

Say "Yes"

To This Offer, and See the Good You Will Get.

Write us if you are ready to try Likozone. Let us buy the first bottle for you. Let the product itself prove the good it can do.

You who are waiting don't know what you miss. There are plenty to tell you if you would ask; for millions have already used it. Some use it to get well; some to keep well; some to cure germ diseases; some as a tonic. You will use it as they do, when you learn what the product does. And you will then regret that you delayed so long.

What Likozone Is.

The virtues of Likozone are derived solely from gases. The formula is sent to each user. The process of making requires large apparatus, and from 8 to 14 days' time. It is directed by chemists of the highest class. The object is to so fix and combine the gases as to carry into the system a powerful tonic-germicide.

Contact with Likozone kills any form of disease germ, because germs are of vegetable origin. Yet to the body, Likozone is not only harmless, but helpful in the extreme. That is its main distinction. Common germicides are poison when taken internally. That is why medicine has been so helpless in a germ disease. Likozone is exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying; yet no disease germ can exist in it.

We purchased the American rights to Likozone after thousands of tests had been made with it. Its power had been proved, again and again, in the most difficult germ diseases. Then we offered to supply the first bottle free in every disease that required it. And over one million dollars have been spent to announce and fulfill this offer.

The result is that 11,000,000 bottles have been used, mostly in the past two years. To-day there are countless cured ones, scattered everywhere, to tell what Likozone has done.

But so many others need it that this offer is published still. In late years, science has traced scores of diseases to germ attacks. Old remedies do not apply to them. We wish to show those sick ones—at our cost—what Likozone can do.

Where It Applies.

These are the diseases in which Likozone has been most employed. In these it has earned its widest reputation. In all of these troubles we supply the first bottle free. And in all—no matter how difficult—we offer each user a two months' further test without the risk of penny.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Veterinary.

CALF SWEATS.

Four-months-old calf sweats every night in a stable that is not too warm.

F. J. G.

Ans.—You need not be alarmed about this. The cause is either want of proper ventilation or too high a temperature. In the daytime, when doors, etc., are open more or less, the sweating apparently does not occur. The sweating can be checked by admitting more fresh air into the stable, or by singing a portion of hair off the calf. The better plan is to provide better ventilation.

LYMPHANGITIS—SELECTING A DAIRY BULL

1. I have a mare subject to lymphangitis in winter. Her hind limbs are swollen all summer; has been so for two or three years. Please suggest the best treatment you know of. She is about twelve years old, bred from English running stock.

2. I would like advice in selecting a good pure-bred Jersey bull.

3. I would also like to know which is best and cheapest to feed to milch cows, ground oats and corn meal, ground oats and cottonseed meal, or a mixture of all three? I feed turnips and ensilage, also some straw.

S. O. G.

Ans.—1. Lymphangitis is caused by good feed with lack of exercise, and is especially liable to occur after a rest of a day or so, and is ushered in by rigors and uneasiness; lameness soon shows itself in the affected limb. It is usually confined to one hind leg, but sometimes both, and rarely one or both fore legs are affected. Prevention consists in giving regular exercise, and when this cannot be done, withholding grain and giving bran instead. Treatment consists in purging with a ball of six to eight drams aloes and two drams ginger, followed up with one dram iodide of potash, three times daily for a week, bathing the leg long and often with warm water, and then applying camphorated liniment. When lameness disappears exercise will dissipate the swelling. Repeated attacks are usually followed by chronic big leg, elephantiasis, with which it looks as though your mare is already affected, and which is usually considered incurable.

2. In selecting a bull of any dairy breed it is wise to see and learn something of the quality and character of his sire and dam and grandams. If his dam has the evidences of a good constitution, and has a creditable record as a milk and butter producer, and has a good-sized and well-balanced udder, with fairly large and well-placed teats, he should be tolerably safe to breed from, provided he has good individuality, by which is meant that he has the indications of a good constitution, which are a bright, full eye, a medium short head, broad between the eyes and narrow between the horns, with a broad muzzle and strong lips and jaws, a strong back, well sprung and deep ribs, with good thickness through the heart, and mellow handling skin and hair. Long, straight quarters are also desirable, and preferred to a drooping rump.

3. Turnips, corn silage and straw constitute a roughage ration relatively much richer in carbohydrates than in protein; cottonseed meal is rich in protein; oats are a fairly well balanced or medium ration, and corn meal is particularly rich in the same elements that are contained in excessive proportion in the rough feeds, differing from these chiefly in being much more concentrated. It will readily appear, therefore, that while variety in feeds is always desirable, it would be unwise to include much corn meal in the ration in this case, especially seeing that milch cows require a ration fairly rich in protein. Without going into mathematical calculations just now, we would suggest a ration built about as follows: Wheat bran, 2 parts (by weight); shorts, 1 part; oats, 3 parts; cottonseed meal, 2 parts; corn meal, 2 parts. Mix and feed in two or three feeds, a daily ration beginning at 1 lbs. per cow and increasing gradually as each cow responds at the pail. Some cows in full milk would use profitably 8 or 10 pounds of this mixture per day. The amounts of these several feeds may be varied according to price, and according to what you happen to have on hand. The best feeders do not feed by rule. They use formulas and suggested rations as guides or hints.
