PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY.

Chicago, March 26 .- Mr. Franklin H. Wentworth, Boston, secretary of the National Fire Protect on Association, addressed the Fire Insurance Club Chicago, on "Personal Responsibility." He showed the importance of bringing home to the public his factor in the fire waste, giving the statistics ilustrative of the fact that the large majority of the fres are due to carelessness and could easily be

He is urging the enactment of a law to enforce personal responsibility upon property owners by making them liable for the damage caused by fires due to carelessness or negligence.

A bill enforcing this is to be introduced in the llinois Legislature by State Fire Marshal Bennett, and similar measures have been introduced in nearly thirty Legislatures. The campaign has been endorsed by the Fire Marshals Convention of North America, the National Convention or insurance Com ers and similar organizations

Mr. Wentworth gave statistics and made comparions with foreign regulations to show the need for form and the benefit which would follow the en-

In the case of the confectionery store, it was shown that the fire probably originated in a shed at the back of the store, and not in the store proper, and that the quest of a cat by a messenger boy who lighted a match for the search was in all likelihood responsible for the fire.

The principal witness in the first-named case was Joseph Hector Beausolei), a printer, who was working wertime until 8 p.m. on the evening preceding the fire, which was discovered at 6 o'clock in the morning. He said that he had not been smoking during the evening, and was not smoking when he went out. Nobody had entered the premises while he was working, and he had locked the door after him. James Doran, the manager of the company, testified that the laant had been insured in three companies, that a claim for something over $4,000 divided between the three had been entered, and that the adjusters had had no difficulty in effecting a settlement for $3,368.

Mr. Scott, in whose store the fire was discovered a few minutes after midnight, on March 20, said that he had passed the evening with a friend, and at one time they smelled smoke, but a careful examination of e had passed the evening with a friend, and at one ime they smelled smoke, but a careful examination of

STERLING TO POLICYHOLDERS

Effect of War WIII be Less Than Anticipated, Say Provident Directors.

The visiting governors to the Protestant Hospital It might be said of the Provident Association of The visiting governors to the Protestant Hospital Condon that to some extent its progress and development are Messrs. R. B. Angus, Chas. Cassils. E. Holder, of Manchester. The house-purchase system of which it is the leading exponent, has attained such a widespread popularity, and its visible advantages— "our own house" speaks for itself-advertise them selves to the public so continuously that it is quite safe to predict that in any year the record of growth will be a remarkable one, even when conditions are not favourable.

The report for 1914 gives convincing evidence or this point, for over £300,000 was added to the funds of the association, and the directors, after observing that it is very gratifying to them to be able to annonce such satisfactory results in view of the prevailing conditions due to the outbreak of war, go on to say that the experience of the last five months lends strong support to the belief that the adverse effect of war onditions will prove to be far less disturbing than could have been reasonably anticipated before the

The invested funds of the association, which amounted at the close of 1904 to £2,025,883, and have increased during the last ten years to more than three times that amount, stood on December 31 last at £6,-198,980. The advances completed in the year under notice amounted to £362,739, again showing a reduc tion, mainly owing to the depreciation in house property which has taken place in the last five years; but the amount is still sufficiently large to indicate the lish of Sault an Recollet, each measuring 25x93 feet and the valuable help given by the association in enabling persons desirous of acquiring shop and house 418, 455 to 483; lots Nos, 483-133 and 134; and lot important to note that the lower prices now ruling give would-be owners unique opportunities of acquiring houses on favorable terms, so that it may be taken for granted that during the present period of depression the assistance of the Provident in this direction will be more in demand than ever.

The number of borrowers who were accommodated by the Association in 1914 was 1,166, and the total amount of all advances on house property granted to policyholders and certificate holders up to December 31 last was £7,987,442. It is further stated that by the addition of transactions carried through since the and of the year and before the date of the report the total of such advances now exceeds the sum of eight millions sterling. years, the Association enters upon the year 1915 with more ample resources than at any previous period, the reserve for advances for investment in hous they and current income) being no less than £1.383,288.

The care taken by the Association in valuing proconsists which are intended to be acquired has resulted.

The actual saving so effected by borrowers during the last seven years, it is stated, amounts to over £70,000.

The Provident Association transacts life assurance rdinary and industrial, and the fact that the funds of these departments already stand at £302,266 and 58) tion of its activities and aims.

ONTARIO'S HYDRO-ELECTRIC NOW SERVES SIXTY-NINE MUNICIPALITIES.

Toronto, Ont., March 26 .- The Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, in its seventh annual report, which Sir Adam. Beck has just tabled in the Legislature, indicates that sixty-nine municipalities are new using power from this source.

The total revenue of the system for the year 1914 is placed at $3,343,936, and the total expenditure of $2,674,703.

The sixty-nine municipalities have invested in distributing plants $15,249,203, carrying annual fixed charges for interest and sinking fund of $661,349.

The total plant value of the Hydro-Electric is placed at $12,901,125, with net debenture balance, cash and other assets sufficient to bring the total up to $15,-249,203. The estimated saving to the users of hydro light
