Britain is contracting for shells to be delivered pext year. Who said the war would be over by September?

Emperor William looks for anothen war after the conclusion of the present conflict. When Wilhelm present conflict. gets through with this little matter, he'll hate the word war.

The greatest enemy of the forest is and always has been, fire, says Conservation. It has been estimated that the average annual forest fire loss in this country is sufficient to pay the interest on the recent Dominion loan of $100,000,000.

Church Times-The war has forced us into a greater simplicity of living, and even if a reaction from strain to levity should follow, will at any rate have taught us that there are many things that we thought indispensable which we can very well do without. We shall never return to the status quo ante bellum. The competitive racket and rush of life threatened to drive the world mad. It gasps with relief to find itself delivered from itself. The hope dawns of a return to simplicity. And we have begun by eating and drinking less.

Up at Windsor there is a city ordinance compelling young people to get off the streets before nine o'clock and the child disobeying the bylaw is not punished, but the parent is The order went into force after the discovery of infantile paralysis in the city and is a means to prevent the spread of the disease. The police are co-operating with the health authorities and young ones after nine o'clock know not the streets of Windsor. The measure prevents the little ones from visiting public places at night or mingling with other children of their age when there was a chance of contagion. Anyway, the regulation is a good one, whether it be a preventative against infantile paralysis or not.

How They Made

Some Good Fires

The Fire Marshal of Wisconsin has issued a bulletin which he terms a "Comedy of Errors."

He looked for a gas leak with a match, and found it. He lighted a match gasoline tank was empty. It was not. He smoked while filling his auto tank, but will do so no more. He smoked in the hay mow, but will not do so again.

He smoked in bed, so did the bed

He threw a cigarette stub into some rubbish.

He used a wooden box filled with sawdust for a cuspidor.

He saved his oily waste and oily rags and they burned his shop.

He washed his hands in gasoline near the stove. The doctor washes them now. He allowed dangerous conditions to remain because "he never had a fire." He does no longer boast of that record. He did not worry about fire as he "had "plenty of insurance," and forgot the safety of his wife and children upstairs. He used a torch to thaw out frozen water pipes, and set the house on He stuffed up the chimney holes with paper and rags. She cleaned her gloves with gasobedbugs. They are all cremated. She burned sulphur all over the house to fumigate.

She used the woodbox back of the range as a waste paper receptacle. She gave matches to her children to go out to burn leaves in the yard. The cotton dresses burned easier than the leaves. She looked for a dress in the

The comedies have turned to tragedies; many of the scenes of action are in ashes and too many of the actors are mained or asleep; others will follow, no doubt, as they are prone to ignore the advice and experience of others instead of profiting by their errors and sufferings. -

Decomposed Body Found by Sectionmen

Wyoming, Aug. 4.—While some of the Wyoming sectionmen of the Grand Trunk were sitting under the shade of a tree near the track eating dinner at noon today, on Charles Luckin's farm, west of this village, they noticed, a few feet away, in an oat field the badly decomposed body of a man.

An examination showed it to be the body of Mr. Samuel Wilkins, who had made his home with Mr. Luckins for the past 25 years. Two weeks ago he left Mr. Luckins for

Sarnia and he was last seen a week ago
Monday in that city.
Identification was made by the clothes and watch fob.
The body was so badly decomposed it was beyond recognition, the hands being

Friday's casualty list contains the name of Private Henry Manning of Point Edward, wounded. He is a brother of Corp. Manning who was invalided home last fall.

While assisting his father in repairing a mowing machine, Gordon, son of Peter Campbell, Howard, met with what might have proved to have been a serious accident. In his curiosity the boy got his face too close to a section of the knives and had the misfortune of having his upper lip badly cut, necessitating several stitches.
