OUR W. C. T. U. WOMEN

I wonder if we ever have thought what an honor it is to be a W. C. T. U. woman. There are many organizations to-day doing splendid work, and many of us have seen fit to cast in our lot with them. Yet the old W. C. T. U. goes marching on. The evil doer would be glad to see it wiped out of existence, because it is one society that they are afraid of sometimes. We are at our end to know what to do to prevent certain things from going on. A certain man was nominated for the eldership of a Presbyterian Church, he went to his wife and said, "I cannot take this office, even if I am elected. I would be of no use." His wife tried to persuade him to do so. At last he came back smiling and said, "I'll take it. There is one thing I could do, 'I could object.' Many times the only thing the loyal W. C. T. U. seems to be able to do is to object, and yet the very fact that we will object, has made many a scheme fall through that might have been carried to a successful issue. Let us stand true to our W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Jones was entertaining some of her son's little friends. "Willie," she said, addressing a six-year-old, who was enjoying a plate of cold beef, "are you sure that you can cut your own meat?" The child who was making desperate efforts with his knife and fork, replied, "Yes, thanks, I've often had it as tough as this at home."

The Boston Post says that there are 307,000 licensed autos in the State of Massachusetts.

HENRY FORD'S RECIPE FOR SUCCESS

Speaking of good fellows who somehow don't succeed, Henry Ford says: "Pity the poor fellow who is so soft and flabby that he must always have an atmosphere of good feeling around him before he can do his work. There are such men. They produce with a sort of hothouse fervor while they are being coddled, but the moment the atmosphere chills and becomes critical they become perfectly hopeless. And in the end, unless they obtain enough mental and moral hardness to lift them out of their soft reliance on 'feeling' they are failures. Not only are they business failures, they rare character failures also; it is as if their bones never obtained a sufficient degree of hardness to enable them to stand on their own feet. Don't do all the things you like to do, but do most of the things you don't like to do, and then you will become a character strong enough to step out and accomplish things with men whom you don't like and who possibly don't like you. If you feel yourself getting soft and ineffectual, get out where there will be no sympathy, no understanding, no admiration, but just plain challenge to do what is in you. That will brace you up."

MAKING SPEECH VISIBLE

A wonderful new invention called the Lioretograph enables one to make accurate tracings upon permanent records of the actual vibrations of sound in articulated speech. The instrument is worked by motor power. When a vowel sound is uttered the room becomes full of vibrations, and each different sound gives vibrations of a different shape. In the presence of the Lioretograph a person saying "Ah" would record upon paper a wobbly, symmetrical line. The principle involved is similar to that of the phonograph, but, by means of delicate mechanism, the effects of speech are enlarged an enormous number of times. It is believed that with this new invention, aided by mathematical formulae already in use, it will be possible ultimately to read and translate any foreign tongue of which these lines are the record.

EMPHASIS WITH DISCRETION

"I like a man who speaks out in meeting."
 "So do I," said Senator Sorghum, "provided he is smart enough to do so without breaking up the meeting."

SUGGESTIVE READING

You will hear it said that such and such a magazine prints suggestive stories, meaning that they present corrupting ideas in an attractive dress. But there is a suggestiveness also of quite a different sort—the suggestiveness that quickens the reader's sense of duty, stimulates ambition, gives courage to face adversity, fortifies against yielding easily to temptation. It is this better kind of suggestiveness that you will find on almost every page of The Youth's Companion. Which of these two kinds of suggestiveness would you wish to have exert an influence in your family life?

NUDGIN' ELBOWS

When a feller nudges elbows, as you know a feller will, that's a-doin' his very darndest to scramble up life's hill. I never stop to jaw him, or to envy him his speed or disturb a feller-feelin' that we both are sure to need—so we keep a-nudgin' elbows, as in friendliness we trudge, each one a-feelin' better'n if the other didn't nudge.

It never hurts my feelin's, nor affects my mortal pride to have a feller-traveller sorter nudge me in the side; when my corns has got rebellious, or my breath's a-gettin' short, the little nudge reminds me that I've got to be a sport. I'll leave it to a court house full of solemn circuit judges, if it don't improve a feller's nerve to spur it up with nudges.

The Man of the Hour

In this hour of Canada's most acute national crisis, the country's greatest need is leadership—not class leadership, not sectional leadership, but NATIONAL leadership. A pilot must be chosen possessing the necessary courage, foresight, breadth of vision and determination to lead the nation safely out of the existing economic uncertainty.

And one man stands out head and shoulders above all others as pre-eminently fitted for the task.

Born on a farm near St. Mary's, Ontario, Arthur Meighen is a true son of the people, a toiler who has fought his way to eminence by sheer ability and force of intellect. Entered Parliament in 1908; appointed Solicitor-General in 1914; Minister of the Interior in 1917; and Prime Minister in 1920.

At the Imperial Conference he was acclaimed by the Press of Great Britain as a great statesman, as a strong, virile, vigorous personality—alert in mind, keen and far-seeing in judgment, and with a fearless determination to stand for the right.

Professor A. D. Skelton, of Queen's University, and biographer of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, wrote of the present Prime Minister:—"He has already given proof of high administrative capacity. His personal integrity is beyond question."

Of himself, Arthur Meighen said to his constituents the other day:—"You know where I stood on this issue in 1908, in 1911, and as in 1911 I stand to-day."

Home Town Paper Week

It is very rare that the average newspaper boosts its own business, but gives quantities of space in boosting the affairs of others.

Somebody suggested that it was time for the newspapers of the country to adopt a week in which their own business should be given precedence, and THE ACADIAN thoroughly endorses the idea.

The date set is the second week in November, from the 7th to the 12th, including that great world event, Armistice Day.

The official title for the week will be "Subscribe For Your Home Town Paper Week."

Thousands of papers will join in this event, and our readers will hear more about it as time goes on.

Ever ready to help in any cause that is in the interests of a better community, better living conditions, and better government, we now ask the readers and advertisers of THE ACADIAN to turn in and lend a hand during "Subscribe For Your Home Town Paper Week", and boost for us.
