MARKET REPORTS.

THE LOCAL MARKET.

London, Wednesday, Nov. 12. The offerings on the market were again ery light. The farmers have not completed their plowing, and in a number of cases have yet to finish gathering their cases have yet to finish gathering their root crops, which accounts to some extent for the small offerings.

There were only 8 loads of hay offered; nearly all sold at $10 per ton. The demand is good. The buyers have orders for nearly 20 loads, which should insure good prices for the next few days.

Six loads of cats were offered, which Six loads of oats were offered, which brought 93c to 94c per cwt.

GENERAL JAIL DELIVERY

Forty Prisoners Escape at Tucson, Ariz.

Deserter and Four Other Prisoners Escape at Kingston.

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 11 .- Forty prisoners confined in the jail at Cananea have overpowered the jailers and escaped in broad daylight. The men were charged with different offenses, ranging from petty larceny to murder. This is the second jail delivery in a month, and a new prison is being cut out of the side of the mountain, where escape will be well nigh an impossibility.

FIVE OF THEM. Kingston, Ont., Nov. 11.-This morning Wm. Cleator, a member of the R. C. F. A., serving a term in jail for desertion, escaped from custody. In company with four other prisoners, he was working on the court house grounds, in charge of Turnkey Perry and Assistant Turnkey Dawson. asked permission to go to a closet in panied by Dawson and two other closet by a confederate. still free. Cleator had about three months to serve. AT JACKSON, MICH. Jackson, Mich., Nov. 11.-Warden Vincent's theory that if hardened convicts are treated by their keepers like one gentleman would treat another they will be as docile as kittens, has received a bad jolt. The trouble occurred last Saturday, when something like 75 convicts in one of the shirt workrooms quit work at a signal from a convict, Tom Goold, and proceeded to do up the employes. It is believed that their plan was to fight their way out of the prison. Good, who is a five-year convict, but 20 years of age, jumped on the back of Hugh Brenan, overseer for the shirt contractor. Convict Charles French jumped on the overseer an instant later, and in a few mo-ments every convict in the room with dozen exceptions or so, was looking for an opening to smash someone in authority. The riotous convicts smashed some of the shop machinery, and then, seeing that their chances of escape were gone, soon subsided. Had it not been for the rescue by Peter Lourim, Overseer Brennan, it is said, would probably have been killed. Punishment in the way of the curtailprivileges will probably be meted out to the ringleaders of the outbreak later. There will be no cor-punishment, for that is for-The fact that there was an outbreak has only just leaked out. Two of the convicts engaged in it, French and Lamb, tried to escape last Friday by dropping out of line going to break making for the roof of the west wing. At the present time 18 convicts are

St. Andrew's Society Concert the Success of the Season.

Seldom in the history of local music has there been such interest taken in the appearance of any celebrated singer as was the case last night, when Jessie Maclachlan, the queen of Scottish song, paid her third visit to London. Large as were the audiences which greeted her on her previous appearances here, they were exceeded by that of last night. There was not a seat vacant in the Grand Opera House when London's sons of the heather gathered to welcome the clever vocalists who were to bring back to them the songs and the mem-her hearers with her rendition of the addition to his accompaniments, gave beautiful songs of Auld Scotia. Her clear, full voice, with its exquisite tone and delicate shading is one admirably adapted to give expression to the depths of feeling which lie in the ballad music of Scotland. Miss Maclachlan was rapturously received on her every appearance, and not a number was suffered to pass without an encore. Miss Maclachian proved to be generosity itself in the granting of recalls, and her judicious selections of old favorites never failed to rouse the audience to fresh expressions of en- landers," by Miss Jessie Maclachlan; thusiasm. Miss Maclachlan paid to St. Andrew's Society, under whose auspices last night's concert was held, a graceful compliment by wearing on her breast the beautiful gold St. Andrew's Cross presented to her by the society on her second visit here. Miss Maclachlan told an Advertiser reporter that for the last fortnight, at every concert in which she had participated it has been necessary to turn crowds from the doors. Of the three clever vocalists who assisted Miss Maclachlan — Miss Dorothy Taylor, Mr. H. Ruthven Mc-Donald and Mr. Leonard E. Auty-it would be indeed difficult to say which was the most popular. Not a single number escaped encore, and had it not been that the artists themselves at refused to respond, the affair would not have ended until well into the "wee sma' hours." As it was, the programme was just twice the length anticipated.

Justice Lambert read from the statutes definitions of the various degrees of homicide. He summed up the admitted facts in the case, the sending of the package from the general Molineux Acquitted of Charge postoffice, its receipt at the Knickerbocker Athletic Club, and the administration of the drug to Mrs. Adams by Cornish, who received it at the club. "It is necessary," he said, "for the state to prove that the defendant sent this package, that it was received by Cornish and innocently administered to Mrs. Adams, before you can find this defendant guilty. One of the most important efforts of the prosecution has been to connect this defendant with the address on that poison package.
