"Here's an oven that is as easy to clean as the top of your piano"

AS SHOWN in the illustration all oven parts, in the new Hotpoint Ranges, are removable leaving only the enamelled walls with their smooth rounded corners.

The Hotpoint patented Sheathed-Wire Oven Element is an all metal construction. There are no exposed live wires and no fragile porcelain parts. The boiling over of liquids has no effect upon this new type of element, in fact it may be scrubbed if necessary.

Hotpoint Indestructible Sheathed-Wire Elements, owing to their metal construction, are the fastest protected elements made.

EDITOR'S MAIL

To The Editor of The Graphic,

Dear Sir:—
I see by the Graphic that the architect was in Dalhousie in the interests of the New Court House. I suppose he saw lots of snow and nothing doing. Is it not a remarkable thing that the Building Committee or whoever is running this unfortunate County could not have told the Contractor that there was no need or common sense in rushing that building to completion, owing to the time of the season it was started, and the way it was started, that is to say, without funds. It was evident to every man who cared, and took an interest in the affairs of his County that if that work was continued in winter that it could not be as substantial in every way, and would cost some thousands of dollars more. Why did the Building Committee take the Contractors into their confidence and say to them, we can give you all the next summer to build this House and when you complete the foundation you can close up the work for the winter. I saw them hauling brick on sleds in a snowstorm and piled outside and in now full of ice and snow and will be unfit to lay when the weather is suitable to begin work.

If the contractor had been advised that longer time could be given they could have secured their quantity of brick in kilns or in stock and have them coming as required, clean and fit to lay. I am sure the contractors will agree to all I say and would be delighted if this proposition had been made at the right time. There is not a man you meet that thinks this building should be rushed to completion against weather conditions. It is childish. I suppose they are in haste to see how that lovely building will look when completed—half white and half red. That is something that has to be changed. There is not a man I meet that does not think as I do. They say if that building is carried out in that way it will be the oldest building in British North America.

I read an article in the Graphic lately and approved of by the Editor to the effect that the reason Restigouche was not getting its rights was that the people did all their growling at home and about the street corners. That's the truest saying that has been said for some time. I have had several letters complimenting me on my contention on the Court House and so far no one has the courage or thinks it their duty or privilege to say a word either for or against. Has the architect or Building Committee or both nothing to say? They think that although the people of this County are quiet, that they are harmless. They all look forward to a day of reckoning and will be right on the ground. Will any man among the bunch come out above his own name and say that Building will look right in two different colors? This is a fair challenge.

Trusting that you will give space in your valuable paper,

Yours truly,
JOHN DICKIE,
Point La Nis.

Editor of The Graphic,

Dear Sir:—

I notice an add in your good paper inserted by Mr. Allan LeBlanc, of taxing five dollars a head for laborers working in the County of Restigouche. So far I have no objection to taxing laborers coming in. This is a matter which I have been thinking of for the past number of years, and I would say the best way to do is tax each parish by itself and have that money collected and spent in the parish in which it was collected and not go into the pot with the other tax money of which some places get the benefit and are not entitled to it. More than that this matter should be considered by level headed people because there have been very foolish moves made in the past few years. The dogs are laughing at the dog taxes and sheep are bleating and trembling with fear, the horses are wondering what happened to the sled shafts shifting business with posters announced had to be done last fall. If the tax is a just one and every one taxed according to his wages, this will be all right. Thanking you for valuable space.

Yours truly,
JOHN J. CONNORS,
Atholville, N. B.

Dear Sir:—

We thought when the Royal Commission on pulpwood made its report which was not in favor of Embargo that the Government would decide to leave well enough alone. But the Pulp and Paper mill owners are bound to have the embargo passed.

They are spending money on advertisements in favor of Embargo and pretending that it will make more work for Canadian people but I say that it will practically ruin many families in the Matapedia Valley where they depend upon the pulpwood business for a good portion of their living.

The Canadian Mills were never willing to pay a decent price for the farmers wool, and I am sure that the Report of the Royal Commission why they give them full control of the price without opposition or competition? If they want the farmers wool they can always buy it in the open market.

I would like if you kindly would publish this letter and I am sure that it speaks for many farmers in this Valley.

Yours truly,
JAS. M. DORON Matapedia, P. Q.

SOME POINTS OF THE U. S. LAW

Canadian Club of Boston Issues
Explanatory Statement on
U. S. Immigration Law

Because of the wide spread misunderstanding among Canadians both in the United States and Canada regarding the present United States Immigration Laws relating to Canada, the Canadian Club of Boston, through its President, A. M. Johnson, has issued the following statement in an endeavor to make the essential points of these laws as clear as possible.

The privilege granted to Canadians under the United States Immigration Laws of 1917 whereby Canadians have been permitted to come to the United States on a visit for a period of six months without the payment of head tax, is continued under the present United States Immigration Act which became effective July 1, 1924.

Unfortunately, this privilege has been taken advantage of. The law has been violated—often times unwittingly, sometimes deliberately—by a large number of persons in that they agreed to return to Canada within six months but did not do so.

It is apparent that such persons do not realize the penalties they must inevitably incur for violating this temporary stay privilege. Under the present laws persons who come to the United States under this six months temporary stay privilege, paying neither head tax nor visa, and who do not return to Canada within six months as they agreed, are liable to severe penalties. They are as follows:

1. After the expiration of their six months' stay they are liable to arrest and deportation to Canada and persons so deported are prohibited from re-entering the United States for one year.

2. The head tax of $8.00 and visa of $10.00 cannot be paid in the United States, but such persons must return to Canada and appear before the United States consul of the district in which they reside and obtain a visa. They must pay a headtax at the recognized point of exit in Canada.

In the Maritime Provinces there are three—Yarmouth, Nova Scotia; Halifax, Nova Scotia and St. John, New Brunswick.

3. No person may become a citizen of the United States or take out first papers who is entering the United States has not complied with the United States Immigration Laws. If it has not been done one must return to Canada, pay the head tax and visa and thus legally re-enter the United States before making application for citizenship.

When persons are not absolutely sure of returning to Canada within the six months period it is strongly advisable to obtain visa and pay the head tax before leaving Canada. This will save a possible trip back to Canada.

Further, it cannot be overemphasized that the temporary stay privilege is a special concession to Canadians, which is not enjoyed by the people of any other country. That its continuance may not be endangered the laws covering it should be strictly complied with. Canada also enjoys another unusual concession in that its citizens are not placed under a quota. Were the continued violations of present laws to bring about a quota upon Canada, such as now exists with all other countries, it would be indeed very unfortunate. Only a limited number of Canadians would then be permitted to enter the United States each year. This might tend to impair the cordial intercourse between these two great countries.

Because of the number of times which the Canadian Club of Boston is called upon for information on this important question affecting so many of our own people, the Club feels that there is need for greater publicity on this matter. It seeks in a friendly way to help Canadians, whose reputation for complying with the Law is firmly established, and also the United States Immigration authorities who are anxious to have the fundamental features of this Law generally understood. To this end a special Immigration Committee has been appointed. All of its efforts conform with the vital purpose of this Club which lies in promoting "friendly relations, based upon mutual understanding between all English speaking peoples."

MAN THE MURDERER

(A pink-headed duck, a species now almost extinct, has been obtained for the American Museum of Natural History. The expedition securing the specimen numbered 200 men with guns and elephants, who scoured the jungles of Northern India three years for an opportunity to shoot it.) Perhaps this was the last survivor of the species. Large flocks of these non-migratory birds used to be found in northern India, but when the native pot hunters got firearms destruction was rapid. They have gone the way of the dodo, the solitaire, the Labrador duck, the Carolina parakeet, the passenger pigeon. We are impressed by the remark of the owner of a bird refuge in Canada. "It is the human being, that is wild," he says. "You never saw a bird fly away from an animal, or from those few men who have the patience and kindness to court their friendship."
