The Origin of the Life Guards.

The resignation of Protector Rich ard Cromwell in 1659 was followed by a year of unrest. The Parliament had been restored by the army, but now quarrelled with it. Haselrig, one of the famous "Five Members." leading the former, and Lambert, one of Cromwell's major-generals, the latter. The Royalists took advantage of these differences to revive their schemes. and risings took place in various parts of England, which Lambert put down; he also expelled the Parliament. Monk who was in Scotland, marched into England, intending to restore the Parliament, but when he reached York in December the riots in London had led to the restoration of Parliament. At York, Monk was joined by Fairfax, who made no secret of his Royalist leanings, so on February 3, 1660, Monl entered London at the head of 5,000 men. The people waited with trem bling anxiety to know his resolve, and great was their joy when he declared for a free Parliament. The Presbyterian members, who had been exnelled by Colonel Pride in 1648, returned to their seats in the Long Parliament, and that famous body, after deciding on a new Parliament, dissolved itself. Monk, being "General of the Forces." proposed and accomplished the restoration of Charles II. who was proclaimed King at the gate of Westminster Hall at the beginning of May. Later on, Monk was rewarded with the title of Duke of Albemarle, and so great was the public joy at the Restoration that no care was taken to prevent Charles from seizing absolute power. His first Parliament graned him, for life taxes amounting to £1.2000,000 a year; and a part of this money he devoted to the support of some regiments, then called "Gentlemen of the Guard," but now termed "Life Guards." These formed the nucleus of the standing army which has ever since been maintained.

Crude Arrangement.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir .- When the Prince's Rink Management make a specialty of any Hockey game, for the benefit of the Rink alone, and issue reserved seat (gallery) tickets at double the cos of general admission, it should be their primary object to give that freedom of entrance to ticket holders to which their advance purchases naturally and legitimately entitle them. That ticket holders last night were not treated any differently from those who sought general admission is evidenced by the crude arrangements of the management, who having accepted in advance an enhanced fee for reserved seats, left it to those who made-and paid for-reservations to be tossed to and fro amongst the crowd in a vain effort to gain admission, which in numerous cases was not secured, and in a number of instances was only obtained to find that their seats had been preempted by others. It does not speak well for the management that they should have omitted to look after ticket purchasers, by having another door opened for their convenience, but left them to force and jostle their way through the queue in order to obtain the priv ileges for which they had paid (doubly) in advance. It is hoped that should such again occur that some better arrangements will be made otherwise the public will not look with satisfaction or confidence upon any attempt to raise the price without giving adequate returns. A word to the wise should be sufficient. Yours truly,

TICKET HOLDER.

Obituary.

ELIZABETH O'DRISCOLL.

On yesterday morning, Elizabeth O Driscoll, widow of the late Captain John O'Driscoll, passed peacefully away at her residence, Hamilton Street, at the advanced age of 85 years. Deceased was born in County Kilkenny, Ireland, and came to St John's when very young, and her passing removes one of the very few remaining of the Irish who came out here in the early Victorian days. Mrs. O'Driscoll led a very exemplary life, was a devoted Catholic, generous and sympathetic, and her death will be deeply regretted by a large circle of friends. Left to mourn is one daughter, her husband having predecessed her several years ago. Interment takes place at 2.30 p.m. to-morrow, Friday, from 17 Hamilton Street.
