Insurgents Surrender Last Stronghold.

One Leader Taken Prisoner by Nationals—
 Post, Telegraph and Telephone Offices
 Destroyed—Steamers Collide in St. Lawrence River.

SACKVILLE ST. AREA CLEANED UP.

DUBLIN, July 5. The remainder of the Irish Republican irregulars in Sackville Street area surrendered to the National Army force at eight o'clock this evening, the Press Association says. It is learned that Charles Burgess, one of the chief insurgent leaders, was taken prisoner.

LAST STRONGHOLD SURRENDERS.

WASHINGTON, July 5. The last stronghold of the Irish irregulars in Dublin, surrendered to Free State troops this afternoon, according to a cablegram received by the Irish Diplomatic Mission here.

SIERGE ENDED.

DUBLIN, July 4. The siege of the strongholds of the insurgent Irish forces virtually ended to-night with the surrender of small groups who had been fighting for the past week being barricaded and the capture of one of the principal leaders, Charles Burgess, former Minister of Defence. But the success of the National cause has been purchased at the cost of blazing buildings and terrible destruction in O'Connell Street, to say nothing of the loss of life and many seriously injured. In the late afternoon, when ten buildings, including three hotels, were aflame, the remainder of the irregulars driven into Granville Hotel with fires on all sides, still maintained a desperate resistance with automatics and rifles. The final attack by Free State troops commenced

AT MIDDAY WHEN THE REGULARS ADOPTED THE DESPERATE PLAN OF BOMBING THE INSURGENTS OUT. A BOMB WAS HURLED INTO HAMMAN'S HOTEL AND FAINT WHISPERS OF SMOKE CREEPT THROUGH THE SHATTERED WINDOWS AND SUDDENLY A BURST OF FLAME WAS FOLLOWED BY DENSE COLUMNS OF SMOKE. THE FLAMES SPREAD WITH INCREDIBLE SWIFTHOOD. THREE BUILDINGS WERE COMPLETELY DESTROYED, THE RUIN BEING HASTENED THROUGH SIMULTANEOUS EXPLOSIONS OF BOMBS AND AMMUNITION. STILL THE BATTLE RAGED, THE IRREGULARS FIRING BULLETS FROM WINDOWS OF BOTH GRESHAM AND GRANVILLE HOTELS, WHILE NATIONAL RIFEMEN REPLIED VIGOROUSLY FROM POSITIONS OPPOSITE AND FROM ARMOURD CARS. SHORTLY AFTER ONE O'CLOCK AN ARMOURD CAR TOOK POSITION OPPOSITE THE GRESHAM, AND POURED A HURRICANE OF MACHINE GUN FIRE INTO THE HOTEL WINDOWS. SMOKE BELCHED FORTH QUICKLY FOLLOWED BY A MUFFLED EXPLOSION AND TONGUES OF FLAME FROM WINDOWS, AND WITHIN HALF AN HOUR THE FRONT OF THE BUILDING WAS A BURNING FURNACE. EVEN WHILE THE LOWER FLOORS WERE BURNING THE IRREGULARS CONTINUED TO FIRE FROM THE UPPER WINDOWS, BUT AT THREE O'CLOCK THE REMNANT OF THE GARRISON, FIVE MEN, WEARY EYED AND BLACKENED-EMERGED FROM THE BACK OF THE BUILDING UNDER A WHITE FLAG AND SURRENDERED. OTHER IRREGULARS WERE DRIVEN FROM PLACE TO PLACE BY THE FLAMES TOOK UP POSITION IN THE GRANVILLE AND DIRECTED A BRISK FIRE AGAINST THE NATIONALS. MEANTIME FIRE BROKE OUT OPPOSITE IN A STORE NEXT TO THE EDINBURGH HOTEL AND PRESENTLY A MAN STEPPED FORTH HOLDING A WHITE FLAG IN ONE HAND AND A DRESS SUIT CASE

Hooper, Chairman of the United States Railroad Labor Board, and D. M. Jewell, leader of the shop crafts, who ordered the walkout. LITTLE ROBERT.

You've heard of little Robert Reed, who would not use the filthy weed. He figured in a moral poem that once was known in every home, when sinful children chewed or smoked the name of Robert was invoked by parents stern, who pointed out the merits of that shining scout. This Robert, whom we knew so well, now serves a sentence in a cell. He viewed the Volstead act with scorn, and sold bum liquor by the horn. "Ah, yes," he said, when interviewed, "I've pulled all kinds of stunts in crime, in many jails I've served my time. I'm jugged just now for vending beer, and recently I shoved the queer. But I can say with pride, indeed, I've never used the filthy weed. I robbed a church some years ago, and touched a blind man for his dough; I've sold gold bricks in hayseed towns, and swiped a toiler's handiwork, and broke the laws that govern speed, but I've abjured the filthy weed." I said to him, "You are, in truth, a strangely moral, stainless youth. For harmless pranks, such as you've named, no mettled youngster can be blamed, but it is sickening, indeed, when springalds touch the filthy weed."

The separate three-quarter length coat may have wing sleeves. The straight gathered cape is fast replacing the flaring and shaped capes. Smart suit jackets and sports coats show bindings of contrasting color. Charmin crepe dresses still make one of those "shoulder-to-hip" pleats.

Little girls' dresses are apt to have bloomers to match, but no sleeves. Low-heeled patent leather strap sandals are worn with light-colored stockings. Frocks made of sheer transparent crepes are fuller than those of plain crepes. Stitching in black silks in diamond design is effective on a crepe de chine frock. A succession of narrow bias ruffles with piped edges makes a charming frock. The ribbon-trimmed leghorn is a favorite that amounts almost to a fad in millinery. Scarlet and white calico is deligh-
