STRANGE RIVERS
(Tit-Bits, London)

A river of ink is formed in Algeria by the union of two streams, the water of one being impregnated with iron and the other, which drains a great swamp, with gallic acid. This combination of iron and acid forms a pure ink. All large rivers of Africa seek the ocean, that is, farthest away from their source.

In Siberia rivers flow over ice old and solid as a rock. A tributary of the Yenisey which forms the bed of the river a bed of pure ice over nine feet thick.

A freak of nature is the lost river in Kentucky. It is known as the Hidden River, because no one knows where its origin, and it vanishes into a cave leading no one knows where. It flows, without a ripple and is of a pale bluish color.

A singing well is one of the natural curiosities of Texas. In fine weather a sound like that of an Aeolian harp is given out by the well. At times the sound is clear; then it recedes, as if far away; and then it reaches the ear very faintly. These changes take place every few minutes, and with great regularity with an east wind blowing the water in the well gets very low and the mysterious musical sound is faint. A strong west wind causes the sound to increase in volume and clearness. Before a north wind the well plays its wildest pranks. The water rises nearly to the top of the well, which is about sixty feet deep and gives out wild, weird noises.

French Captured Over One Thousand Prisoners.

PARIS, June 28.—Southwest of Soissons French troops in an attack over a front of four and a half miles from the south of Ambieny the east of Mont Gobelet today captured German positions, and at some points advanced their lines to a depth of a mile and a quarter says the French official communication this evening. Prisoners to the number of 1,000 thus far have been counted.

Mr. W. H. Perry of Harborville was in town on Tuesday last, his first trip here for some time. Mr. Perry has decided to leave Harborville for a time at least, and purposes going with his family to Everett Square, Mass. Where he will engage in work with his brother who handles the Grey-Dart cars. They will leave next month.

P. Marion Simms, Ph. D.
Lecture
"The Calf Path"
At Kentville Chautauqua
Which Opens July 31st

The Swarthmore Chautauqua Association asked Dr. Simms to tell the Chautauqua patrons what he was thinking about. He writes from Camp Doniphan, Oklahoma, and this will be the keynote of this big lecture, "The Calf Path," from a big man.

"The war in Europe has demonstrated my contention as to the necessity for ministering to the whole man. Men go into the trenches for a time, and then come out for rest and recuperation. And it has been found necessary to give them baseball, football, entertainments, pictures shows, etc. In our camps today the Y. M. C. A. and other agencies are rendering a service to the whole man. Games, contests, boxing, wrestling, dog dancing, shows, pictures, etc. Vaudeville and musical comedy are found highly helpful. The boys must be made to laugh and forget. And as the burdens of war grow heavier, the people back at home must be made to laugh and forget more and more.

"The Y. M. C. A. used a red triangle as its emblem. The three angles stand for the threefold service it offers—to the physical, social and mental and spiritual. And the Y. M. C. A. is the only institution we have that can serve our army. Our churches are powerless to do it. One of the sad predicaments of today is that in our hour of greatest need the church, splintered almost beyond recognition, is powerless to render any service, except to furnish money to the Y. M. C. A. and other such things. The church in the future has great possibilities and must prepare."

Dr. Simms comes to the Chautauqua like other Chautauqua lecturers from war service. He happens to be from Camp Doniphan, where he has been devoting his time and energy to the Y. M. C. A. or red triangle work.

Dr. Simms is widely known for his quaint humor. He is a living philosopher. Knows men, and has had a wonderful experience. With it all Chautauqua patrons can expect a great lecture in "The Calf Path."

British and Japs Landed at Vladivostok

London, July 7th.—English and Japanese landing parties landed at Vladivostok and patrolled the streets and enforced neutrality in the area where the Consulates are located during the fighting between the Czech-Slovaks and the Bolsheviks, according to a despatch from Vladivostok.

The fighting which occurred on June 30th., resulted in the defeat of the Bolsheviks, the Czech-Slovaks taking over control of the city.

Hurled Germans Back

With the British Army in France, June 28.—(By the Associated press) Fied Marshal Von Hindenburg's troops in an attack over a front of three miles and hurled the startled greycoated soldiers back to an average depth of 1500 yards.

The operation was an unequalled success from its inception and the attacking infantry reached all their objectives in remarkably short time.
