"I believe the Canadian apple to be the finest in the world." SIR GEO. E. FOSTER

Canadians! Enjoy Canada's National Fruit

Never before have you had the opportunity to enjoy the best Canadian Apples. Europe bid so high for the cream of our crop that Canadians have had to be content with "seconds" and inferior imported fruit.

Now that the war prevents Europe from getting our choicest apples, this Department is suggesting to the apple growers of Canada that they market their choicest product here in Canada—where it belongs. Now you may enjoy the great, luscious, ruddy-cheeked prize-winners of apple-dom on your table every day—fruit which in the past has graced the tables of Europe's nobility.

The crisp, sharp flavor and luscious sweetness of Canada's apples are unmatched. The health-giving qualities of this fruit have earned the favor of physicians the world over—and now we can match real luxury of enjoyment with economy. For this year's crop is abundant—and especially fine.

Join the 'Apple Consumers' League. Membership fee: One Canadian apple per day. Buy them by the barrel or the box. Let the children have as many as they want. Healthful, appetizing and a splendid preventative of children's digestive troubles.

Keep them at the office—one before luncheon and dinner is a far better appetizer than any cocktail. Serve them often—in any of the 209 ways they can be prepared.

APPLE LORE. The ancient Greeks prized the apple above all other fruits. The Hesperides, three maiden daughters of Erebus and Nox, were guardians together with Ladon, the hundred-headed dragon, of the tree bearing golden apples. Gathering these apples was the twelfth great labor of Hercules. The tree was presented by the Goddess Earth to Hera on her marriage with Zeus.

APPLE RECIPE. Just one of the 209 APPLES WITH OATMEAL. Core apples, leaving large cavities. Pare and cook in a syrup made by boiling one cup of sugar with 1 1/2 cups of water for five minutes. When apples are soft, drain and fill cavities with hot, well-cooked meal, and serve with cream and sugar.
