THE ARRIVAL OF THE AMERICA
FROM THE NORTH PACIFIC
SANTA MONICA
A large number of passengers and crew were on board the ship when it arrived at the wharf. The ship was in excellent condition and had made a successful voyage. The passengers were all well and the crew were in good health. The ship was loaded with a large quantity of goods and was ready to be unloaded. The ship was expected to stay in port for a few days before departing for its next voyage.
