Lodge Considers Further Reductions Would Hamper Proper Administrations

Settlement of Irish Boundary Dispute Opens A New Era--Vicker's, Ltd., Decide to Write Down Capital by Many Millions--British Government Extends Protectionist System.

LIST OF ADMINISTRATION INCREASES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9. (Continued) informed the Senate today that the minimum of running the Government was reached and that the normal operation of a growing nation would involve added expenditures. The outlay of running the Government machine for the fiscal year was estimated at $3,896,207,521, an increase of $83,325 over the current year.

He would send to Congress a request for funds to expand and as part of his dry program.

U.S. APPROVES.

BELFAST, Dec. 9. The House of the Ulster Parliament today unanimously approved the Boundary Agreement.

SHIPPING YEAR ON RECORD.

LONDON, Dec. 9. A year has been the worst for shipping ever experienced. Lord Ingham declared today at the annual meeting of the Peninsular and Oriental Steamship Company over which he presided. He declared over one million of shipping were laid off the ships in commission during the year.

REDUCING ITS CAPITAL.

LONDON, Dec. 9. The biggest reconstruction of any

British Company since the war is announced by Vickers, Limited, which will drastically write down its capital by many millions sterling as the result of greatly decreased earnings in recent years.

AUSTRALIAN NATIONALISTS CLEAR MAJORITY IN BOTH HOUSES.

MELBOURNE, Aus., Dec. 9. The final counting and checking of votes in the Australian General Election of November 14, have been completed. Not a single Labor candidate was elected to fill any vacant seats in the Senate. The Government now has twenty-seven supporters in the Senate and Labor nine. The Nationalist Party, of which the Premier is leader, has now a clear majority in the House of Representatives and the Senate.

BRITAIN ADOPTING PROTECTIVE POLICY.

LONDON, Dec. 9. Despite prolonged Laborite and Liberal protests that the Baldwin Government was putting through protectionist measures by backdoor methods, the House of Commons to-night passed the second reading of the Safeguarding of Industries Bill. This embodies three resolutions adopted last week imposing duties on cutlery, gloves and incandescent mantles.

HAPPY IRELAND.

BELFAST, Dec. 10. Following the approval to-day by the Ulster Parliament of the Irish Boundary Agreement, Sir James Craig, Premier of Ulster, declared he con-idently believed a new era had begun not only in Ulster and the Free State, but in the whole world so far as Irish affairs were concerned. He also announced that at the London negotiations, the vexing question of political prisoners had been settled with the agreement that prisoners held for political offences in the north would have their cases reviewed by the British Government and its decision as to their disposal accepted as final. He paid a tribute to Cosgrave and other Free State leaders.

NEWFOUNDLANDER WASHED OVERBOARD AND DROWNED.

SLIDNEY, N.S., Dec. 10. John Cook, Postmaster at Ingonish, and a native of Newfoundland, was drowned when washed overboard from Capt. William Dunphy's schooner, Julia, when caught in an off-shore gale, 3 miles off Cape Smokey, to-day. Bert Dunphy was also swept overboard but was rescued after a thrilling fight for life.

BIRTHRATE LOWEST ON RECORD.

LONDON, Dec. 9. For every thousand births born in England and Wales last year there were 1047 boys. The birthrate was 13 per thousand, the lowest yet recorded except during the war years. The population in 1924 was 38,746,000.

SYRIA'S APPEAL CANNOT BE RECOGNIZED.

GENEVA, Dec. 9. Syria sent an emissary to the League of Nations to-day to demand action to stop bloodshed in Syria, but as the Council already had approved of a plan of the Mandate Commission to meet in Rome in February to probe the situation, the indications were that Syria's petition would not be recognized. Representations declared that bloodshed and oppression had existed for five months in Syria, with the French bombarding and burning villages incessantly. Famine menaces the country and thousands are homeless, it was declared.

Sees Pacific Theatre of World's Next War

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 27.—The Pacific is "the ocean of to-morrow," and will probably be the main theatre of the next great war, General J. H. MacBrien, chief of staff of the Canadian department of national defense, declared in addressing the Canadian club here. He demanded more adequate defenses on the Pacific coast, declaring that the nation's present naval base, while not obsolete, was obsolescent.

Gen. MacBrien stated that the United States has spent $22,000,000 on the defence of the Panama canal, and that another $68,000,000 is to be spent on that subject. He declared that during his sojourn as an observer in Japan he had learned to like the Japanese very much, and that he believes the Japs are right in their claim to a sort of Monroe Doctrine over the Far East.

CAPT. NELD, VESSEL TO SUE THE GOVERNMENT.

Newfoundland Schooner Sails For Ram Row.

NORTH SYDNEY, Dec. 1.—The Newfoundland schooner J. D. Hazen in command of Capt. E. O. Fudge, which has been in port for the past several days with a full load of Scotch and other whisties, sailed this morning for sea. She was detained here on account of the rough weather and high seas which swept the coast. During her stay here she contributed quite a bit to the Customs treasury by way of watchmen, food and so forth.

The Hazen was here on several occasions in the liquor trade, and about a month ago she made her last appearance, after disposing of a cargo of stuff taken on at Demerara last spring. She had about sold out when the disastrous gale sprang up and before anything could be done was blown off to sea, the mate in charge barely succeeding in making her homeward at Belleoram, Nfld., where she was driven on the rocks and became rudderless and otherwise smashed up by the heavy seas which prevailed at the time.

Capt. Fudge, who was here at the time, waited in vain for some tidings of his craft, thinking she had gone down in the gale, and great was the relief to get her cable stating she was safe at the home port, but disabled and ashore. He wired instructions what to do with the vessel and lost no time in reaching Belleoram, only to run into more trouble, being halted before the courts on a charge of landing contraband liquor in Newfoundland.

This new turn on the part of the Newfoundland Customs greatly delayed both the shipper and the vessel, and gave rise to many erroneous reports, some of them appearing in the papers, to the effect that the Captain paid a fine of $800 and his mate $200 for smuggling liquor into the Ancient Colony. Captain Fudge indignantly denies the story, and says he never landed liquor or anything else contrary to the laws of that country or any other country.

He secured the services of the law firm of Higgins, Hunt and Emerson, in conjunction with Mr. Harry Winter, four of the leading barristers of St. John's and is suing the Newfoundland Government for the return of his five hundred gallons of Demerara rum and compensation for the loss of time to the vessel and himself. The case promises to be an interesting one, as the Captain says he is innocent.—Sydney Post.

London Police Say Women Menace

LONDON, Nov. 29.—London bobbies declare women are both deaf and blind, when they wear the latest headgear.

Tight hats, drawn down over the ears and eyes, frequently adorned with "blinkers," which make it impossible for women to look to the side, are considered a poor equipment for crowded streets.

"Women in modern hats are a menace to themselves, to drivers and to traffic policemen," one traffic officer at Piccadilly declared. "We try to save them, but it's a hard job. One needs his ears and eyes at their best in these days of motor traffic."
