BOB FITZ IS STILL A GAME ONE

New York, Dec. 30.—That Bob Fitzsimmons, once heavyweight champion of the world, cannot re-enter the prize ring in New York was the decision reached today by the New York State Athletic Commission. Fitzsimmons said he was "technically" a champion, but the commission held that he no longer possessed the stamina to stand a fast bout. From a local ring Fitzsimmons recently challenged a member of the "white hope" class to engage him in a ten round bout.

THE LAST SCENE IN THE WELLS-CARPENTIER FIGHT

Photographs of the Georges Carpentier-Bombardier Wells bout at the National Sporting Club, London, on December 8, have arrived in America, and they show clearly how decisively the British heavyweight was defeated by his younger and smaller French opponent. Many admirers of Wells are still unable to figure out how their idol succumbed so quickly to the speed and hitting powers of Carpentier, who, with one bound has stepped to the front rank among the so-called "white hopes" of the world. But England's boxing critics who sat at the National Sporting Club ringside have no excuses to offer for Wells, the unanimous opinion being that Carpentier is easily the Briton's master with the gloves, and that his recent victory, scored within twenty-three seconds, proves that his four round win over Wells a few months ago at Ghent was not a fluke.

SPORTOGRAPHY "GRAVY"

During the month now drawing to a close the curtain has been rung down on the Canadian Rugby season, and hockey now holds first place on the sporting pages of Dominion newspapers. Hockey is now Canada's most popular winter sport, both for amateur and professional players. In the east, it is controlled by the National Hockey Association, a six-team league which has just inaugurated its season, which will continue to March 4th. The Pacific Coast Hockey Association occupies a similar position in the west. The Pacific clubs started their season earlier this month, and the opening game, between Vancouver and New Westminster, was marked by a thrilling and sensational exhibition of skill, which was witnessed by more than 5,000 enthusiastic fans. There are numerous city and provincial leagues of amateur players in that province. The popularity of the amateur sport may be judged from the fact that the O. H. A. began the present season with a balance of over $100 in the bank. A Dominion Hockey Association is likely in the near future. In the United States the Canadian winter game increases in popularity with each passing year. New York is hockey mad, and has several clubs in the American Amateur League, as well as a public schools league. Boston, Cleveland and many other cities also have leagues, and the international matches between professional and college teams from both sides of the border always attract big crowds. Most of the eastern colleges have hockey teams, although Princeton leads in this sport. Next week Princeton will line up against the winner of the Canadian college series for the Fellers' Cup. Percy Lesueur, poet of the Ottawa N. H. A. club, predicts that the United States will soon be ripe for a professional hockey league, and that it will become as popular in winter as baseball is in summer. An international league, with both United States and Canada represented, is a possibility of the near future. In the opinion of the Ottawa manager, New York, Boston, Buffalo, Detroit, Cleveland and Syracuse are among the cities where Lesueur believes professional hockey would be popular and profitable. Hockey is a clean, exciting sport, and if such a league should be formed, with sufficient capital to carry it through the critical early period, it would doubtless be highly successful in the course of a few years.

Hockey Season is Now on in Canada and States.

DEFENDING YACHT DEMOLISHED.

New York, Dec. 30.—The racing sloop Reliance, which successfully defended the America's cup against Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock III, is being demolished after resting for ten years in a City Island dock cradle. She was recently sold as junk. The Reliance was designed and built by the Herreshoffs, of Bristol, L. I.

ATHLETIC TRAINERS TO ORGANIZE

New York, Dec. 30.—For the purpose of protecting its members from the "assaults of theorists and for the further protection of amateurism," a score or more of professional athletic trainers will meet here this afternoon to form an organization to be known as the Professional Trainers' Association of America.

Among the trainers invited to attend are George W. Orion, of Pennsylvania, formerly of Toronto; Johnny Mack, of Yale; Ken Fitzpatrick, of Princeton; "Pooch" Donovan, of Harvard; Jack Mookley, of Cornell; Benjie Wefers, of Columbia; Harry Hillman, of Dartmouth; Tom Keene, of Syracuse; Steve Farrell, of Michigan, and Tom Burke, of Lehigh.

MILLIONAIRE PITCHER.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—Fowler McCormick, grandson of John D. Rockefeller, and son of Harold F. McCormick of this city, has once more been placed under the watchful care of Mordecai Brown, former star twirler of the Chicago Cubs, with the hope of absorbing enough of the once great pitcher's knowledge of the boxman science to secure him a place on the Princeton baseball team.

The lad, who has been attending school at Groton, Mass., expects to enter Old Nassau College in the near future.

MACCK DECLARES HIS TEAM WILL CAPTURE FLAG

Cornelius McGillicuddy, better known, perhaps, as Connie Mack, manager and part owner of the Philadelphia Athletics, champion baseball team of the world, has become so addicted to the pennant winning habit he has promised the fans in Quaker town that another victory will perch upon his banner when next season's battles shall have become history.

This statement of the silent one can only be wondered at from the standpoint that Connie considered it necessary to make the announcement.

Mack, however, does not belittle the other teams in the American League, but firmly believes that his big stable will, without difficulty, finish ahead of Washington, Cleveland and the Boston Red Sox, these three being chosen to follow his aggregation under the wire in the order named.

McGraw's conqueror hands it to Frank Chance, manager of the Yankees, that the latter has got together a fine system of defence and aggressiveness, and makes the statement that if the twirlers do their duty, the ex-Hilltoppers should lead the second division.

The White Sox are chosen to follow with the Detroit and Browns bringing up in the rear.

THIS DATE IN RING ANNALS

1838—Terry McGovern stopped Rice in fourteen rounds at Brooklyn. "Terrible Terry" was then just starting as a boxer, and in Rice he took on one of the best men of his weight then in the ring. Terry's initial professional bout was with Harry Forbes, and he knocked him out in the fifteenth chapter. A little later he won the bantam championship of America, and defeated all comers. It was while he was the bantam title holder that Terry offered to take on Pedlar Palmer, the British feather weight champion, who had come over to America to fight George Dixon. It took about two minutes for McGovern to put away the great little Englishman. Then Terry took away the world's feather weight title from Dixon in eight terrific rounds, and held it until he met his master in Young Corbett.

FARMERS NEEDN'T GET PANNIKY

"The shippers at their meeting yesterday were unanimous in their condemnation of the articles in the Telegraph as detrimental to the province's best interests and wholly untrue. Prominent Liberals among those present were among the most outspoken in the general condemnation of the Telegraph's articles which are being copied in Upper Canadian papers and creating a false impression as to conditions existing in this province.

"For instance, there was a representative of the Upper Canadian buyers at the conference in Woodstock yesterday," continued Mr. Daggett. "He came with an entirely erroneous idea of the situation, as a result of the untruthful articles which the Telegraph and some other papers, whose chief object seems to be to hamper the price of New Brunswick potatoes, had published. The Canadian market took all our crop we had to offer last year, when we had more to offer than we have now. When the Ontario representative at yesterday's conference was given a correct estimate of the quantity of potatoes not that it was not too much for the Canadian market to handle from here.

"I see Mr. Carvell is quoted today in the Telegraph as saying that there is no powdery scab in the potatoes in New Brunswick, but I believe the people will be inclined to take the evidence of the Dominion and United States experts on that question rather than what Mr. Carvell has to say. We don't deny that there is powdery scab in certain spots, but in the great potato producing centres it fortunately is not very evident. We are not denying what we know to be truth, but instead are taking drastic means to eradicate the trouble.

"As to the quantity of potatoes still held by the farmer, I see Mr. Carvell places the amount at one million barrels, and at yesterday's conference they said that one and one half million bushels (600,000 barrels) was the outside estimate of the amount. Regarding Mr. Carvell's reciprocity talk, all I can say is that so far as I know there was nothing in the reciprocity agreement which would have prevented the placing of an embargo on Canadian potatoes entering the United States. Canada had adopted reciprocity we would probably have found the embargo placed on our potatoes some months ago, instead of a few days ago."

To Make It Rhyme.

Robert W. Chambers, the novelist, was talking about a New York poet. "His poetry is always awkward," Mr. Chambers said. "He drags in words that you can see are there solely for the sake of the rhyme. In fact, he reminds me of a Lake Superior epitaph.

"In a little churchyard overlooking Lake Superior, a row, mossy stone bears this inscription:

PLAN WORLD'S SERIES FOR BIG EXPOSITION

New York, Dec. 30.—James E. Sullivan, who has charge of the sporting features of the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco in 1915, is laying plans for a baseball series between the world's contenders of that year.

Sullivan said today that he intends to take up the matter with President John K. Tener of the National League and President Ban Johnson of the American League soon after New Year's.

It is Sullivan's idea to have a so-called supplementary world's series for a valuable trophy to be called the Panama-Pacific cup. The rival pennant winners to play seven games on the exposition grounds immediately after the regular world's series has been decided.

The rival major league champions will be invited to go to the Coast at the expense of the exposition promoters, and the players will receive the entire gate receipts.

JOHNSON RESTS SALARY ARM IN WINTER

Advices from Los Angeles here it there will be work galore for "Old Doc" Buckner at Paso Robles next spring. In addition to giving "Big Ed" Walsh another extraordinary season the White Sox muscle manipulator may find another patient in camp in the person of Albert "Red" Russell, the southpaw extraordinary who uncovered last season by Comiskey's right-hand man.

"If Russell pitches for the White Sox the way he is twirling for the San Diego team this winter, Callahan's men will be in imminent peril of winning the pennant," reads the despatch from the land of sunshine. "The Texan is working in extraordinary form and players coming back from San Diego credit him with having fanned forty-four batters in the last four contests—seven per game, or more than one an inning. Comiskey should nix himself for the cable telling advising Russell not to extend himself except in the pinch. Otherwise the Rebel is liable to turn up next spring with no more arm than a jack rabbit."

So much for Russell's method of killing the winter of discontent. On the other hand, we cite the case of Walter Johnson, who is variously known as the Washington pitching staff, the speed king, the "Danish duster" and the greatest living pitcher. While the sensation of a single campaign is almost daily exercising his salary arm, during the off-season, when most big league players are leading the simple life, Johnson remains isolated from the affairs of the national game on his broad acres near Coffeyville, Kan. We received a Christmas greeting from Walter today, and here's the very note:

"Ask any farmer how he puts in all his time on the farm and he will tell you he is so busy that the day is gone before he knows it. I have twelve head of milk cows, all Holsteins, and some of the best money can buy. They give me much milk that it takes a wagon to haul it from the barn. It's a good day's work for one man to merely take care of the cows. In addition there's the pigs, horses and mules to be looked after. Then, too, I have some chickens, and some good ones—they should be good, for they cost enough, and I am sending some of them to the shows around the country. Three were entered in the show at Washington."

ST. MONICA SOCIETY BRIDGE AND DANCE

Among the social activities last evening marking the passing of the Christmas season an interesting function was held in the Rialto Assembly rooms under the auspices of St. Monica's Society when a very successful bridge and dance was conducted.

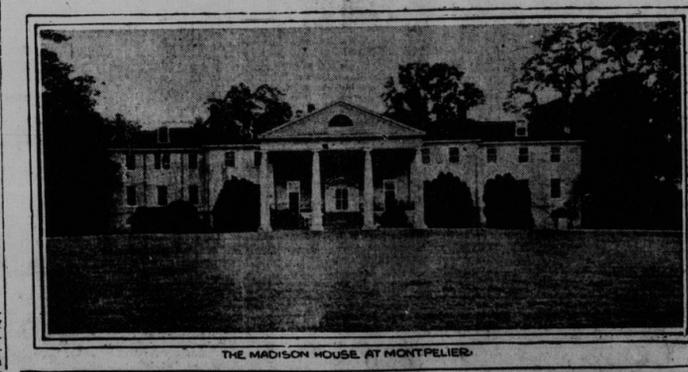

With tasteful decorations the rooms presented a nice appearance, and the large number in attendance fully enjoyed the evening's programme. The earlier part of the evening was spent in bridge playing, and after several rounds refreshments were served about eleven o'clock. Those present then gathered in the ball room, and a nicely arranged programme of dances was carried out. An orchestra furnished music during the evening.

THE MADISON HOUSE AT MONTPELLIER.

WILLIAM H. DU PONT DRIVING FOUL AT THE MONTPELLIER HOUSE SHOW

The annual Montpelier horse show was recently held at the historic James Madison estate, now the home of William Du Pont, in Orange county, Va. Exhibitors, judges and spectators were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Du Pont at a luncheon served in the great hall of the stately old Colonial mansion where President Madison, "the father of the constitution," and his Quaker spouse, "Dolly" Madison, lived together almost half a century. Before judging the visitors strolled about the grounds, admired the noble trees and the splendid old formal garden designed by the celebrated French landscape architect L'Enfant, who drew the original plan for the city of Washington; inspected the ancient bowling alley where Madison and Jefferson rolled at tennis, and feasting their eyes on the graceful, simple lines of the beautiful old summer house, which is a reproduction of the Temple of Love at Versailles. Montpelier is one of the most imposing and interesting of all the historic homes of the early Presidents in Northern Virginia, and to see it on such an occasion as the annual horse show is to see it at its best.
