

WOMEN and THE HOME

ASK GIRLS OF 16 BE CHAPERONED

Citizenship Committee Forwards
Petition About Dance
Halls to Mayor.

A petition asking that girls under 16 years of age be prevented from attending public dancing places without a chaperon was recently forwarded to the London city council by the citizenship committee of the local council of women. As yet no action has been taken by that body.

The resolution was passed at a meeting of the citizenship committee in December last, but was not drawn up by the committee appointed for this purpose and forwarded to the city council until two weeks ago. The managers of the local dancing places have expressed themselves as in sympathy with the resolution. They say they do not wish the responsibility of looking after girls of this age.

The resolution reads as follows: "Whereas, there is no legislation to prevent girls under 16 years of age from attending, without a chaperon, public dance halls and dances conducted by managers of restaurants; and whereas, this is unsettling to the immature mind in fitting the girls for school work and home duties; and whereas, such attendance necessitates the girl being on the street at a late hour at night, and subjects them to dangers and temptations that take the fine edge off young womanhood; and whereas, the young girl naturally craves and looks for protection, she is apt to make chance acquaintances which oftentimes prove her life hindrance or perchance a ruined life."

"Therefore, the citizenship committee of the local council of women petitions the mayor and city council to pass a bylaw prohibiting girls under 16 from attending without a chaperon any public dance hall; and furthermore, that in order to protect the youth of the city from dangers equally great, that legislation be enacted whereby all public dance places be closed at midnight."

THE TOWN PUMP?
Special to The Advertiser.
New York, Feb. 2.—The town pump does not mean what it once did. Just now, when the town pump is spoken of, a short, vamped shoe is meant, with black leather toe, beige or tan counter, and heel and a black bow at the instep.

SCARFS ADORN COSTUMES OF EVERY POSSIBLE KIND

In Bathing Suit or Evening
Dress, Milady Wants to Wrap Her Neck.

WAIST LINE DROPS

By AILEEN LAMONT.
Special to The Advertiser.
Copyright.

New York, Feb. 1.—If Eve were alive today she would have made herself a fern neckpiece as well as a fig leaf apron. For ears now may be revealed, décolletés may be low, backs may be bare and skirts may be short—but the Adam's apple should not be unadorned. Chokers are cherished whether they consist of a string of beads, a scarf, a neckpiece of fur, or a woolen semblance of the same.

The number of high-necked, long-sleeved dresses is so remarkable that the trend is not to be mistaken. Scarfs are worn with practically every costume, from a boudoir robe to a bathing suit, and from sport dresses to low-necked evening frocks. But it is in fur and their imitations that the fashion makes itself most evident.

Women who spend time and thought on their costumes are buying the pelts themselves—sable, fox, squirrel and lynx—and having their chokers made from their own designs. In nearly every instance these neck covers are wrapped high, tight and close, with perhaps head, claws and tail forming the fastening at one side.

Some Made of Ribbons.
The winter resort costumes carry out these designs in the lighter summer furs. Some of the new scarfs are made of wide reversible ribbons joined together and fringed. Other scarfs are fastened close about the neck with ray colored leather flowers. A bow with a single loop serves the same purpose with others.

It is not essential that the scarfs have long ends. Some have only the proportions of a cravat, and are tied close about the throat with the same knot used for a navy neckerchief. The jewel chokers range from crystal

A Song of Dusk

When he comes home at twilight
I hear above the beat
Of hoof and heel on stone at steel.
His footfall in the street.

I see, though daylight darkened
And faded long before,
Across the gloom that fills my room
His dear face at the door.

When he comes in at twilight,
The world that seemed so vast
So broad outside, and wild and wide,
Shrinks very small at last—
Shut very safe and quiet,
From dangers and alarms.
A happy space, a sheltered place,
The circle of his arms!

—Nancy Byrd Turner in "Good Housekeeping."

beads to pearls and balls of gold and silver filigree.
The real novelty, however, is the snug fitting chokers knitted of zephyr wool in such a manner as to give the effect of a row of pom poms about the neck. These are made in the pastel and jewel shades so popular for spring frocks.

Waist Line Drops.
Only a few of the women who wear the high neckpieces have low waists, but all have low waists. The waist lines of the winter resort and spring dresses have fallen almost to the knee line. One society leader who is extremely short, commented today that she did not need a skirt at all since the waist line of the new dresses was already at the hem so far as she was concerned.

The feet below the hems today are more attractively shod than ever before, but the styles in shoes have shown no radical departures this winter. Sizes, however, have multiplied. Smart shops now carry in stock a range from 3-AAA to 10-EEEE. It is noticeable that the 2's seem to have disappeared. Probably the shoekeepers think that any woman lucky enough to be able to wear a 2-quad-4 A, ought not to resent paying $45 a pair to have her shoes made to order. Even asking for a 3 triple A is regarded in most circles as a trifle vulgarly ostentatious, like having two funnels on one's yacht.

So I Urge you, Anxious Widower, to hasten with your widow to the person. Don't let a ghost keep you from the happiness that may be yours.
—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—Should not a man who gets a good salary give his wife an allowance? I have been sick, and while I was ill my husband was perfectly willing to pay a girl $30 a month and her board to do his housework. But now that I am able to do the work again, he is not willing to give me the same amount of money that he paid to a servant.
What do you think of that?
—MRS. J. B. A.

Answer:
I think a man is the meanest sort of a tightwad who does not give his wife as big an allowance as he can afford for her own personal needs. Furthermore, he need not throw any bouquet at himself for being generous about it, either for every woman who does her own housework earns all she gets a dozen times over.

Why, if the average man had to pay somebody to do his wife's work he would have to pay for a cook, and a housemaid, and a nurse, and a governess, and a seamstress, and a laundress, and heaven knows what else besides! And that says nothing about what she saves him in patching, and turning, and mending, and using makeshifts that no servant would use.

Perhaps if you can make your husband see how unfair he is in refusing to give you even the wages of a cook for all that you do, he will realize how unjust he is to you and he will give you a little money of your own.
—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am 19 years of age, and have been married nearly four years. My husband and I are perfectly happy together, and he is good, kind and generous to me, but I am treated by every one, husband included, as a child. People always say: "Now, a child like you—"

My husband spoils me, and it pleases him that I am babyfied; but do you think that I should act more grown-up and sophisticated, or keep on being just a child? BABYISH.

Answer:
If you please your husband and are happy why change?
—DOROTHY DIX.

WOMAN'S LIFE SAVED
AS CLOTHING BURNED
Mrs. W. T. Pegg Has Narrow
Escape at Farm Home
Near Blenheim.

Special to The Advertiser.
Blenheim, Feb. 1.—Mrs. W. T. Pegg nearly lost her life by fire at her home about two miles from town on concession 2, W. C. R. Harwich.

Mrs. Pegg had been using gasoline to clean some clothing. She passed by a hot stove carrying some of the clothing in her hands, and it is thought the evaporating gas took fire. Mrs. Pegg was instantly enveloped in flames. Her daughter seized some loose matting and wrapped it about her mother, but the articles of clothing burned furiously, and the women had to hasten from the room. A son, Harry, rushed to the rescue with a small fire extinguisher and succeeded in extinguishing the flames and saving the house.

FURS IN THE RIVIERA.
Special to The Advertiser.
Monte Carlo, Feb. 2.—Fur has not entirely disappeared from the wraps worn in the sun-baked Riviera. Lady De Bathe, for example, wears a white Kaasha coat with a very narrow edging of leopard skin around collar, cuffs, front and hem. The skirts of the coat are covered with quilted embroidery.

Dorothy Dix

Should the Wishes of a Dead
Husband Prevent Remarriage?—The Wife Whose Husband Won't Give Her
Even Servant's Wages
—Should She Remain
"Babyish?"

Dear Miss Dix—I am a lonely widower, 65 years of age. I know and admire very much a widow, who is about 58. We have known each other forty years, and have always admired each other greatly. I have asked her to marry me, and she would gladly accept my offer, only that when her husband was dying he asked her not to marry again, and she feels that somehow it would be disloyal to him for her to take another husband. Do you think that the wishes of her dead husband should stand between us and our happiness?

ANXIOUS WIDOWER.

Answer:
Certainly not. It is foolish to let the dead rule the living. Even if the woman gave a promise to her husband not to marry again, it is better broken than kept. Doubtless, if the spirit of her dead husband could speak to her it would urge her to marry and be happy again.

For it is nothing but jealousy and selfishness that prompts men and women to make their husbands and wives swear to keep up a perpetual mourning for them and never to form new ties, and these human weaknesses and limitations are buried with us in our graves.

So I urge you, Anxious Widower, to hasten with your widow to the person. Don't let a ghost keep you from the happiness that may be yours.
—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—Should not a man who gets a good salary give his wife an allowance? I have been sick, and while I was ill my husband was perfectly willing to pay a girl $30 a month and her board to do his housework. But now that I am able to do the work again, he is not willing to give me the same amount of money that he paid to a servant.
What do you think of that?
—MRS. J. B. A.

Answer:
I think a man is the meanest sort of a tightwad who does not give his wife as big an allowance as he can afford for her own personal needs. Furthermore, he need not throw any bouquet at himself for being generous about it, either for every woman who does her own housework earns all she gets a dozen times over.

Why, if the average man had to pay somebody to do his wife's work he would have to pay for a cook, and a housemaid, and a nurse, and a governess, and a seamstress, and a laundress, and heaven knows what else besides! And that says nothing about what she saves him in patching, and turning, and mending, and using makeshifts that no servant would use.

Perhaps if you can make your husband see how unfair he is in refusing to give you even the wages of a cook for all that you do, he will realize how unjust he is to you and he will give you a little money of your own.
—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am 19 years of age, and have been married nearly four years. My husband and I are perfectly happy together, and he is good, kind and generous to me, but I am treated by every one, husband included, as a child. People always say: "Now, a child like you—"

My husband spoils me, and it pleases him that I am babyfied; but do you think that I should act more grown-up and sophisticated, or keep on being just a child? BABYISH.

Answer:
If you please your husband and are happy why change?
—DOROTHY DIX.

WOMAN'S LIFE SAVED
AS CLOTHING BURNED
Mrs. W. T. Pegg Has Narrow
Escape at Farm Home
Near Blenheim.

Special to The Advertiser.
Blenheim, Feb. 1.—Mrs. W. T. Pegg nearly lost her life by fire at her home about two miles from town on concession 2, W. C. R. Harwich.

Mrs. Pegg had been using gasoline to clean some clothing. She passed by a hot stove carrying some of the clothing in her hands, and it is thought the evaporating gas took fire. Mrs. Pegg was instantly enveloped in flames. Her daughter seized some loose matting and wrapped it about her mother, but the articles of clothing burned furiously, and the women had to hasten from the room. A son, Harry, rushed to the rescue with a small fire extinguisher and succeeded in extinguishing the flames and saving the house.

FURS IN THE RIVIERA.
Special to The Advertiser.
Monte Carlo, Feb. 2.—Fur has not entirely disappeared from the wraps worn in the sun-baked Riviera. Lady De Bathe, for example, wears a white Kaasha coat with a very narrow edging of leopard skin around collar, cuffs, front and hem. The skirts of the coat are covered with quilted embroidery.

Social and Personal

Mr. Walter Rennie was a week-end guest with Mr. and Mrs. Harry

Mrs. V. D. Morris, Wortley road, entertained informally at mah jong on Saturday evening.

Miss Grace Gibberd, Mill street, was a week-end guest with Miss Florence Chambers, in Bradford.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Gallagher, Hellmuth avenue, were guests last week with relatives in Hamilton.

Mrs. J. J. Foot, Dufferin avenue, left yesterday for St. John, New Brunswick.

Mrs. Charles Ead, Dufferin avenue, has been a recent guest with her mother, Mrs. William Meek, and other friends in St. Thomas.

Mrs. C. A. Skelton has returned to her home in Hamilton, after a delightful visit to the city this week-end.

Dean Sherwood Fox was in Kingston Saturday night, addressing the guests at the annual arts society dinner at Queen's university.

Mr. John Gay, of the military hospital in this city, has been a visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gay, in Marden.

Mrs. (Dr.) D. A. Maxwell of Kingsville has returned home after spending a week at the home of her son, Mr. M. M. Maxwell, Cove road.

Mr. Seymour Pepper, of the staff of the east end branch of the Bank of Montreal, has been transferred to the Hamilton branch as manager.

Miss Pearl Selgrist, of "Kumonin," Wilton Grove, has left for Owen Sound, where she will be a guest with her brother and other friends.

Mrs. J. S. Niven, Colborne street, will be a guest with her daughter, Mrs. Torrence Beardmore, in Toronto, is expected home this week.

Mrs. W. D. Beamer, Oxford street, returned on Saturday from Chatham, where she has enjoyed a delightful visit, the guest of Mrs. J. E. Perkins.

Mr. Delmar Lewis of Osgoode hall, Toronto, spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Harry Lewis, coming to town for the Osgoode-Western game on Saturday night.

Rev. A. E. Jones, of Victoria avenue Methodist church, Chatham, will be a guest in the city this week-end, when he will take the services at the Centennial Methodist church.

Mrs. Charles Salmon leaves shortly for Montreal to be a guest with Mr. P. J. B. going on later to Sherbrooke, Quebec, where she will visit her sister, Mrs. P. F. Doyle.

Mr. Carson Mateer, of Toronto, who spoke at the rally services in the Southern Congregational church, was a guest with Mr. A. Garwood, princess avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bridgman and small son Ray left on Saturday for their home in Winnipeg after a delightful visit with relatives and friends in London and Windsor.

The Winter Sports club, of the University of Western Ontario, have arranged a sleighride party for Wednesday evening to Katie Park, where dancing and supper will be enjoyed.

Mrs. A. J. Slack, Belgrave Place, will be the hostess of the regular meeting of the Nicholas Wilson chapter, O. J. E. E., entertaining the members at her home tomorrow afternoon.

The employees of the Service Lamp Company are arranging a sleighride party for this evening, when after a tour of the city, they will return to the home of Miss Dorothy Ritchie, Salisbury street.

Mrs. Firman Warwick, formerly Miss Marquerite Gibson, is a guest with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gibson, Central avenue. Mrs. Warwick is leaving tomorrow afternoon for her new home in Philadelphia.

Rev. A. E. M. Thomson, of Chatham and Wallaceburg this week-end to speak on evangelism and social service work, taking the morning service in Park street church, Chatham.

Miss Mary McGeachie, B.A., of Toronto, will be a guest with Miss Isabel Griffiths, Dundas street, while she is in town attending the Presbyterian young people's rally on Feb. 9, when she will be one of the speakers on that occasion.

Among the first of the Valentine parties will be the tea given by the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's church will give in the church parlors on Feb. 2, with Mrs. John White as general co-ordinator. Later in the season the ladies will present the play, "Martha Made Over."

A delightful event of last week was the bridge on Saturday afternoon, which was given by the Alumnae association of the University of Western Ontario at the small hall & Ingram tearoom in aid of their scholarship fund. Miss Marion Wright, the president, welcomed the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson, Adelaide street, entertained on Saturday afternoon in honor of the 7th birthday of their son, Douglas. Covers were laid for 12. The following little guests were invited to the party: Ruth Detwiler, Vivian Ellis, Beula Proctor, Marion McNaughton, Laird Proctor, Leonard Cobbin Jack and Vera Smith. Keith Macdonald, Edwin Everingham, and Lloyd Saker.

Complimenting Miss Lillian Denike, a bride-elect of tomorrow afternoon, Miss Myra Vincent entertained about 25 of her girl friends at her home on Grey street when they tendered her a linen shower. The pretty and useful gifts were brought in by little Miss Lillian Dickins, dressed as a bride, in a prettily decorated basket tied with ribbon. During the afternoon tea was served by the hostess.

Effective Means of Reducing Fat

Here is an extraordinary method of reducing weight—extraordinary because no starvation diets or violent exercises are necessary. Marmola Prescription Tablets are made exactly in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription. They reduce you steadily and easily, with no ill effects. Procure them from your druggist at one dollar for a box, or send price direct to the Marmola Company, General Motors Building, Detroit, Mich. Once you start taking these tablets and losing your fatness, you will be happy again. Adv.

LONDON
Optical Co.

DOMINION
HARDWARE

DOMINION
HARDWARE

DOMINION
HARDWARE

DOMINION
HARDWARE

DOMINION
HARDWARE

DOMINION
HARDWARE

DOMINION
HARDWARE

DOMINION
HARDWARE

DOMINION
HARDWARE

DOMINION
HARDWARE

DOMINION
HARDWARE

DOMINION
HARDWARE

DOMINION
HARDWARE

when she was assisted by Miss Muriel Land.

Mrs. J. C. Beemer, Victoria street, recently entertained the members of the ways and means and the social committee of St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid at her home, when interesting plans for the future were discussed over the tea cups. Arrangements were made to hold a series of Monday afternoon teas for the Ladies' Aid at the homes of the members, and Mrs. W. A. Martin gave the first invitation for Feb. 9, when she will open her charming home on Colborne street to the ladies.

Mrs. H. O. Clark of St. John, N.B., who is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. W. Sweet, Central avenue, is a much feted guest. Mrs. A. E. Cooper entertained at bridge in her honor last week, and bridge hostesses this week are Mrs. C. A. Whitman, who entertains tonight, Mrs. J. A. E. Braden on Wednesday, Miss Lillian Johnston this afternoon, and Mrs. Harry Clowes on Friday night. Mrs. Seale Holmes is giving a dinner party on Tuesday night and Mrs. Gordon Cooper a small tea this week.

Master Harold Jackson of Windsor was a week-end guest with Mr. and Mrs. E. Hill, Becher street, coming to town for the South London collegiate exercises, held last Friday evening, when he was presented with the gold medal for art. This is the second medal he has received through the school during 1924, winning the other for highest honors in the boys' choral voices contest at the Boys' Hobby Fair.

Master Jackson now holds the position of boy baritone soloist at the Central Methodist church in Windsor.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Amers, Base Line, were the hosts of a delightful snow-shoe party and dance on Saturday night. Following a tramp through the Highland Golf club links the party returned to the house for a hot supper and dancing. The party was given in honor of two house guests, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wing, of Kitchener. Other guests present included Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Standback, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Colgan, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McCall, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hurley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Walsh.

The Ontario agricultural college conversation was a brilliant event in Guelph last Friday evening. Nearly eight hundred guests were present and among them were several of London's younger set. The hall was beautifully decorated in the school colors, blue and red, and the color scheme was carried out by myriads of balloons and festoons gracefully depending from the ceiling in the center and corners of the rooms, while flowers, ferns and palms made an artistic background. The guests were received by President J. A. Reynolds, Mrs. Fuller, Miss Cruickshank, Dr. Annie Ross and Miss Carria McKell.

Mrs. C. W. Sweet, Central avenue, entertained on Saturday afternoon at a children's party in honor of her small daughter, Marion. The youthful hostess wore a fluffy frock of jade green silk. Supper was served from an attractive table centered with a bowl of pink roses and pink candles in silver sticks. Pink streamers were brought from the dome light above, forming a canopy over the table. Pink place cards were used and tiny pink baskets of candy as favors. A pink and green color Casselman and Doris Hayman.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Amers, Base Line, were the hosts of a delightful snow-shoe party and dance on Saturday night. Following a tramp through the Highland Golf club links the party returned to the house for a hot supper and dancing. The party was given in honor of two house guests, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wing, of Kitchener. Other guests present included Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Standback, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Colgan, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McCall, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hurley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Walsh.

The Ontario agricultural college conversation was a brilliant event in Guelph last Friday evening. Nearly eight hundred guests were present and among them were several of London's younger set. The hall was beautifully decorated in the school colors, blue and red, and the color scheme was carried out by myriads of balloons and festoons gracefully depending from the ceiling in the center and corners of the rooms, while flowers, ferns and palms made an artistic background. The guests were received by President J. A. Reynolds, Mrs. Fuller, Miss Cruickshank, Dr. Annie Ross and Miss Carria McKell.

Mrs. C. W. Sweet, Central avenue, entertained on Saturday afternoon at a children's party in honor of her small daughter, Marion. The youthful hostess wore a fluffy frock of jade green silk. Supper was served from an attractive table centered with a bowl of pink roses and pink candles in silver sticks. Pink streamers were brought from the dome light above, forming a canopy over the table. Pink place cards were used and tiny pink baskets of candy as favors. A pink and green color Casselman and Doris Hayman.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Amers, Base Line, were the hosts of a delightful snow-shoe party and dance on Saturday night. Following a tramp through the Highland Golf club links the party returned to the house for a hot supper and dancing. The party was given in honor of two house guests, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wing, of Kitchener. Other guests present included Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Standback, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Colgan, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McCall, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hurley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Walsh.

The Ontario agricultural college conversation was a brilliant event in Guelph last Friday evening. Nearly eight hundred guests were present and among them were several of London's younger set. The hall was beautifully decorated in the school colors, blue and red, and the color scheme was carried out by myriads of balloons and festoons gracefully depending from the ceiling in the center and corners of the rooms, while flowers, ferns and palms made an artistic background. The guests were received by President J. A. Reynolds, Mrs. Fuller, Miss Cruickshank, Dr. Annie Ross and Miss Carria McKell.

Mrs. C. W. Sweet, Central avenue, entertained on Saturday afternoon at a children's party in honor of her small daughter, Marion. The youthful hostess wore a fluffy frock of jade green silk. Supper was served from an attractive table centered with a bowl of pink roses and pink candles in silver sticks. Pink streamers were brought from the dome light above, forming a canopy over the table. Pink place cards were used and tiny pink baskets of candy as favors. A pink and green color Casselman and Doris Hayman.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Amers, Base Line, were the hosts of a delightful snow-shoe party and dance on Saturday night. Following a tramp through the Highland Golf club links the party returned to the house for a hot supper and dancing. The party was given in honor of two house guests, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wing, of Kitchener. Other guests present included Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Standback, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Colgan, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McCall, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hurley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Walsh.

The Ontario agricultural college conversation was a brilliant event in Guelph last Friday evening. Nearly eight hundred guests were present and among them were several of London's younger set. The hall was beautifully decorated in the school colors, blue and red, and the color scheme was carried out by myriads of balloons and festoons gracefully depending from the ceiling in the center and corners of the rooms, while flowers, ferns and palms made an artistic background. The guests were received by President J. A. Reynolds, Mrs. Fuller, Miss Cruickshank, Dr. Annie Ross and Miss Carria McKell.

Mrs. C. W. Sweet, Central avenue, entertained on Saturday afternoon at a children's party in honor of her small daughter, Marion. The youthful hostess wore a fluffy frock of jade green silk. Supper was served from an attractive table centered with a bowl of pink roses and pink candles in silver sticks. Pink streamers were brought from the dome light above, forming a canopy over the table. Pink place cards were used and tiny pink baskets of candy as favors. A pink and green color Casselman and Doris Hayman.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Amers, Base Line, were the hosts of a delightful snow-shoe party and dance on Saturday night. Following a tramp through the Highland Golf club links the party returned to the house for a hot supper and dancing. The party was given in honor of two house guests, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wing, of Kitchener. Other guests present included Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Standback, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Colgan, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McCall, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hurley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Walsh.

The Ontario agricultural college conversation was a brilliant event in Guelph last Friday evening. Nearly eight hundred guests were present and among them were several of London's younger set. The hall was beautifully decorated in the school colors, blue and red, and the color scheme was carried out by myriads of balloons and festoons gracefully depending from the ceiling in the center and corners of the rooms, while flowers, ferns and palms made an artistic background. The guests were received by President J. A. Reynolds, Mrs. Fuller, Miss Cruickshank, Dr. Annie Ross and Miss Carria McKell.

Mrs. C. W. Sweet, Central avenue, entertained on Saturday afternoon at a children's party in honor of her small daughter, Marion. The youthful hostess wore a fluffy frock of jade green silk. Supper was served from an attractive table centered with a bowl of pink roses and pink candles in silver sticks. Pink streamers were brought from the dome light above, forming a canopy over the table. Pink place cards were used and tiny pink baskets of candy as favors. A pink and green color Casselman and Doris Hayman.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Amers, Base Line, were the hosts of a delightful snow-shoe party and dance on Saturday night. Following a tramp through the Highland Golf club links the party returned to the house for a hot supper and dancing. The party was given in honor of two house guests, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wing, of Kitchener. Other guests present included Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Standback, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Colgan, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McCall, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hurley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Walsh.

The Ontario agricultural college conversation was a brilliant event in Guelph last Friday evening. Nearly eight hundred guests were present and among them were several of London's younger set. The hall was beautifully decorated in the school colors, blue and red, and the color scheme was carried out by myriads of balloons and festoons gracefully depending from the ceiling in the center and corners of the rooms, while flowers, ferns and palms made an artistic background. The guests were received by President J. A. Reynolds, Mrs. Fuller, Miss Cruickshank, Dr. Annie Ross and Miss Carria McKell.

Mrs. C. W. Sweet, Central avenue, entertained on Saturday afternoon at a children's party in honor of her small daughter, Marion. The youthful hostess wore a fluffy frock of jade green silk. Supper was served from an attractive table centered with a bowl of pink roses and pink candles in silver sticks. Pink streamers were brought from the dome light above, forming a canopy over the table. Pink place cards were used and tiny pink baskets of candy as favors. A pink and green color Casselman and Doris Hayman.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Amers, Base Line, were the hosts of a delightful snow-shoe party and dance on Saturday night. Following a tramp through the Highland Golf club links the party returned to the house for a hot supper and dancing. The party was given in honor of two house guests, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wing, of Kitchener. Other guests present included Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Standback, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Colgan, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McCall, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hurley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Walsh.

The Ontario agricultural college conversation was a brilliant event in Guelph last Friday evening. Nearly eight hundred guests were present and among them were several of London's younger set. The hall was beautifully decorated in the school colors, blue and red, and the color scheme was carried out by myriads of balloons and festoons gracefully depending from the ceiling in the center and corners of the rooms, while flowers, ferns and palms made an artistic background. The guests were received by President J. A. Reynolds, Mrs. Fuller, Miss Cruickshank, Dr. Annie Ross and Miss Carria McKell.

Mrs. C. W. Sweet, Central avenue, entertained on Saturday afternoon at a children's party in honor of her small daughter, Marion. The youthful hostess wore a fluffy frock of jade green silk. Supper was served from an attractive table centered with a bowl of pink roses and pink candles in silver sticks. Pink streamers were brought from the dome light above, forming a canopy over the table. Pink place cards were used and tiny pink baskets of candy