The plank was from the inside sheeting and when the boat was fired the lead had evidently melted and filled the crack. Mr. Jones says that the hoat must have been fired 30 feet from the bow, as back of that there is no fire,

Will be at the Garner House, Chat-ham, Friday, March 8, Ladies and gentlemen, see Prof. Dorenwend's beautiful Wigs, Toupees, Bangs, Wavy and Plain Fronts, Switches in every length and shade, etc. His hair goods styles, when properly adjusted protect and ornament the head, soften and beautify the expression of the face and consequently tone up aged appearance. Prof. Dorenwend has for this season many ne wand pretty designs. He has added a number of New York, London and Paris patterns. Be sure to see themn and not forget day and date. Friday, March 8.

A BAD RUNAWAY.

The horses attached to W. J. Kitchen's hack ran away yesterday after-noon. They came wildly over the Fifth st. bridge, and in front of the Ark collided with a wagon laden with coal. The horses were released and continued up King street. Near Mounteer's shop both horses fell and were captured. Mr. Kitchen's handsome hack suffered seriously. A RATHER SERIOUS MISTAKE.

J. D. Stark, the Baldoon street grocer, has a lead pipe cinch on a real grievance. He has also discovered the cause of the sickness he has been suffering from for the past five weeks. Mr. Stark purchased what he supposed was five pounds of salts from a drug store. At least that is what he paid for but in reality pulverized salt-petre. The grocery man wasn't feeling well and took a large doze of salt petre and he hasn't felt well since. J. H. Paxton had a sick steer and he got some of the supposed salts. The salt-petre was tho much for the animal and it hasn't felt well since. The beast is dead. It was worth $40. R. K. Bell and others took the salt-petre for salts and the whole neighborhood were fast being incapacitated by the salt-petre when Mrs. Jackson discovered she had got pulverized salt-petre instead of salts. Then the cause of all the illness was explained and Mr. Stark was glad that the salt-petre hadn't affected him the same as it had Mr. Paxton's steer. Mr. Paxton, however, is looking around to see who is going to pay him for his ox. J. D. Stark, the Baldoon street grocer, disclosures of a confidential communi-cation to Lord Salisbury.

Both Lord Roseberry and Lord Salis-bury participated in the debate, which was wound up by Lord Wolseley ask-ing the house to reserve judgment regarding the reflections cast upon him, as later he probably would refer again to the allegations.

practical working of the army administration. He suggested a secret parliamentary inquiry into the deficiencies of the War Office

Lord Salisbury said the disciplinists had not realized that the army was under parliament, and that the minister who controlled the army did it as one responsible to parliament, and represented all the anthority with which parliament invested him. The commander-in-chief must be subordinate to the secretary of state. The system had worked well in the past and must be made to work well in and must be made to work well in the future.

IRISH MEMBERS CAUSE A DISGRACEFUL SCENE.

Police Called to Eject Them From the British House of Commons -They Put up a Wild Fight.

Mr. Balfour applied the closure on the education estimates in the House of Commons. The Nationalists shouted "Gag, gag," and refused to leave the house when the division was taken. The shairman twice asked them to retire to the division lobby but they shouted "Certainly not." Mr. Flavin cried "I protest against the way all Irish votes are closured.'

The chairman twice asked them to rehe must report the matter to the speaker. In the meantime the other members had returned from the lobbies amid some uprone, thirty or forty Irishmen remaining in their seats.

The speaker having returned to the house, the chairman reported the matter to him, and the speaker asked if the Irish members still refused to obey the order and there were cries of

Rev. Harvey Kennedy, of Florence, their suspension. This was agreed to without division

The speaker ordered them to withdraw but they refused amid great uproar. The speaker called upon the sergeaptial-arms to remove them. They shouted defiance. The deputy sergeant at arms advanced and asked them to leave, still they refused. At this a number of officers and policemen entered to enforce removal. Eugene Crean, member for Southeast Cork, struggled desperately against removal, and there was quite. a free fight on the floor lasting for five minutes, other Leishmen assisting him. Eventually he was carried out bodily by six policemen amid yells and cheers. The police then returned and carried out each of the remaining recalcitrants in the same manner, although there was no further actual resistance. Six policemen sufficed for each member, with the exception of Mr.

Hember, wan the exception of Mr. Flavin, who is a big man, and required eight. Many, as they were being carried out, waved their hands and shouted "God save Iretand."

Those who were removed included John Cullinan, Patrick White, Patrick

McHugh, Wm Lundon, Wm Abra-ham, Patrick Dugan, Anthony Dona-lon, Thos. McGovern, Jeremiah Jor-dan and Thomas Gilholy.

The trouble arose over Mr. Balfour closuring the whole education estimates without giving an opportunity to discuss the Irish votes. The speaker said: "The house will now resume proceedings in committee, and I hope that honogable members will now leave the house." The Irishmen shouted that they would not leave. The chairman again put the vote on ac count, there being no tellers or noes that the ayes had it. Amid laughter and cheers the house adjourned. Never before had such a scene occurred in the house as accompanied the removal of Mr. Crean. He struggled fiercely with the attendants, who summoned the police, a dozen con-stables entering the house. The National sts jeered at them. Four or five stalward policemen proceeded to seize Mr. Crean, who stuck his legs under the seat and could not be moved for the seat and could not be moved for some minutes.

Meanwhile other policemen were struggling and fighting with other Irishmen, who stood up and obstructed the passage of the police in Mr. Crean's seat. The Irish shouted "Don't kill him," and "Don't kill the man.'

The Nationalists fought a distruggled frantically, but at length a superior force of police succeeded in dragging Mr. Crean out by the legis and arms and carried ham down the floor of the house, the Irishmen all the time standing and shouting wildly, "Shame. Murderers and South African brutality."

The speaker then called upon Mr. Mr. Hugh to retire, but he defiantly refused, his companions shouting approval. A strong body of twenty policemen again stoomed the Irish bench Mr. M. Hogh fought, struggled and impeded them in every way. Angry

London, March 6. - After midnight, shouts rent the air. The benches below the gangway on the opposition side were a mass of mad and struggling humanity. Several policemen were struck with fists. Free fights between the police and the members were fairly general.

As Mr. McHugh was being carried As Mr. McHugh was being carried out—his underclothes showing where the outer garments had been torn away in the struggle—Mr. Flavin shouted from the back benches, "Noneteen policemen to remove one Lrishman," and cries of "Shame," were heard from the opposite benches.

The speaker then ordered the removal of the others. Amid renewed howls of execration the police grappled with them and carried them by arms and legs over the benches and out of the house. While Mr. Donelan was being removed the Nationalists.

The speaker then named sixteen recalcitrants and Mr. Balfour moved their suspension. This was agreed to be the property of the suspension. This was agreed to be the property of the suspension of the same way.

There were still about fifty Irishmen when the committee resumed, but they refused to appoint any tell-ers for a division. The Nationalists jeered Mr. Bulfour and the other ministers as they left the building.

The Conversion of Souls - A Large Congregation Again Fill the Park Street Church

Park street church was filled last night with an interested growd to hear Evangelists Hunter and Crossley, who have already taken a strong hold of the city. The methods of these workers are very different to any evangelists who have visited Chatham. Their meeting are even quieter than the ordinary Sunday services. There is nothing sensational, no excitement.

nothing that any person wishing the good of Chatham could criticise.

Mr. Hunter was in a happy mood last night, and gave one of his interesting bible readings, taking as his text the first fifteen verses of Ephesians, fifth chapter, showing that we should imitate God by being, 1st, Holy, Not that we should always be telling how holy we are, but by living it. People will soon see this without spread ng it out in the front window. Second. Merciful and kind to everything and person. Here Mr. Hunter gave much practical advice on how we should treat the poor. Third. Be loving. Love God. Love ne another. Fourth Let us be forgiving, lik

God.

The Evangelist especially impressed ed the 14th verse, "Awake, thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light." Saints awake! Sanners awake! Parents awake! Pastors awake! S. S. teachawake! Pastors awake! S. S. teachers awake! May God arouse every every Christian in the city. May we awake to the awful condition of the lost around us, May the careless, prayerless, Christless soul be awakened during these services. May the drunkard, the swearer, the aged and young hear the voice of God, saying, awake. Do not leten to Satan as he was sleep on, or to bad men who will says, Sleep on, or to bad men who will

A SONG SERMON on "The crowns of the Bible" was delivered by Rev. Mr. Crossley. This kind of serm is a new feature in Chatham and is certain very interesting and most impressive. The preacher spoke of the following crowns:

First, the crown of living kindness, Psalm 103, 4, which is given to us now and is an incentive to repentance and faith. Mr Crossley here sang, "A Child of the Second, the crown of gold, Rev. 4, 4, which indicates the dignity and royalty of the saved in heaven and is an incentive in the Christian life. Some heaitate to start-fearing they would not hold out. Such persons are surely lacking in ambition.

sons are surely lacking in ambition.

Third, the crown of glory, I Peter 5, 4,
This crown is emblematic of honors which This crown is emblematic of nonors which Christ gives to the saved in heaven and is an incentive to faithfulness to Christ and His church. We may make life a rapture to ourselves, by making it a benediction to others and ensure a crown of glory. "That Beautiful World" was here sung.

4th. The Crown of Rejoicing, (I. Thess., 1: 19.) This is an incentive to seek to win men, women and youth to Christ, who shall be as stars in our crown. Now is a blessed opportunity to win others.

5th. The Crown of Life (Rev. 2: 10.) which is an incentive to brave any trials that may be ours. After dilat-i ing hopefully upon this theme, Mr. Mr. Grossley sang "Some Sweet Day." 6th. REVIYAL NOTES. First Presbyterian Church has with drawn the prayer meeting that they may attend the meeting in Park Str The meetings now being held are union as far as the evangelists and the pastors are concerned. All are cord ally invited to come and share in the blessings. The choir was out in full force and the singing was excellent. The hymn book used in the meetings is, "Sorge of Salvation," and sold at fifteen cents instead of 25 cents so that all can be supplied.

Rev. Mr. Crossley and Miss Idle will sing a duet this evening.

The church will evidently be too small to hold the crowds in a very few nights. Come early:

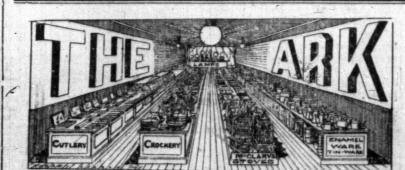

THAWED OUT THE PIPE.

Yesterday Superintendent Jones, of the Waterworks Department, thawed out 125 feet of water service pipe for Butcher Frank Smith, corner of Harvey and Queen streets. A 200 ampere transformer, and 52 volts were used to thaw the pipe. The water was running 17 minutes after the current was turned on. This is the pipe that was frozen during the cold snap two years ago, and thawed out in the same man-The ditch since then has been graded off, and the pipe is now nearer the surface than it was then. It will, however be lowered this summer. Foreman O'Mara, of the Waterworks Department, and Messrs. Head and Trott, of the Gas Co., assisted Supt.
