A Hearty Welcome.

THE EVENING TELE-GRAM joins in welcoming back the men of our regiment who have been invalided home. These men have risked their all. They have faced death upon the deep the hail of more than one million Armenians have faced death upon the deep, the hail of more than one million Armenians have shrapnel on their landing on Gallipoli, the trying conditions of lack of drinking water and general unsanitary conbullet, shrapnel and high explosive shells, and the terrible risks of the evacuation. Some of their comrades they have left behind on that foreign shore, others are still in hospital, an others are now in France facing the Huns on that front. The returning heroes, however, have played their part to the full, until their is nothing more they are capable of doing at the front. Now they have come home and their very presence and the honorable wounds they bear upon their bodies will be a great stimulus for others to take the places they have perforce vacated in the ranks. Now, they are at home, they will tell their story and "show how fields are won," and their soldiers tales will do far more than an ordinary recruiting meeting conducted by civilians to fire the young men who have not yet offered to do their "bit," to join the colors and do their part. The passage of the returning heroes, sifice their arrival at Port aux Basques has been a veritable triumphal progress through the country. St. John's was determined to do its part as the Capital of the to do its part as the Capital of the country in giving a royal welcome to this band of heroes. The whole city is gay with banting. The citizens were determined that they should have a determined that they should have a triumphal march through the city from the Railway Depot to Government House, where they were received by the Governor, and on their way they received the plaudits of citizens generally.

Those Missing Men.

NO TRACE OF THEM.

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries received the following messages sent yesterday from Capt. Jacob Kean of the S. S. Cabot, concerning the missing men Scammell:—

"Yesterday went N. E. from Barracks 20 miles, struck the edge of ice, followed it 15 miles S. E. of Funks; saw nothing; heavy sea, ice all broken up; strong N. E. wind and thick snow to-day. Arrived at Seldom out of storm,"

VILLA'S FATE. WASHINGTON, To-day. Definite information regarding th fate of Villa, is eagerly awaited by Administration officials to-day.

AMERICAN NOTE READY. WASHINGTON, To-day. . The American Government's state ment of its case against Germany in the submarine controversy, probably will go forward to-day. It is said to be ready for transmission to Berliu.

BELGIANS STILL EFFECTIVE.

PARIS, To-day. German statements that the Bel gian army has been reduced to a sixth of its effectiveness and has been re placed by British troops, is denied in a semi-official statement given out a Havre, the seat of the Belgian Government. It is stated that the Belgian Army occupies a section of the front that its morale is very good, and that it is only asking a chance of proving its superiority over its enemies.

ARTILLERY ACTIVITY AT VERDUN

PARIS, To-Day. French positions in Avocourt Wood and on front from Deadman's Hill to Cumieres were bombarded yesterday. There were infantry attacks, the official report of to-day says, to the east of the Meuse. The night was calm except for artillery activity at Haudocment Wood.

NEW GREEK CRISIS.

NEW YORK, To-day. A cable to the Tribune from London says Greece is again the throes of crisis which this time seems to be greater magnitude and gravity than hose which already have made that country a political storm centre. The cause is simple and dramatic. Britain and France have decided to transport the Serbian army said to number 150,600 men from Corfu off the west with, if the journey were entirely by sea. The Athens Government has refused to consent to the use of the Poloponnesian line, but the Allies are admamant. They have not only informed Greece that the railway will nevertheless be used, but also according to Athens advices have threatened strong measures should the Hellenic rulers seek to thwart the plans neces sary to their operations in the Bal-kans. The Central Powers, on the other hand, plainly told Greece that if the passage of the Serbian army is permitted, it will be regarded as an unfriendly act. Under firm pressure from both sets of belligerents the Govroment thus finds itself in a remarkable dilemma, the sequel to which will be watched with interest.
