Ontario's Good Roads

Arthur J. Eddy has returned Chicago, after having completed what is probably the longest automobile trip ever made in America. For sixty days he has been travelthroughout the East, and in that time he has covered more than miles. Mrs. Eddy accom-2,600 panied him on more than two-thirds of the journey, including the run from the East to Flint, Mich., way of the Canadian route. Mr Eddy said:

"The Canadian roads are far and away the best that we encountered. They are long stretches of 50 aad 100 miles of hard macadam roadbeds, kept in admirable condition. They are even better than our Chicago boulevards, and kept better. The Michigan roads are a disgrace to the State, so are those of Ohio. In the Eastern States the roads are good in patches.

"For the information of automo bilists contemplating a trip by way of Canada I would say that the Canadian Customs authorities demand a deposit of 30 per cent. duty upon entering the country, for which they give a receipt, exchangeable at the Customs post where you leave country for an identification slip, which can be cashed at the nearest port of entry for the amount of your deposit. It is always best to class your machine as second-hand; the duty is, of course, much less."

Poor Old Chap.

A Warkworth paper tells of a bachelor who bought two sheets of sticky fly-paper and took them to his room to catch the pesky insects that insisted on preventing his morning snooze. Carefully placing them on two chairs by his bed, he went out for a smoke, but when he returned he had forgotten about the fly-trap and sat down. With the patience of Job the trousers were pulled off to facilitate the removal of the paper. amputation that he sat down on the other chair. Out of respect for the poor bachelor a veil is drawn over the second scene.

PRETTY WALL POCKETS

They Do Nicely For Presents, or You Can Use Them Yourself. Of course we all know the wall pocket something less well known is the vide poche, manufactured out of a champagne ottle casing of the ordinary straw kind. bottle casing of the ordinary straw kind. The straw case is not tampered with as regards shape. It remains precisely as it is, but it is gilded with metallic paint and trimmed with diagonal bands of ribbon, tied into a bow at the top right or left hand corner and the opposite lower corner. The ribbon is further continued as a suspender. A stiff lining of canvas, covered with green, gold or other colored Japanese silk, should be inserted in the vide poche, the silk being stitched to the straw to keep it in place. Without the straw to keep it in place. Without the stiff lining the straw would, of course, fall flat and limp. A wall pocket of this description looks very pretty as a holder for flowers, an ordinary bottle being in-serted and filled with water should noth-

Another novel vide poche is the "Pierrot" (No. 2). It resembles a Pierrot's cap and can be made of white cloth or, if something smarter is preferred, white silk or satin. It is trimmed with white pompoms and suspended by white rib-bons. This wall pocket is easily made by twisting the cloth or whatever material is selected into sugar loaf form, previously rolling over the top edge. The join should be neatly stitched and occur at the back of the wall pocket, which, like the straw model, should have a stiffened lining to keep it in shape, though ing lighter for the purpose be at hand. The notion is sketched in No. 1 wall

A TRIO OF DESIGNS. this is not absolutely necessary if cloth be used, as the material is sufficiently firm in itself. A paper lining, however, would be advisable. The stiffish white paper known as "jam paper" answers admirably. The pompoms should be sewed round the front of the rolled over edge and here and there on the cap it-self, a bunch of pompoms finishing off the tip of the cap.

A different variety of wall pocket is suggested in No. 3 model illustrated, a larger type than the pockets alluded to. Here we have a flat vide poche, which has for its background a piece of stiff cardboard with a curved top piece. This cardboard must be covered with art serge on brocade and the top part be strapped across with narrow ribbon, etitched down wherever it cross upper part thus forms a letter rack, the being tucked into the ribbons. A pocket is then added, and this can be stitched down to the background in the center and thus divide itself into two pockets. Value of Vegetable Foods. Our bodies require a certain amount of mineral matter or nourishing salts for health. Chalk, iron, phosphorus, are all needed, and they are found in best form in fresh vegetables and fruits. Lettuce is one of the most important of all, for it aids the cleansing of the blood and refreshes the entire organism Sorrel and spinach are to be highly rec ommended for enriching the blood, espe cially in cases of anæmia. It should be noted that sorrel and spinach ought not to be covered while cooking, as otherwise the poisonous matter in the leaver cannot escape. The value of asparagus as a blood purifier and an agent acting on the kidneys is well known. Beans should be eaten only when young, as when they are old they are difficult to digest. Apples are very rich in iron, as are all fruits and vegetables that have any red coloring matter. Beets when young and tender are excellent.

Woman Most Fascinating at Forty. At is when she has passed the fourth decade that a woman is now said to be most dangerous to the susceptible of the other sex, says an English woman's journal. Her face may have lines that "sweet and twenty" regards with dismay, her figure may be fuller than "sweet seventeen" deems graceful; it may even be that art has to step in where nature fails in the matter of hair and complexion, but it is manner which tells. In carriage, in interests, in thought, the woman of forty at the present day is as young as her daughter less than half her years, but her mind is bet-ter balanced, her judgments are clearer.

For Torpid Circulation.

Drink hot water between meals to wash out the stomach, says The Ledger Monthly. Eat plenty of good, plain, nourishing food, but no pastries, confections or fried, greasy foods. Use a body massage roller morning and night over the entire person, especially over the region of the stomach and liver, after drinking as much hot water as you comfortably can. This will cleanse the internal machinery, which is evidently clogged and torpid, and help to eliminate the waste. Practice regularity in all bodily functions. There is great benefit to be had from regular and systematic exercise and from regular and systematic exercise and in attention to diet.

It blistered the horse, but in a nonth there was no ringbone and no ameness.

A beautiful skin without any blemishes comes directly from good health, and the first step to health and to a beautiful skin is to get and keep the blood pure. The whole blood system is like a gorgeously colored Venice, with red waterways and little boats hurrying to and fro. The latter carry two kinds of messengers, market boys and scavengers. The pain and localized conditions are mere results of constitutional conditions. Poisoned blood sends its evil influence to various parts of the body, and to cure permanently you must treat it constitutionally. Ferro-zone also fortifies the system against the weakening effects o and cures, not simply relieves as most medicines do. Sold by McCall & Co.
