Getting Upper Hand
Against Causes
Of Blindness

Medicine, Legislation and Press Combine to Prevent
Blindness in Children.

New York, May 29.—The combined forces of medicine, legislation, the press, and other educational agencies are at last getting the upper hand in the age-long fight against the principal causes of blindness in children. The American League for the Prevention of Blindness, made public today at the annual meeting of the National Association for the Prevention of Blindness, that it has secured the passage of a bill in the United States Congress which will place the Federal Government in a position to make a national survey of the causes of blindness in children.

But this information is counteracted by the statement in the report that there is no statement in the wave of blindness resulting from word alcohol poisoning which started soon after the enactment of the Volstead law. The report says that new legislation has been passed in several states, including Illinois, Iowa, New Mexico, Missouri, Oklahoma, and Texas.

Disseminating optimistic information more commonly known as "bullseye eyes" or "O.N." among doctors, Edward M. Van Cleave, managing director of the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, said today.

"When we turn to a study of the situation as respects this disease, when doctors at birth the vision of thousands of children, and new legislation to prevent the blindness of a constant educational propaganda on the subject. For more than 10 years public attention has been drawn to this cause of needless blindness. Statistics gathered during the last year show a smaller percentage of these cases among newly admitted pupils in special schools for the blind through out America than in any previous year."

Whereas two years ago 23.3 per cent of new admissions to these special schools for the blind were cases of pupils blind from "O.N.," the 1922 report of the committee shows that in the last year this percentage dropped to 15.3 per cent, a reduction of almost 50 per cent.

Under the head of "Methanol" the new technical name for wood alcohol, the report says: "Day by day the toll of good alcohol poisoning is taken. The wave seems to recede, only to gain new impetus. Warships sent broadcast over the United States have undoubtedly prevented many from experiencing the tragedy of blindness, but there are still those who succumb to the restraints either through ignorance or through temptation. The change of name to methanol has eradicated the suggestion of a beverage and a new method of preventing its use as such has lately been offered, as coloring it with methyl violet that there can be no possibility of mistaking it for the grain product, an excellent suggestion contributed by Dr. S. Lewis Hagerman. It is not uncommon for the committee to receive no more than four or five cases a day of

Wolves Lost To
The Commercials

Game in City League Went
Seven Innings on East End
Grounds—Score 10 to 2.

The Commercials increased their lead in the City League when they defeated the Wolves last evening on the East End grounds to the tune of 10 to 2. Davis did the twirling for the losers and was found for fourteen sacrifices, while Hannah and Kerr held their team mates to four scattered hits.

Cliff Seely played in the outfield for the Commercials and did some excellent stick work. MacGowan had four hits out of five trips to the plate. Knodell seemed unable to hold down the hot corner and registered three misplays, which were responsible for the Wolves' ten tallies.

Last night's game was much more snappy than the previous ones played in this league and with certain conditions the different teams will be able to furnish gillie-gillie ball.

The Wolves and St. George's met tonight on the East End diamond.
