerce, M. Millerant, visited the scene and President Loubet sent Gen. Grubois to represent him. Another version is that the shout which started the panic was uttered by a small boy.

LATER-The two persons reported to be fatally injured have since died.

LIEUT. KAYE ON DUTY AGAIN. In a letter dated Bloemfontein, Orange River Colony, July 7, Frederick W. Hamilton, special correspondent of the Toronto Globe, writes

Lieut. Mason and Lieut. Kaye, having escaped from hospital at the Cape, passed through Bloemfontein today en route for the front. Lieut. Kaye, who was severely tried by the strain of the hard work around Thaba N'Chu, 's now fit again. Lieut. Mason, who has suffered much from the wound he got at Paardeberg, has had a very slow recovery, but is much better now. His lung was pierced by the bullet, and, while he has done a great deal of work in an administrative post at Cape Town, he has had a great deal of trouble.

An armed mob, numbering 50 men, forcibly entered the jail at Doe Run Friday night, and taking out Bill Cater, a negro, who had confessed to criminally assaulting a white woman, riddled him with bullets.

HEROES RETURN.

Canadian Soldiers Welcomed Home from South Africa.

Most of Them Are from the West-Enthusiastic Greetings at Quebec and Ottawa.

QUEREC, Aug. 18.—Several Canadians from South Africa arrived on the steamer Parisian this morning. Most of the returned men are from the west. They include Lieut. Col-Cartwright, who came out among the cabin passengers, and the following men, who travelled intermediate: Private S. Ward, C company, R. C. R., formerly of Q. O. R., Toronto; Private McLaughlin, C company; Private Finch, B company, London; Private Pelkey, G company, St. John, formerly of the 62nd Fusiliers; Private John McConnell, D company, Ottawa, formerly of G. G. F. G.; Private Corby, B company, London; Private Clarke, D company, Otta va; Private Macaulev. Ottawa, formerly of the 43rd Battalion; Trooper Watson of Kitchener's Horse, who had been from Maple Creek, Assinib ia, and went out and enlisted on his own hook; Trooper Mc-Lean of the British South African police squadron, who was with Col. Plumer's column, and who also hails from Assiniboia.

Immediately upon the arrival of the Parisian the ten invalided soldiers were transferred to the steamer Polaris and conveyed to the wharf on the Quebec side. Thousands of peop town. In the absence of Mayor Parent, Pro-Mayor Tanguay headed the citizens' committee that presented the formal welcome, and read a brief address of congratulation amid the plaudits of the crowd. There was a generous display of bunting, and the R. C. A. from the citadel, with the state band, and the R. C. R. I. stationed here, were both present to escort the heroes to their temporary quarters. There was plenty of enthusiasm and many flags displayed on the line of march to the barracks of the R. C. R. I. at the head of the esplanade, for the men were saved the tedious march to the citadel by being housed at these barracks for breakfast, where they were paid off this morning, after which they were at liberty to return to their homes. OTTAWA, Aug. 19.-Three Ottawa members of the first contingent, invalided home from South Africa, arrived this afternoon, and were given a cordial reception. Among the prominent officers at the station was General O'Grady-Haley. The men are Privates Clarke and Macaulay, 43rd Rifles, and Private McConnell, Governor General's Foot Guards. All were at Paardeburg. Clarke was wounded four times, being shot through both knees and the left thigh, and receiving a scalp wound while raising himhandrail gave way for a distance of self to warn injured comrades to lie low till help came.

FORSHAY-CHAPMAN.

A quiet event took place Thursday evening at the residence of John Colwell, 106 Victoria street, north end, when Miss Alma G. Chapman, daughter of Charles Chapman of Chipman, Queens Co., and J. Wilbert Forshay were united in marriage by Rev. David Long. The bride was becomingly attired in a travelling suit of blue, with steel trimmings. The ceremony was performed in the presence only of intimate friends of the contracting parties. Mr. and Mrs. Forshay will make their future home in Chipman. DRIVING ACCIDENT AT MILL-

TOWN. The Sun's St. Stephen correspondent writes: While driving at Militown on the 16th, Miss Mary McCaw, Mrs. Finkill and Miss Bessie McCullough were thrown from their warriage by the horse becoming frightened by a car. Miss McCullough had an arm broken in two places, and Miss Mc-Caw was cut and bruised quite badly. Mrs. Finkill escaped serious injury.
