Making Better Cakes

There is nothing better for making cakes than Freeman's Egg Powder, which is not merely a substitute for eggs but actually an improvement upon them—being lighter and more digestible. It is also much more economical in use than are eggs.

MINARD'S LINIMENT FOR DAND. RUFF.

In the Prize Ring.LOOKS LIKE SOCIETY DOLL.

Georges Carpentier, heavyweight champion of Europe, who arrived in America last Tuesday, will give the city of New York the once over, after which he will leave for Los Angeles, where he will pose for the movies.

It is easily understood why the French pugilist is the Adonis of the ring and the idol of the French people, in appearance he looks more like a society favorite than a boxer. When he stepped into the ring for his recent encounter with Beckett, the pet of the boulevardiers was attired in a gray silk dressing gown and he looked far from a champion boxer preparing for the fray.

As was the case with Norman Selby (Kid McCoy) in the latter's early days, Carpentier appears too fragile to stand the strain of combat in the roped arena. The Frenchman's first act on entering the ring was to make a ceremonious bow to the Prince of Wales, and then, with the manner of one greeting a friend during a promenade on the Champs Elysee, Carpentier stepped smiling toward the nervous Beckett and held out his hand. Beckett, who had been walking about the ring and tapping the canvas with his foot, to see if the ring floor was solid, looked furtively at the Frenchman and then put out his hand. This ceremony ended the Frenchman gayly kissed his hand to friends he spied in the audience and took a seat in the corner like a man who had ordered coffee and rolls and was in no particular hurry.

It is recalled that when Carpentier and Wells met in their one-round contest, the Briton glanced over to his opponent's corner to ascertain the cause of the merriment, he was nonplussed to observe Carpentier and his manager were matching coins to determine who should pay for the dinner after the battle.

There was no matching of coins previous to the Beckett bout, for the excitable Deschamps hopped about the ring like a sparrow on a live wire, buzzing advice in his champion's ears and giving other evidence that he was rather interested.

Smiles Before Battle.

The Frenchman accepted these attentions with an indulgent smile which did not leave his face until he began to wind bandages about the small hands with the calmness of an exquisite trying on a pair of new kid gloves.

Then the box containing the gloves was opened in the centre of the ring, and Deschamps pounced on them like a cat on a rat, eager to get the pair that fitted his principal. When the gloves were adjusted and the laces fastened, Carpentier, for first time shot a keen, searching, menacing look at Beckett, but the Briton's head was averted.

With the sound of the gong for the first round, the carefree insouciant manner of the Frenchman disappeared, and was replaced by the grim, determined look of the warrior advancing on the foe. Eyes gleaming, jaws firmly set and the muscles of his body writhing under his white skin. The French champion sprang at the Briton and began the battle that ended so suddenly and so disastrously for Beckett.

When his skill and attack had triumphed over his opponent and he had magnanimously carried his fallen adversary to his corner, Carpentier seated on the shoulders of his delighted followers, who carried him around the ring in triumphal parade, again was the jovial, affable Parisian favorite.

WILDE SIGNS TO MEET EBER.

Windsor, March 23.—Jimmy Wilde, Britain's flyweight champion pugilist this afternoon at Jersey City signed articles to meet "Bobby" Eber of Hamilton at Windsor, Monday April 12 in a 10-round bout. Eber must weight in at 116 pounds at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the bout. A telegram this evening from Manager Hughes in charge of Wilde brought news of closing of the arrangements.

Wilde will receive $5,500 for his appearance, while his opponent will be paid $1,000 and training expenses. It was only through effort of the Windsor and district unit of the army and navy veterans Wilde consented to visit Windsor. He was, however, anxious to display his wares to Canadians, as the Prince of Wales, before Jimmy left for his tour of the United States requested him not to return home without getting acquainted with the Dominion. Eber was chosen for Wilde's opponent, because he is one of few bantams who can make the weight required by the Englishman.

With Eber the recognized champion of his class in Canada, his appearance here is expected to draw hundreds of boxing enthusiasts from Hamilton, Toronto and other cities of Western Ontario.

CARPENTIER IS A KIDDER, SAYS DEMPSEY.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 17.—Not only was Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion pugilist of the world, apparently amused to-day by the news that Georges Carpentier, French Champion, had predicted that he would beat him in six rounds, but he also expressed confidence that the title would not be wrested from him by the Frenchman.

"If Carpentier is as good a fighter as he is a kidder," Dempsey said, "then he can step some. I am sure I will beat Carpentier. But I have never ventured to predict how long it will take. I don't believe Carpentier expects to stop me in six rounds. If he does expect to do that he will be disappointed. I hope the fight is staged soon, and I have no fear of being in any number of rounds."

Against Jack Dempsey.

Albany, N. Y., March 27.—Former service men, now members of the State Attorney, went on record to-day as opposed to allowing Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, to box in New York state until the "charges of evading the draft have been disposed of and his innocence shown."

PLAN TO HAVE BROSSEAU AND CARPENTIER MEET.

Toronto, March 27.—A local newspaper publishes a special despatch from Windsor, Ont., to the effect that negotiations have been begun by the army and navy veterans of Windsor to secure an option for the first appearance in Canada of Georges Carpentier, challenger for Dempsey's title. If plans materialize, it is expected that Carpentier will fight Eugene Brosseau of Montreal at Windsor some time in July.
