

DESCRIBES THE MEETING OF GANS AND NELSON AT GOLDFIELD IN '06

GANS' GENERALSHIP WAS WONDERFUL.

(By George (Kid) Lavigne, ex-light-weight champion of the world.)

One of the five great fights in this country was the Gans-Nelson meeting at Goldfield, Nev. Sept. 2, 1906, which Nelson lost on a foul in the 42nd round.

The papers said it was a deliberate foul. Nolan, manager of Nelson, claimed the "Battler" was jobbed, but no one paid any attention to him. He said the foul was intentional, as did many critics at the ringside.

Gans went around Nelson like a cooped round a barrel, but Nelson took punishment like a stoic. A gamer man never lived than Nelson and Gans had few ring equals.

Gans fought a clean, manly fight. He had been forced to weigh in at 133 ringside with his torso on, which meant he had to make 131 pounds. He fooled Nelson by making the weight and retaining his strength and he left 000.

the ring cheered by men who came ready to hiss him. It was Nelson and Nolan who were hissed.

Round after round Gans punched Nelson until the Dane's face lost resemblance to a human countenance, but he piled in for more, doggedly trying to wear down his opponent. Twice Gans knocked him down, and once when he helped him to his feet, his reward was a vicious blow to the stomach.

In the 16th round Gans injured his hand and in the 28th it was literally smashed. He fought with one hand thereafter, but to deceive Nelson, he limped as if he had injured his foot. The fight was a struggle of brains, skill, heart and hands, but above all it was one of will. In sheer will power Gans excelled Nelson. Both were weary at the end, but Gans was stronger than his rival.

Gans' generalship was wonderful. He forced Nelson to do all the work and saved himself throughout. He fought with a broken hand, ramely and wonderfully, until Nelson's fist landed in his groin and laid him low. It was a vicious, hard, gruelling fight and will live long in ring annals. The receipts were $78,000 and the purse $33,000. Nelson received $22,500 win, lose or draw and Gans took $11,000.

GIRL TEAM SHOULD WEAR BLOOMERS

Boston, Mass., Mar. 25.—Modistes of Boston are ready with suggestions to help out the girls of the Brookline High School who are planning to play baseball and don't know just what to wear.

"The problem is very simple," say the Boston modistes. "There shouldn't be any skirt to the suit. I don't see how the young women could possibly think of wearing skirts while playing baseball. They should wear Turkish trousers which fill out well around the hip and also at the knee. These should not be too exaggerated.

"With these a blouse should be worn of the same material as men's negligee shirts without any high standing collar. There should be a low roll collar with sleeve which buttons and can be rolled back over the elbow or else elbow length sleeves. "The cap worn should be very similar to the professional baseball cap. It should fit the head closely and have a long visor to shield the eyes from the sun. Gaiters about the legs would be too warm so the girls should wear only their stockings as they do when wearing their bathing suits. Their shoes should be of a heavy variety to withstand the wear and tear of the game."

LIPTON MAY GET U. S. GIRL

Denver, Col., March 25.—Friends of Miss Ruth Boettcher, one of the prettiest and wealthiest girls in the city, are admitting Sir Thomas Lipton, three times hunter for the American cup and the prize of the English matrimonial sea, is in love with her and they are expecting an engagement announcement.

Miss Boettcher is now at Coronado Beach for the rest of winter after a round-the-world trip. It was on this journey she met Sir Thomas and was entertained by him at London. Miss Boettcher has a yearly income said to be $50,000.

Nor was Sir Thomas the only victim, according to the story. Lord Kitchener, of Khartoum, the iron man of the British Empire, to whose suit even a royal personage is said to have lent a receptive ear, was also struck by the magnetic personality of the young American.

JEFF WILL CHALLENGE THE HOPES

Cleveland, Ohio, Mar. 25.—Jim Jeffries has at last found a way by which he can come back. Instead of challenging Johnson for a return bout he is going to start his ring career all over again. He intends first cleaning up the white hope brigade. This is what the big fellow told Johnny Kilbane and his manager, Jimmy Dunn, when they were out on the coast.

Jeffries is now training and Kilbane says that he is in good condition. Jeffries is desirous of meeting either Jim Stewart or Carl Morris and if he is returned the winner he will start after a bout with Al Palmer. He then plans to challenge the winner of the Johnson-Flynn bout.

THE UNFIRE

Hot Springs, Ark., Mar. 25.—George Mullin, the big Detroit pitcher, just like Lillian Russell, believes that dancing is the classical exercise of them all for mankind. Lillian says that it is the proper thing for womanhood and is probably right.

Mullin claims that it is the greatest thing in the world for a ball player who desires to get off some surplus flesh provided that said ball player wears a rubber shirt. Mullin wears a rubber shirt when training and when two-stepping and waltzing in the ball room at night.

Monroe, La., Mar. 25.—Fears of De-troit fans that Manager Hughey Jen-nings would not appear on the coach-ing line this year with his famous "Ee-yah," and spearing stunt were set at rest today when Jennings stated, "When the American League season opens I will be on the coaching line for the Tigers. Just as sure as ever. Any reports to the contrary are false."

Hot Springs, Ark., Mar. 25.—Honus Wagner picks the Pittsburgh Pirates to win the pennant next season.

Wagner believes that the addition of Mike Donlin to the team is the big-gest stroke of business acumen Bar-ney Dreyfuss has shown in a long time. "I am not in the habit of mak-ing predictions before the season opens," said Honus today, "but I firmly believe we will win the flag this year. The trade of Campbell for Don-lin was a great piece of work, and Campbell is one of my friends."

Wagner has been working hard dur-ing the past five or six weeks and is now the picture of health. His eyes are bright, his step is springy and there is nothing about him to indicate that he is a day older than he was ten years ago—that is, nothing but his hair, which has turned gray around the temples.

us has daily been doing his two and three miles on the roads.

Wagner is not a firm believer in long training trips. His idea is that the athlete who takes care of himself in winter doesn't require much work to condition himself in the spring. Said he:

"I believe in taking care of myself all times. I never dissipate; I watch my health carefully, and am always pottering around in the open air. The result is that I am always in pretty fair condition."

"After you finish as a player what do you do?" was asked. "Will you try for a berth as manager?"

"I will not; I wouldn't manage a ball club for a salary of $100,000 a year. I love my peace of mind too well to try that kind of a job, and when I'm through as a player I'm through. No managerial business for me; there's too much trouble connected with it. It has been said that I would like to try my hand at running the Pittsburgh Club. That isn't so; I never wanted to succeed Fred Clarke and never will want to."

Donlin The Whole Show.
Hot Springs, Ark., Mar. 25.—Mike Donlin, the former Pilgrim outfielder, who was traded to the Pirates in ex-change for Vin Campbell, is the whole show in the Pirate camp these days. Not only the players enjoy the cutups of Mike, but the natives as well. Van-deville stunts are not the only things that Mike is doing, however, for his heavy hitting is delighting Manager Fred Clarke. In nearly every game, Donlin wallops the pill for three or four hits and fields his position in the best of style. Clarke believes with Donlin in the outfield the Pirates will have the best set of gardeners in either league this season.

Munroe, La., Mar. 25.—"Don't bat with your forearms." This is the in-struction that Hughey Jennings, the peppy manager of the Detroit Tig-ers has given to his recruits. Hughey believes that the player who uses his shoulders and body develops into the best batsman. Mike Donlin, the form-er New York and Boston star now with the Pittsburgh Pirates, is one of the few men who has obtained suc-cess, using a short choppy forearm stroke while batting.

UP TO DURNAN FOR A RACE, HAINES SAYS

Boston, March 25.—When the pro-fessional champion sculler of Amer-ica, Eddie Durnan, comes to Boston in quest of match races, he will find that there is $100 posted at the Globe office by the backers of Wil-liam Haines, coach of the Union Boat Club of this city. It was put up last September to bind the proposed race.

Discussing the prospects of a match yesterday, Haines said, "I have been after a race with Durnan, because I understand he claims to be the cham-pion of America, and I feel competent to try for that honor. Last fall I posted my money with the Globe and allowed it to remain all winter in or-der that Durnan would have no fault to find. Now it is up to him to cover the sum and arrange for a race or to come out squarely and say that he does not intend to meet me."

"I want to meet Durnan and there will be no three-cornered race, or four-cornered race while rowing for the championship if I have anything to say about the arrangements."

"I see that Wray is trying to get a match with Durnan or myself, and all I have to say is that I want to meet Durnan, and if I beat him there will be plenty of time to discuss other races. I need not point out to Wray that the custom of first come, first served, has always been the policy of matchmaking. After being in this country 15 years he has had ample time to challenge anyone on a match with Durnan without waiting for me to challenge the Canadian."

"As the question has been raised that Durnan is not the real champion of America, and that the honor real-ly belongs to George Towns, of Aus-tralia, I cannot see what right he has to hold out for a race in Canadian waters when there is a probability

BY TOM S. ANDREWS.

Best known of all referees is Eugene Corri, the great English arbitrator of boxing, whose name is as familiar to followers of the game on this side of the Atlantic as it is across the water. Corri is the last word in the sport in England and referees all the bouts at the National Sporting Club.

"I have had what you Americans call 'hot times' in the ring frequently," said Corri to me one afternoon, when discussing ring affairs in general and the refereeing angle in particular.

"Perhaps the most unpleasant mo-ment and the one requiring the quick-est action of mind was when two young fellows were fighting at the old club in London some years ago. There was a great deal of betting on the outcome."

"I don't remember the names of the boxers, but they were called Jack and Bill. They had been fighting like two wildcats for 12 rounds and it was a toss-up as to which had the better of it."

"First one would score a knockdown of a big purse being offered to have the event rowed right here in Boston on the Charles River. At all events, I want to race and will not quibble about trifles in bringing it about."

GOLF CHAMPION.

Pinehurst, N. C., Mar. 25.—First in a field of fifty contestants in today's qualification round in the women's event of the annual United North and South Amateur Golf championship was Miss Dorothy Campbell of Hamilton, Ont., Canadian and British cham-pion, and former American champion.

Her card of ninety-five was four strokes less than the field, a triple tie resulting for second position at 99 between Miss Mary Fowles of Ok-mont, Miss Myra B. Holmer of Mid-lothian and Miss Kate Van Ostrand of Jefferson County Club, Watertown, N. Y. Others who made the cham-pion-ship division were Mrs. J. Raymond Price, Mrs. I. H. Horner, Mrs. W. C. Fowles, Jr., and Miss Sarah Fowles of the Okmont Club, and Mrs. Ida Lin-ton of Canada.

and then the other. The crowd was wild with excitement and the betting continued furious. In the thirteenth, Jack began to pile up points and had away the best of it. I did not see how the fight could go another round. "The climax came in the fourteenth. They rushed and let go rights at the same time. Both landed on the point of the jaw and both went to the floor for the count of 10."

"The excitement was of the wildest, the crowd demanding a draw, but when the men were brought to their senses, I gave the decision to the one who was leading on points at the time of the double knockout."

"When Langford and McVey fought in Paris last April there was a cry from some of the Frenchmen because I called it a draw and I supposed it was because I had not given the fight to Langford, but afterward learned that the Frenchmen were mad be-cause I did not declare McVey a win-ner, as he was their favorite. The Englishmen and Americans thought Langford was the winner. Can you beat that?"

"I don't think I can beat that?"

JOHNSON IS WILLING TO MEET ELDER

Cincinnati, March 25.—Champion Jack Johnson, who opened a week's theatrical engagement here tonight, said after the performance that he would meet "Soldier" Willis Elder, motion picture cowboy, who threw his hat into the ring here yesterday, any time after six weeks for a side bet of $25,000 and a $40,000 purse at the ringside.

Elder is backed by G. M. Anderson, Chicago motion picture man, who ex-pects to make $1,000,000 out of it if Elder wins.
