

ADVERTISING ST. JOHN AS HOME OF INDUSTRIES

Telegraph's Industrial and Commercial New Year Review

Valuable Publication Along Lines Advocated at Board of Trade Meeting Will Be Issued Early in the New Year—Some Facts in Connection With It.

The Telegraph, in reporting the Board of Trade meeting held last Wednesday night for the purpose of urging upon the people of St. John the immediate necessity of doing something in the interest of its industries, included the remarks of Mr. Fisher relative to the issuing of a book in that direction.

The best book that could possibly be issued in the way of boosting St. John is now in course of preparation by the Telegraph, and it is a pleasure to state, being very substantially supported by the great majority of the most prominent business men, whose liberal patronage goes far toward establishing the fact that no medium whereby the trade and commerce of a city could be shown, equaled that of a daily newspaper with a large and constantly increasing circulation could possibly be found.

To prove this assertion the Telegraph will soon publish the names of the progressive business men of the city who are heartily co-operating with it that the coming Telegraph Industrial and Commercial New Year Review will prove the great success predicted for it in business circles.

The Telegraph is anxious that the people of St. John, and vicinity, should fully understand just what its New Year Review will present. In addition to a well written and highly interesting history of the city of St. John, fittingly illustrated, there will be new and well executed views of the city from its most picturesque points. All this will be followed by a carefully compiled business review, from the hands of a leading member of the board of trade, which will be appropriately set off by views of St. John's best known industries and business houses.

It is felt that, in doing its share toward calling attention to the city of St. John as one well worthy of any industry's location, it should not be wholly necessary to make much of a stir in the direction of obtaining patronage, but rather extend an invitation to all public-spirited citizens to take up the cause of the city of St. John which is progressively and proudly advancing and not going backward.

The Telegraph, in inviting support of the project in view, has so far heard favorably from representatives of merchants and manufacturers whose houses and industries could, today, survive without a great deal of advertising, but who have proclaimed themselves public-spirited enough to aid in helping St. John more prominently to the front. To find the real "live ones," look out for the coming Telegraph Industrial and Commercial New Year Review.

Quebec Conservatives Without a Leader
J. Flynn Resigned the Local Leadership Yesterday, and No One Was Elected in His Place at Convention.

real, Dec. 12—(Special)—Hon. E. J. Flynn, announced his resignation of the local leadership today at the convention of Quebec Conservatives. That naturally gave rise to the question of a leader to succeed him and for some time there was grave evidence of conflicting opinion. Some of the younger members spoke strongly in favor of the appointment of a successor and as well of some one to lead the Quebec members in the federal house.

BURST INTO SONG

North End Prisoner Gets His Revenge in Poetry.

Poor Andy! How depressing it is to consider that one so gifted should be so misunderstood and even maligned. Wednesday he was arrested and hauled to the North End lockup on the charge of intoxication. For a few hours his spirit drooped. He had been humiliated before the public. He realized the bitter, bitter truth. What could he do to secure fitting retaliation?

His revenge must not savor of crudeness. Indeed he was quite incapable of such crudeness. He would wound the finer feelings of his captors. He would mutilate their delicate sensibilities. He would make them conscious of the agonizing fact that a man in whose bones burned the divine fire of poetry had been ruthlessly imprisoned. So he seized a pencil stub and wrote the following:

My name is Andy Irvine,
I'm a native of St. John,
Police men always take good care
I'm never out too long.

One of the other night I met a friend
Who kindly stood a treat,
The streets being wet and icy
And I couldn't keep my feet.

So Merrick saw me slip and fall
He quickly turned about,
Saying "I've got to thank again
And better in than out."

It had been generally supposed that the body would be brought over the Boston & Maine railroad to the station here last night, and several hundred persons had gathered at that point. To avoid the crowd the Rogers family appeared at the railroad officials to have the train stopped at Hoosick.

THE STALLION WATERCRESS WHICH SOLD FOR $71,000

WATERCRESS

New York, Dec. 9—James B. Haggin became the absolute and sole owner of the imported thoroughbred stallion, Watercress, Thursday, when, with a bid of $71,000, he stopped all further competition for the sire. The last bid on Watercress was up to the time Mr. Haggin offered $71,000, which was made by Harry K. Vincent, who was acting for Harry Payne Whitney.

The public had been cautioned not to applaud, else there would have been a demonstration at the point. But the limit was not yet reached. Mr. Vincent stood at the end of the platform, not fifteen feet away from where Mr. Haggin was seated. Across the ring sat Harry Payne Whitney, occasionally chatting with his neighbors, E. W. Jewett and E. C. Cowdin. By an occasional nod to Mr. Vincent the owner of Hamburg signalled him to go on with the struggle.

In four more bids Mr. Vincent reached $70,000. Evidently the principal would go no further, and with a bid of $71,000 the ivory hammer descended to Mr. Haggin's bid, and Mr. Easton took off his hat to the veteran breeder.

Watercress thus exceeded by $1,000 the price paid by Whitney for Hamburg when he purchased that horse at the sale of horses owned by his late father.

Standing beside her during the sentence was Jerry Ross, another Italian, convicted of an attack on the man who tried to win her from her husband. Justice Garrison, of the Supreme court, passed his double sentence in English, which neither of the prisoners understood. It was translated to them. The young woman walked calmly from the room when the interpreter had finished, but the man began to cry.

Local Fruit Growing
Government Experimental Farm Representative Here Speaks of Progress.

W. T. Macoun, head of the horticultural department of the Government Experimental Farm, Ottawa, arrived in the city yesterday and registered at the Royal. Mr. Macoun will leave today for Annapolis (N. S.) to attend meetings of the Nova Scotia Fruit Growers' Association to be held today and tomorrow. He will also attend the meetings of the P. E. Island Fruit Growers' Association at Charlottetown on the 19th and 20th.

Mr. Macoun says that fruit growing in the maritime provinces is progressing at a rapid rate, and that the fruit growers' associations are of the greatest benefit. While some time ago the farmers merely made fruit growing a small part of the farm work, now it is being made a specialty. "Of course," said Mr. Macoun, "all the best fruit is shipped to the other side."
