A STEAM BARGE GOES DOWN WITH

PORT HURON, Mich., Dec. 10 .- Four weeks ago the steambarge Enterprise went shore near Cockburn island. The tug Balize of Detroit went to release her. Every care was taken and all went well until Point au Barques was reached, when the Enterprise's steamwhistle sounded. The Balize was stopped, the boat lowered, and his the towline cut. But before the Enterprise could be reached she went down. Pat Quinn of Detroit reached the side of the tug but his hands being greasy be could ot hold the rope and was lost, as well as J. McGraw of Oswego, Chas. Carbery, Dan Jones, Windsor, Chas. Williams, Chicago, and two firemen, names unknown. John Carbery, father of Charles, was picked up but died in five minutes. Mrs. Peters, cook, Wm. Samson, Windsor, Fred. Wagner, Buffalo, Arthur Metege, Ontario, and Wm. Burk, Lindsay, were saved. Peter Lyon, Sarnia, Ont., was picked up, but is so badly hurt that his life is despaired of. He

The great feature of this case is the chort space of time the boat sank in. All short space of time the boat sank in. All the rescued say that she just opened out and went down with one plunge. She was owned by McLennan of Port Arthur, who paid nine thousand dollars for her last August. She was insured for seven in the Big Four. John Williams of Windsor, captain of the Enterprise, did not come on the wreck. He is accused of saying that he knew she was going on the rocks. He afterwards refused the help of the tugs sel. Others claim that he used the riche steamer Jennie to take a full load freight off the Enterprise while ashore and attempted to get away with it at Sarnia, Windsor and Detroit.

IS TYPHOID CONTAGIOUS?

An Interesting Medical Case before the Hamilton Police Magistrate.
HAMILTON, Dec. 1.—A rather important case as regards medical men was tried at the police court to-day. Dr. Ryall, medical health officer, summoned Dr. Leslie for not making registration of a contagious disease, the said disease being typhoid disease, the said disease being typhoid fever. Two of the principal points involved in the case were, whether typhoid fever is contagious, and whether it is the duty of a physician to register the name of the disease from which his patient is suffering. Dr. Leslie, Dr. White and Dr. Mac-Kelcan all stated emphatically that typhoid fever is not contagious, and gave authority other hand, declared that certain forms of the fever are contagious. As to the other point, the magistrate said he did not think it was necessary for a physician to register the particular disease which he is treating, but that, according to the statute, it was his duty to register it if, in his opinion, it was contagious and dangerous to the public health. Dr. Ryall, on the contrary, said it was the duty of the physician to register the exact disease; else the registration was useless. The magistrate was of opinion useless. The magistrate was of opinion to the following the declared that took out Rost and Hoffechter, are and took out Rost and Hoffechter, are the for burglary. They demanded that they should give the names of their confederates in numerous burglaries recently, for be hanged. They refused and were strung up. When nearly dead they were let down again asked to give the names. They said they could not and were again hung up. The mob then left. The watchman cut the men down but thoy are still in a critical condition. useless. The magistrate was of opinion that Dr. Leslie had not complied with the law, but no punishment was inflicted in the

Fourteen Karmless Looking Packages

MONTREAL, Dec. 10.-Joseph Brunnette, a rag-picker, on Friday last, while rummaging about the establishment of Daoust Bros., corner of Roy and St. Lawrence streets, put fourteen little rolls, each about four inches long, in his bag and made off with them. These harmless looking packages were nothing less than dynamite cartridges for blasting purposes, which had been left there by Mr. Bastien, the contractor, in order to be kept cool. The police were informed of the states and Rrangette was arrested Contractor, in order to be kept contractor. The police were informed of the matter and Brunnette was arrested next day. The cartridges however could not be found and for a long time the prisoner denied his guilt. Finally he confessed that he had sold them to Madame Cabana, a second-hand dealer of St. Lawrence street. The constable ascertained that this woman had purchased them not knowing their deadly contents, and they were handed over at once. They were produced in court this morning and created a decided sensation, the magistrate ordering them to be taken to the central police station, but the chief of police refused to receive them. The prisoner was remanded until to morrow.

GRAVEYARD INSURANCE. Diabolical Scheme Uncarthed at Fall

FALL RIVER, Dec. 10.—It is said there has been a collusion between medical examiners, agents and others for two years in a graveyard insurance scheme. Brokendown drunkards, consumptives and unhealthy persons have been insured for sums ranging from $1000 to $5000, and physicians, agents and others would hold the policies till the death of the insured and policies till the death of the insured and pocket the insurance or sell the policies to runsellers, who would give the victims enough rum to hasten their death and then collect the insurance. A suspected physician and agent left the city recently.
