Mr. Ames' Charges of Land Blanketing by Speculators.

Supplies for Hudson's Bay Expedition.

Mr. Brodeur Says Sickness Had to be Provided For.

Ottawa, May 11.-The debate instituted by Mr. Ames on the alleged blanketing of lands in the Northwest was resumed to-day and continued until 9.30 The Engineer was instructed to notify baif of the House went into Committee of Supply. Member after member from the Northwest during the debate rose and stated that the things alleged by the member for St. Antoine division did not exist to the extent stated, othernot exist to the extent stated, otherwise they would have heard of them. Mr. Adamson, for example, referred to the eight cases cited by Mr. Ames, where the latter charged that men were holding lands illegally and through the unfair connivance of the department. Mr. Adamson knew four of the cases per-Mr. Adamson knew four of the cases personally, and said that Mr. Ames was entirely wrong. Probably if looked into the remainder were equally groundless. Mr. McIntyre, who, with Mr. Adamson, spoke well and forcibly, said he had recently passed through his constituency, a tract 100 by 200 miles and heard no complaint about these matters. He had to come to Ottawa to hear the charges. Mr. McCraney thought that Mr. Ames was very credulous, and had filled his notebook with gossip rather than with reliable information. He defended the administration of the land laws as being in the interest of the settler. terest of the settler.
On motion of Sir Wilfrid Laurier this afternoon, Mr. Bergeron was substituted for Mr. Lennox on the special committee or fraudulent and deleterious medicines. A Few Corrections.

A Few Corrections.

Before the orders of the day were called. Mr. Bourasas rose to make a correction of a remark he had made in his speech on Wednesday on the indemnity bill. He had said Senator Cox had attended some three or seven days last session and had drawn $1.700. "I desire to be accurate," said Mr. Bourassa. "I find on reference to the Auditor-General's report that he was prosent eight days and drew $2,140." (Laughter.)

Mr. Emmerson called attention to an editorial paragraph in the Globe saying that if he had been correctly reported as saying the Dominion Government considered taking jurisdiction over all railways, he was undertaking more than he could accomplish. Mr. Emmersons said that he had made no such statement. What he had said was that the matter of jurisdiction over railways would be taken up and discussed at the coming conference with the Provisional Governments.

Hudson's Bay Expedition Supplies.

Mr. Brodeur declared that it was necessary in order to protect Canadian territory and put down illegal whaling and smuggling. He pointed out that Captain Bernier's expedition to the north was asked for by several Conservative members. He said that Captain Bernier would return this summer and Bernier would return this summer and drives it from the system. But you must the conjuine with the full name, 'Dr. permer would be northern islands in patrol among the northern islands in Hudson's Bay.

Mr. McCarthy pointed out that Conservative members as well as Liberals servative members as well as Liberals had endorsed Captain Bernier's trip to the north. That officer was lauded then as the right man to fit out and conduct the expedition. Now he was criticized by the very men who praised him. He advised the Minister to procure a state-ment of the character and extent of the supplies of the Nansen, Peary and other expeditions.

Mr. Brodeur announced that Captain would be very glad to go be-Public Accounts Committee and said that the late Mr. Clarke and to Conservatives urged the Government to look after Canadian interests in Hud-Bay and now that they had done

SEWERS COMMITTEE.

TENDERS ACCEPTED AT MEETING HELD YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

The Sewers Committee met yesterday afternoon, and did considerable busines in less than an hour. Ald. Wallace pre sided, and all the members were present The application from the priest of the new Catholic church and other persons on the east side of Sherman avenue for permission to connect with the city sewer system was acted upon. It was decided that churches and private dwellings pay the usual frontage tax and $5 each for the treatment of sewage, and a by-law to that effect will be introduced. If any factories apply for permission their cases will be dealt with separately.

Tenders for the construction of new Tenders for the construction of new sewers were accepted as follows:
Cannon street east, D. Newlands, 82 cents a foot.
Sanford avenue, D. Newlands, 87 cents a foot.

King street east, D. Newlands, $1.25 a foot. Sophia street, J. J. Armstrong, $1 foot.

The City Engineer's figures in three

The City Engineer's figures in three cases were lower and in one case higher than the accepted tender. His tender for the King street sewer was $1.75.

The City Engineer reported against the application of the employees of the sewage disposal works for an increase, and his report was accepted.

Applications from the following for permission to connect with main sewer were granted:

Henry New, new house on morth side of Main street, between Queen and Hess streets, with the Queen street sewer.

Frank L. Wanzer, permission to connect look of the sewer.

George Hayes, to connect houses Nos. 306, 308, 310 and 312 Barton street east with the East avenue sewer.

The Chairman read a resolution of the Board of Health calling upon the Council to construct a sewer system in the east end annex. He said action would be taken.

The committee decided to meet next Friday afternoon and go on a tour of inspection, particularly of the disposal railways, he was undertaking more than he could accomplish. Mr. Emmerson said that he had made no such statement. What he had said was that the matter of jurisdiction over railways would be taken up and discussed at the coming conference with the Provisional Governments.

Hudson's Bay Expedition Supplies.

Mr. Bennett criticized the expenditure for eupplies in connection with the trip of the Arctic to Hudson's Bay, in comparison with which he said Robinson Crusce paled into insignificance.

Mr. Brodeur said the purchases were made by Captain Bernier who had Noted into the supplies purchased for previous expeditions. It was thought the crew would be away for three years.

Mr. Bennett, continuing, read the purchases of Jamaica rum and "fine old crusted port of the vintage of 187s."

Did these supplies, he asked, return with the expedition.

Mr. Brodeur replied that there were some articles brought back. They would be used in the next expedition.

Mr. Brodeur did not see the reason for humor when men were starting on an expedition into the northern wilds. There needed to be stimulants in case any of the men fell sick. Surely no expedition could be taken to providing for possible sickness.

Several Opposition members questioned whether the expedition was worth while at such expense.

Mr. Brodeur delared that it was necessary in order to protect Canadian territory and put down illegal whaling and smuggling. He pointed out that Captain Bernier's expedition to that Captain

St. Anne's new Catholic church in East Hamilton, situated at the corner of Barton street and Sherman avenue, will be dedicated to-morrow morning by his Lordship Bishop Dowling, who will celebrate solemn pontifical mass at 10.30. MUSIC AND DRAMA the eminent English actor, is always a welcome one in Hamilton. He opened his brief stay here last evening, and was greeted by an audience, that, while not sufficient to crowd the house, was large, considering the lateness of the season and most enthusiastic in its demonstrations of approval. Mr. Willard again places his principal support on three of his long-tired and never railing produc-tions, and opened last evening with David Garrick, followed by a new one-act drama, The Man That Was, adapted by Kinsey Piele from a Kipling story of the same name.

by Kinsey Piele from a Kipling story of the same name.

It would be superfluous to criticise the performance of David Garrick. In it Mr. Willard shines with a brilliancy undimmed by the years. There is yet the fullest charm in his presentation of the actor role—the grace, the vigor, the resource of the experienced performer; and a good many times hearty rounds of applause followed the striking effects produced by Mr. Willard, and several curtain calls came at the end of the acts.

The supporting company gave adequate assistance. Miss Lonnon was sweet and tender as Aida Ingot; H. Barfoot was an effective Simon Iugot: Ernest Stallard made a lively Dick Chivy, and the other performers were satisfactory.

As the only new play to be produced.

and the other performers were satisfactory.

As the only new play to be produced by Mr. Willard on this tour, there was naturally much interest aroused in the Kipling-Piele drama. It proved to be one of the fortunately, few works that, while furnishing a grand part for the star, produces a feeling of pain and depression in the audience. The scene represents the ante-room of the White Hussars' mess at Peshawar. India, a striking stage setting. While the officers make merry after dinner, there appears an unkempt, tattered, weak, uncouth and utterly wretched individual, who has made his way to the barracks after over twenty years' detention in Sieria. From this to the end, the action is beria. From this to the end, the action is taken up depicting "the man that was." making known to the assembled officers in that he is Austin Limmason, a former officer of the White Hussars.

Mr. Willard, as Limmason, made a powerful, though painful, impression in his unfolding of the part. His make-up—that of a ragged and demented old man—was little short of marvelous. His acting was in keeping with the uncanny wierdness of the character. In gesture and voice he maintained to the last breath the unfortunate and long-suffering soldier, who, in the first moment of sanity, promptly showed his devotion to his Queen and regiment. Short, and almost repulsive, as the part is, it further emphasizes Mr. Willard as one of the most versatile of actors, who can completely sink himself in the role he undertakes.

The other parts, and there were thirteen of them were well accessed the

The other parts, and there were thirteen of them, were well presented, the appointments were complete, and the whole production was one that the management could well be thoroughly pleased with.

Saturday, May 12 .- On Central market this morning a great concourse of buyers were coming and going continurusly. Prices took a little drop in the vege

The hide market is at its slack time, and not much business is being done.

Wheat has gone up a couple of cents, with a promise of still higher prices, although selling is slow on all lines of grain.

Ottawa, May 11 .- A return relating to the squabbles between Mr. W. T. R. Preston on the one hand, and Messrs. Griffith and Just of the High Commis sioner's office, and Mr. Alfred Jury, emigration agent at Liverpool, on other, was tabled to-day. It is alleged that Messrs. This led to an order issuing from Ottawa for-bidding the practice under penalty of immediate dismissal. Mr. Preston, in his letter, charges Griffith, Jury and Duncan with sending in fraudulent accounts. Mr. Jury, in one communica
