ABOUT EARLY HISTORY OF CANADIANS

Montreal, April 20.—It appears to me that one of the things which would be most interesting for a community like Montreal would be a museum of Indian archaeology. It is a shame the movements of peoples of that importance are not more fully studied. If such a museum were to be established, either in connection with McGill University, the Natural History Society or the Chateau de Ramezay, I am certain our people would be very much surprised at the amount of interest which would come of it. The poor Indian has great virtues, and we ought not to think of him simply as a unit in human history. We owe a considerable debt to him and we ought to make what record we can of his good points as well as his bad.

THE ST. JOHN GLOBE'S VIEW OF THE CONTRACTORS' CAMPAIGN

The Civic Election. One of the current reports, and one which is in all probability not incorrect, is that an employee of the House of Commons, New Brunswick, came here from Ottawa, and with some assistance, selected several persons as candidates, and induced them to enter the field. As a result of this a ticket was made up which included some members of the last board, which left some off, and which was indifferently received. There is no evidence that the Liberal executive here was a party to this foolish movement, but the result was to quicken feeling against the introduction of general party politics, and it resulted badly for those who planned it. There is no doubt that this badly conceived movement was to defeat Alderman Baxter, but it signally failed. It actually had the effect of moving his personal friends to greater effort than they would have otherwise put forth. A noticeable thing in Tuesday's election was the comparatively small influence exercised by the newspapers in civic contests. Mr. Baxter was ignored in various ways by four daily newspapers, but he was triumphantly returned. While the Council as a whole is not the ideal one which some good citizens always hope to see, it is a body which generally is representative of the ordinary intelligence, judgment and capacity of the citizens. Of course, some good men were defeated, but there is nothing unusual in that.

MURDER WILL BE THE CHARGE TO BELAND NOW

Toronto, April 20.—After lingering between life and death for months, ever since she was brutally assaulted near the town of Cobalt, last autumn, Mary E. Smith is dead at St. Michael's Hospital. As a result of her death, Saul Gagnon, now held at Cobalt on a charge of assault and robbery, will be charged with murder. An inquest will be held in the course of the next few days. Gagnon was arrested two weeks ago by Provincial Inspector Wm. Greer, at North Bay. Last fall, Gagnon entered the home of Miss Ethel Crawford, near Cobalt, where Miss Smith also lived, and with an axe he brutally assaulted both women. Miss Smith was thrown from a window and escaped, but Miss Smith was frightfully cut and bruised. After ransacking the house, Gagnon made his escape, and worked most of the winter in the hospital at Diver. Inspector Greer was put on the case and went to Gagnon's home at Foyassan, where he was informed that his man was in the course of North Bay. The inspector went to North Bay, and arrested Gagnon on the station platform, as he had been discharged from the hospital and was about to leave town. He was taken to Cobalt, and charged with assault and robbery.

A MONTREAL RANDOLPH MAN HONORED AT INVERNESS LETTER IS OPTIMISTIC

Montreal, April 21.—Rev. Gavin Lang, formerly minister of St. Andrew's Church, Montreal, has recently scored another educational success. In 1900 he was returned at the head of the poll in the election of the Inverness Burgh School Board. On the 19th of last month he achieved a similar distinction after a most exciting contest, and without any personal canvass. The friends of Mr. Lang in this city and throughout Canada, for he is still remembered in the Dominion, will be pleased to read the following notice of his triumph, which appeared in the Inverness Northern Chronicle:—

JOYS OF LIFE JUST AS REAL THERE, HE SAYS

(The Ottawa Citizen.)
"The joys of life are just as real in Labrador and on the deep seas as anywhere." This statement formed the keynote of a splendid address delivered by Dr. W. T. Grenfell, Sunday morning in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. A large number of people braved disagreeable weather conditions to hear the famous medical missionary. Rev. Dr. D. M. Ramsay, of the Knox Presbyterian church, presided, and introduced the speaker. "We are often asked," said Dr. Grenfell, "why we go to Labrador and the deep seas. The answer is simple. We look about for a field of useful work. God offers us that field. Many call us fools. I'm afraid they are thus of the Christ. They say we should be locked up. They did lock up the Christ. I always hesitate before speaking of our work in the north lest I should appear to digify it. Let me tell you that there is just as essential a work to be done in Labrador today. People ask us why we have left the cities and gone down where they can eat turkey and such things. Would they not also be tempted to do too much and to spend too much on self-glorification?"

New York, N. Y., April 21.—Frequent moderate recessions in the stock market were the natural accompaniment to the broadening now progressing and daily operators will gain the best results by full realization of this fact which indicates purchases on reactions with stop order protection and the taking of profits in subsequent trading. The general list does not gain much headway in the trading area with specialties most prominent on the bull side, considerable realising being noticeable on the low and medium priced stocks are most in favor with pool manipulators, while professional seem to sell others on strength of turns, providing confusing cross-currents. There is a good deal of manipulation and we suggest the exercise of some conservatism in daily trading until the current readjustment shall have been completed. The news to the Sun this morning regarding Mr. H. Harriman going abroad for his health is a factor professionals will undoubtedly endeavor to use against the market. The low and medium priced break in wheat which is a favorable fundamental working in many directions. The Turkish situation seems to be drawing to an amicable adjustment. It is reported that the government is now ready to sign the old agreement, which would be favorable. There is a stronger demand for iron according to the London market, which has also a special saying Washington is not likely to take any action against trading in futures. Press comment and market literature somewhat mixed as to the immediate movement. It may be added that Mr. Lang has also been returned unopposed for the Inverness Landward School Board, of which he has been for many years and now chairman. He has thus to do with nearly 20 different schools.

Rev. Dr. Lang has also been asked to be one of the twenty-one delegates from the Church of Scotland to the General Council of the Alliance of Reformed Churches, which meets in New York on June 15, and to read a paper on the "Home Mission Work of the Church of Scotland." Mr. Lang has accepted and hopes to be present.

PLAY THE GAME.

There's a breathless hush in the Close tonight;
Ten to make the match to win;
A bumping pitch and a blinding light;
An hour to play the last man in.
And it's not for the sake of a ribboned coat
Or the selfish hope of a season's fame,
But his captain's hand on his shoulder smote—
"Play up! play up! and play the game!"
The sand of the desert is sodden red,
Red with the wreck of the square that broke;
The gatling's jammed and the colonel's dead,
And the regiment blind with the dust and smoke.
The river of death has bridged its banks,
And England's far and honor, a name—
But the voice of a schoolboy rallies the ranks,
"Play up! play up! and play the game!"

This is the world that year by year,
While in her place the school is set.
Every one of her sons must hear
And none that hears it dare forget.
This they all with a joyful mind
Bear through life like a torch in flame,
And falling fling to the host behind,
"Play up! play up! and play the game!"

AN ATTEMPT TO BURN SCOTT ACT MAN'S HOME

Special to The Standard
Annapolis Royal, April 21.—A dastardly attempt was made to burn the house of Scott Act Inspector Carlin, on Monday night.
Mrs. Carlin and daughter were awakened about midnight by the smell of smoke. Going to the window they discovered the side of the house was burning and it was only by their prompt action and the timely arrival of Mr. Carlin that the house was saved from total destruction.
The discovery of a can and bottle containing oil leaves no doubt that the fire was of incendiary origin, probably the work of persons who feel the result of Inspector Carlin's successful efforts to stamp out the sale of liquor.
The authorities are working on the case and a detective will probably be brought from Halifax, in an endeavor to bring the guilty party to justice.
A special meeting of the town council was held this evening and a reward offered for information that will lead to the arrest of the frebrog.
The Scott Act is being strictly enforced and there is practically no liquor sold in Annapolis at present.
Several convictions have been received since Inspector Carlin's appointment in February and on Saturday a fresh conviction was obtained against a prominent citizen after an exacting trial during which the
