BREEZY DAY IN NEW YORK

A 70-Mile Gale Does Damage
Among the Shipping.

Numerous Boats Were Upset and Seven Persons Lost Their Lives.

New York, June 10.—A 70-mile-an-hour gale started to blow early Sunday afternoon, succeeding a brisk thunderstorm. It caused considerable disturbance in the shipping of the harbor. Seven persons were drowned during the day.

THE DEAD.

Wm. Heiferlich, aged 91; Alexander Wilson, 21, and Maurice Silver, 27, were drowned in Long Island Sound, off Hunt's Point. They were in a small rowboat, which capsized during the gale.

Ernest Leifens, of New York, 22 years; David Kerr, of Mount Vernon, 45, and Hugh McDonald, of Mount Vernon, 37 years, were drowned off Hudson Park, on Long Island Sound, near New Rochelle. They were fishing, and while getting their lines ready McDonald slipped and fell overboard. In trying to get back he capsized the boat, and all the occupants went down. Their bodies were not recovered.

Dillingham Rover, 22 years, and employed in the office of a magazine in this city, was drowned in the Hackensack River, near Hackensack. He was out with Miss Ethel Tracy and Miss Helen Tracy, and in the strong wind the boat capsized. Ethel was saved by a man in another boat, and Rover and Helen began swimming for shore, the young man holding up the girl. A boat put out to them, but while Helen was being taken in Rover sank. His body was recovered two hours later.

TWENTY-SIX MISSING.

Mrs. Wm. Deckert called at a police station to ascertain if the police had heard anything about the sinking of or any accident to a launch belonging to ex-Ald. Charles Clark. Mrs. Deckert said her daughter, Ethel, age 19, and her son, Harold, 14 years old, were two of a party of 26 who went with Mr. Clark in his launch in the morning. The destination was not known. When the boat left the dock positive word was given that the return landing would be made at 5 p.m. As six hours and over had elapsed since that time Mrs. Deckert feared that the party had met with a mishap during the storm.

A Precious Boon for Invalids and Convalescents.

Malt Breakfast Food

Soothes the Weak Stomach and Nourishes the Body.

Relished by Child and Adult.

Malt Breakfast Food is pre-eminent-ly adapted for invalids and convalescents. It is retained on the weak stomach when all other forms of food are rejected. Its delicious flavor captivates the palate of every sick person, and gives an amount of nutriment that no other food can furnish. The great food value of Malt Breakfast Food is recognized by physicians generally. All Grocers.

There are 1,355 victims of smallpox in the hospitals of the Metropolitan Asylums Board, London.

Lever's Y-Z (Wise Head) Disinfectant Soap Powder is better than other soap powders, as it also acts as a disinfectant.

A German army physician declares he has discovered a serum which will cure even chronic rheumatism.

Externally or Internally, it is GOOD.—When applied externally by brisk rubbing, Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil opens the pores and penetrates the issue as few liniments do, touching the seat of the trouble, and immediately affording relief. Administered internally, it will still the irritation in the throat which induces coughing, and will cure affection of the bronchial tubes and respiratory organs. Try it and be convinced.

MANACLED MEN ROASTED ALIVE IN A BURNING SANITARIUM!

Horrible Scenes Enacted at a Fire in Chicago.

AT LEAST 13 MEN PERISHED

While 30 More Were Injured—Flames Climbed the Elevator and Cut Off Escape.

Chicago, June 10.—Twelve men and one woman were killed and about thirty persons were injured in a fire which yesterday afternoon destroyed the sanitarium conducted by the St. Luke's Society, at the corner of Wabash avenue and Twenty-first street. The society occupied the building, which was long known as the Hotel Woodruff, and for a brief period as the Hotel Lancaster. By far the greater portion of the patients received in the institution were those seeking cure from the drink habit, and those who were addicted to the use of drugs.

When the fire broke out there were on the fifth floor a number of patients suffering from delirium tremens and some who were deranged by drugs. Several of these were strapped to their beds, and it was found impossible to save them, so rapidly did the fire spread through the building.

THE DEATH ROLL.

The list as far as known is as follows: S. J. Newell, Carl A. Carlson, Michael Luby, Joseph Harrington, Samuel Dalzell, Dr. J. T. Stanton, J. B. Bishop, St. Louis, George A. Ribbeck, Hillsdale, Mich., C. S. Gott, Laverne, Ill., Wm. Kent, Alderman of the fourth ward, Chicago; John R. Knappman, Mrs. M. Baumann, E. H. Boyd, 78 years of age, and member of the medical staff of the institution.

STARTING OF THE FLAME.

The fire originated in the basement of the building and spread rapidly to the upper stories through the elevator shaft. The blaze was discovered by Jas. Newell, a grocer, who was driving through the alley in the rear of the building. He noticed smoke coming from the basement, and he tried to discover its cause. Behind the boilers in the center of the cellar, and within a few feet of the elevator shaft, he saw a small flame. The next instant the flames were caught by the draught in the elevator shaft, and carried up with a roar. Newell shouted to several men in the alley to give the alarm and to alarm the inmates of the building. Several hurried to do this, but by the time they reached the first floor of the building the flames had been carried to the roof, and had eaten through it and were leaping high in the air.

THE CRY OF "FIRE."

As the cry of fire rang through the building, patients sprang from their beds, and, coatless and shoeless, leaped several hundred feet from the windows to the pavement. The fire department was on the scene within a few minutes, and as the flames were filled with people shrieking for help, the firemen devoted their first efforts to save lives and allowed the fire to burn.

While this was the means of saving a large number of people who were carried down the ladders by the firemen, it gave the fire such headway that there was almost no chance for those on the upper floors of the building to make their escape, and such of them as were not suffocated were killed or badly injured by leaping from the windows.

PIERCED BATTLE FOR LIFE.

Ald. Kent was in a room on the fifth floor with his attendant, A. W. Wattles. The attendant, who has been totally blind for many years, was in a straight jacket and had been manacled to a belt that passed around his waist. When the alarm of fire was sounded Wattles ran to investigate, and he found the elevator filled with flames, and ran back to help the attendant, who was blind and unable to do anything with his hands, who was almost mad with fear, shouting like an insane person. He had groped his way to the door, and by the time his attendant had reached him, he had fallen to the floor overcome with smoke. Wattles seized him and tried to drag him down the hall to a place of safety, but Kent had become so crazed that he was almost impossible to do anything with him. Wattles was finally compelled to run for his life, as the flames were already scorching his clothing. He ran to a window on the south side of the building, across which were iron bars. Wattles managed to tear two of the bars from their fastenings, and the other men who had followed him climbed out on the sill. They were seen by the firemen, who called to them to remain where they were, and they would save them. A ladder was run up as fast as possible, and the two men and Wattles were taken down. Kent was left lying on the floor of his room, and evidently died of suffocation. Three hours after the outbreak of the fire the body was found on the floor of his room, one leg burned to a crisp and the head burned off. He was identified by means of his clothing.

AN AWFUL SCENE.

A scene that wrought to the pitch of madness the great crowd that had gathered around the building was enacted at a fourth-story window on the north side. Across the window was a heavy wire screen, and on the outside of the screen were iron bars running parallel to the sill. The space between these bars was too small to allow the passage of even a small boy, and behind them were gathered a crowd of men whose numbers were afterwards found to be between 25 and 30. Escape in other directions was impossible, for the fire filled all the halls, and was steadily eating its way toward the windows at which the men were standing. The ONE CHANCE FOR LIFE for that crowd of men lay through that screen and barred window. The men closest to the screen tore and tugged at it in a vain effort to tear it from its fastenings, and the men behind them fought madly to get close enough to the screen to fasten their fingers in it. So fiercely did the prisoners pull at the screen that from the street below were plainly visible the streams of blood that trickled from lacerated fingers and hands, and flowed over the window sill. A number of the men who were unable to get through the bars at the outside. As the flames came steadily toward the building the people in the street jumped up and down and screamed in helpless rage. It seemed as though nothing could be done, and that all of the men would die within six inches of freedom.

AN INSANE MOB.

The crowd in the street watching the desperate situation of the men behind the screen was simply an insane mob. They shouted all sorts of commands and directions at the men, and gave orders to the firemen, who were doing all that men could do to get through the bars at the outside. As the flames came steadily toward the building the people in the street jumped up and down and screamed in helpless rage. It seemed as though nothing could be done, and that all of the men would die within six inches of freedom.

TORE DOWN THE SCREEN.

That any of the men escaped at all is owing to the work of W. E. Davis, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, a patient in the institution. He induced the men to cease their disconnected pulling at the screen and to unite their efforts. Four men at first took hold of the screen, and in almost a minute the crowd behind them pushed them away, and before the four men could get to the screen again they were compelled to fight with their fists. Davis managed to get to the window again, and after a few desperate pulls they managed to tear down a portion of the screen. Nerved to the work by their success, the bodiless men swayed back and forth as they put all their strength into one last effort. The hands of one of the men were covered with blood, but he hung on and pulled at the screen as long as he was able. He did not live ten minutes unless the screen came down, and finally down it came, the men in their desperation pulling with it large pieces of mortar in which it was fastened.

ANOTHER BARRIER.

The screen gone, the bars remained, and they were heavy, placed there for the purpose of withstanding all the efforts of insane men, no matter how strong they might be. As many men as could get their hands on the bars took hold. It bent almost double, and six men went to the floor with a crash holding on to the iron bar which they had torn down the fastenings. So quickly did the men behind them spring to grasp the second bar that those who had torn down the first were badly trampled on before they could get to the second bar. The men in the rear, some of whom were already being burned by the flames, fought to get to the window.

A NEW DANGER.

Then a new danger assailed the prisoners. The crowd below, hearing that the shaft had been opened, and that the window were nearly forced through to meet death on the sidewalk, four floors below. The men at the window found it impossible to keep the window open, and the firemen could raise ladders, and the men in the rear, some of whom were already being burned by the flames, fought to get to the window.

A LEAP FOR LIFE.

The first man through was Dr. A. C. Anderson, of Chicago. He was in front of the window and Anderson's one hope was to reach the platform of a fire escape in front of a window which he saw was open. He hesitated for an instant; then sprang for the fire escape, clutched it, and was saved.

The next man through the window was G. S. Scott, of Laverne, Ill. Anderson was so much exhausted that he was unable to drag Gott after him, and Gott was so badly burned that he was unable to help himself. He crawled on the inside clambered for him to jump.

John Osborn, a real estate dealer, of New York city, was the third man. He crawled out beside Gott and cold the men inside to grasp his feet.

A LIVING CHAIN.

This they did, and telling Gott to take hold of his wrists and drop over the side, they formed a living chain, downward, swung Gott to and fro until he had acquired sufficient momentum and then swung him up and onto the platform.

THE ILLS OF WOMEN

A RELIABLE AND SAFE CURE FOR WOMANLY ILLS FOUND IN FERROZONE—REMEDY THAT ALWAYS GIVES SATISFACTION AND NEVER DISAPPOINTS.

If troubled with painful irregularities, dizziness, faintness, excitability, nervousness, remember there is a remedy that if regularly and persistently used will cure all these ills. Its name is Ferrozone.

It is used by thousands of women who have experienced its great strengthening powers, and they would not be without it for ten times its price. Ferrozone is primarily a blood-maker. It drives all impurities from the crimson fluid, makes it strong and capable of supplying nourishment to the body. It quiets the nerves, banishes excitability and headache.

By taking Ferrozone regularly you can keep free from those dreadful blackaches, and menstrual sickness will pass off regularly without pain or distress. Being prepared in tablet form, Ferrozone is both convenient and simple to use, and no uncertainty as to the proper quantity or dose can ever arise. A Montreal hospital nurse who has used Ferrozone herself, and has also the benefit that other suffering women have derived from it, writes: "I have nursed and treated all forms of female disorders, and from my personal experience must say that Ferrozone is a remedy about which all womankind should know. It is reliable, it is safe, and will give prompt and satisfactory results. As a builder of muscle and tissue, I know nothing to equal Ferrozone. I have found it of great value in cases where women consider it a splendid medicine for the blood and nerves. I have no hesitancy in endorsing Ferrozone." Don't continue to exist in a state of misery and weakness any longer. Ferrozone will make you strong and well just as it has done for thousands before you. All druggists recommend and sell Ferrozone at 50 cents a box, or three boxes for $1.25. Get a box to try from your druggist, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

the landing of the fire escape, where Dr. Anderson seized and held him, and he and Gott then formed a chain, Gott holding on to the fire escape and Anderson tightly held by Gott, with one hand reaching out toward the window, so that the men one by one could be lowered down. They were able to take one step on a ledge and make a short leap to the platform of the fire escape, after which they made their way to the ground.

Twenty-five men made their escape in this manner, and when the last one passed under the iron bar the building was a furnace close behind him. Anderson said that there were several men lying on the floor overcome by smoke when he left, and they all perished. It is doubtful if enough of their bodies will be found to enable them to be identified.

THRILLING SCENES OF RESCUE.

Meanwhile, thrilling scenes of rescue were enacted in front of the building on Wabash avenue and in the alley at the rear. The firemen ran into the building and dragged out a score of men and women who had been slightly overcome by smoke and were unable to find the doorways. The majority of these were able to walk away within a few minutes. The progress of the fire was so rapid that by the time the firemen arrived there were many people in the windows preparing to jump. While some of the firemen raised ladders in all haste, others prepared nets to catch those who might jump before they could be carried down by the firemen. About half a dozen sprang from the windows on the fourth and third floors and were caught in the nets without serious injury.

TIGHTENING-UP PROCESS

In the Anthracite Coal District Still Continues.

All Classes of Trade Unions Helping the Striking Miners.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 9.—The "tightening-up" process in the coal strike continues. All classes of trades unions in the hard coal belt have participated in helping the miners, and now the long-predicted move of the railroads in the region has begun.

At Freehold yesterday, the railroad men of the Delaware, Susquehanna and Schuylkill Railroad decided to refuse to handle trains carrying deputies, coal and iron police or non-union men.

The Lehigh Valley Company men met at the same town and will not handle coal which may be wanted to displace hard fuel, and at Kingston, Pa., the Lehigh Valley men refused to handle the hauling of coal and condemned the action of railroad conductors in acting as deputies.

ARBITRATION BOARD PROPOSED.

Chicago, June 9.—Alarmed by the disturbances that marked the strike of the packing house teamsters last week, employers have started a movement for the prevention of strikes, in the shape of an arbitration board. It is proposed that all difficulties that cannot be settled directly with the employers shall be submitted to a joint advisory body, composed of representatives from the employers' associations and the unions affiliated with the National Teamsters' Union for arbitration. The initiatory action will be taken this afternoon.

Montreal iron molders may strike for $2.50 a day.

J. Pierpont Morgan was hung in effigy in one of the streets of South Wilkesbarre by a crowd of men and boys.

The strike ordered by the United Mine Workers of America to take effect in West Virginia Saturday was much more complete in some districts than was expected, and less effective in others than expected. The strike affects not only the industries of this state, but also railway and Ohio River navigation. In the Pocahontas coal fields, ten mines closed down in that district.

A strike that may extend from the Mississippi River to the Pacific coast is imminent. The Great Northern Railway boltermakers at Hillary, a suburb of Spokane, who have made a demand for an increase in wages.

Washington, June 8.—According to Washington dispatches, Mr. Wright and Senator Hanna have had a conference with the president during the last two days on the strike situation in the anthracite field. Whether Mr. Wright carries a plan for peace is not known at this time.

THE DEMON, DYSPEPSIA.—In olden times it was a popular belief that demons moved invisibly through the ambient air, and entered into men and caused trouble. At the present time the demon dyspepsia is at large in the same way, seeking entrance into those who by careless or unwise living invite him. And once he enters a man it is difficult to dislodge him. That finds himself so possessed should know that a valiant friend to do battle for him with the unseen foe is Farmer's Vegetable Pills, which are ever ready for the trial.

String beans may be obtained during the entire summer by planting once a month for successive supplies.

MR. ROBERT SIMPKINS, HAD CATARRH OF THE STOMACH

"I AM WELL AND STRONG TODAY"

"Doctors Called It Appendicitis"—Pe-ru-na Cured.

Mr. Robert Simpkins, Portal, N. Dak., writes:

"About a year ago I was suffering with pains in my stomach and bowels and the doctors said that I had appendicitis, and that an operation was necessary. I was miserable, as I could neither eat nor sleep. I wrote to Dr. Hartman and he advised me to follow his directions, which I gladly did and today I am a well man, thanks to this wonderful medicine, Peruna. Peruna is the best thing on the market today for catarrh." Robert Simpkins.

Mr. R. M. Baker, a prominent citizen of Buckhead, Ga., writes in a recent letter his experience with Peruna to build up a broken down system. He says: "Some time ago I was troubled with catarrh of the stomach and spent lots of money in buying so-called catarrh medicines and paying doctor's bills. Peruna was recommended to me by a friend, and after taking a few bottles I am happy to say that I am entirely cured."

"I can recommend Peruna, because I believe it to be the best catarrh remedy on the market. My whole system was out of order and my health generally was very bad, but since taking Peruna I am now enjoying better health than I can ever remember, and fully believe that Peruna did the work. I shall advise my friends to take it."
