DARING ROBBERY.

Yesterday evening the city was thrown into a state of intense excitement by a report that a robbery—the most daring and successful ever perpetrated in Canada—had been committed on the Great Western Railway. A Globe reporter was quickly on the alert, and upon enquiry from all the sources of information, found the facts to have been these:—The evening train leaving Hamilton at about five o'clock arrived at Port Credit, on time, and everything then was in the usual order. Shortly after leaving Port Credit, however, a man entered the rear door of the baggage and express car, and simultaneously four other men came in the other door, all disguised by having white smocks drawn over their heads, covering the greater part of their faces, with holes in the upper part to allow of their seeing their way for the carrying on of their operations. The man at the rear door kept guard so that no escape, however dangerous that might have been, could be effected in that way. The other four advanced in the opposite direction, and two of them seized the baggage-man, named Montgomery, and first gagging him with a sort of wad previously prepared, securely tied him, throwing him on the floor of the car. The other two desperadoes attacked the express messenger named Dundon, in the employ of the American Express Company, who, upon offering what resistance the circumstances permitted, was knocked down, and also gagged and bound. The men then searched his pockets, and found the key of the iron box in which the valuable packages were deposited, and had no difficulty in possessing themselves of the whole of them. The train proceeded towards the city at a more than ordinary rate, and as usual, upon approaching the numerous switches near the junction of the Great Western and the Toronto, Grey, and Bruce Railways, slackened speed, when the ruffians who had committed the outrage jumped from the car and escaped.

Such was the account given by the two men, when, upon the train reaching the Queen's Wharf, they were discovered bound and gagged, lying on their backs. On examination of the car, it was found that the bell-rope had been cut between the car and the engine, which must have been done by the four men on the front platform before entering the car, thus effectually preventing any alarm being given to the engine driver by the express man even if they had not been so speedily overpowered. The place at which the miscreants alighted was near the barracks, a place which would afford them a good opportunity to escape. The amount stolen is variously estimated at from $60,000 to $200,000, but from careful enquiries it is probable that the total will be something short of $150,000. No information of a definite character on this point could be obtained from the Express Company, or from Dundon, who had evidently been cautioned but from a statement made by Dundon when released from his bonds there can be little doubt that the latter amount will most nearly approximate the actual loss sustained by the Company.

When the train arrived at Union Station the excitement among the passengers, when the facts became known, was very great, and several gentlemen proposed to back along the track and institute a search for the robbers, but upon reflection the inutility of this course became apparent, and the idea was abandoned. The anxiety that the thieves should be arrested, however, was not abated, and several volunteers started for the police stations, so that in a few minutes the detectives were on the qui vive, and several of them proceeded at once to the western part of the city, and every precaution was taken to prevent escape. Telegrams were sent to the authorities in the various towns and villages in the vicinity of the city, that strangers might be watched, and Col. Shaw, the American Consul, who showed considerable vigour in the matter, telegraphed to the United States officials to use every effort to prevent escape over the lines.

There are some portions of the account as stated above which might be more fully explained. The car in which the robbery was effected is one of the ordinary baggage and express cars, placed next to the engine. These cars are generally divided into two sections, one for the Express Company and the other for the ordinary baggage. In this case the portion allotted to the Express Company was forward, next the engine, and the portion used for baggage in the rear. It would be interesting to know, therefore, how four men could gain access to the front platform of that car, cut the bell-rope with nothing to which to attach the forward piece, remain there long enough to attire themselves in white gowns, and open the door and enter the car without the engine driver observing anything unusual. Then again the baggage car is, almost without exception, used by the brakemen between stations, and it is a mere matter of fact that, especially in the evening, they go there to smoke and chat, notably the brakeman who has charge of the front car. In this case, no person entered that car from the time of leaving Port Credit until the arrival of the train in or near Toronto. Then, again, it is usual for the conductor to go into the baggage car to collect tickets after leaving Port Credit, as passengers frequently go there to smoke and chat. In this case he could not have done so, or the robbers would have been prevented from carrying out their plan. These are thoughts which the facts as stated by the persons interested naturally suggest, though they may be open to very satisfactory explanation.

During the evening various rumours were current in the city, some to the effect that a clue had been obtained to the guilty parties, but this, unfortunately proved to be untrue. The whole of the circumstances tend to warrant the opinion that the robbery was effected by men not only daring in the extreme but thoroughly experienced and with their plans well matured. Every preparation had been made in the way of disguise, the usual working of the trains had been carefully studied, and all contingencies had evidently been considered to prevent surprise or failure; and the game played was so desperate that there can be no doubt that, had opposition been presented, the result would have been that not only robbery but murder would have had to be recorded as one of the crimes perpetrated in this daring venture.

The surprise which this deed will cause throughout Canada will be such as few events have caused for many years, this having been the first crime of this description ever known in this country, and the universal feeling will be that the Toronto detectives will prove more efficient than those engaged in finding the perpetrators of similar outrages in Iowa, Missouri, and Arkansas, which during the past two years have proved so disturbing to the public mind in the United States.

The Express Company was fortunate in one respect, that, large as the amount stolen was, it was less than usually is conveyed by this train. The money consisted of a considerable quantity of gold coin, in course of transmission from New York to some Canadian banks in the usual way of exchange, and notes, bank-bills, &c., passing between Canadian banks in ordinary business transactions. It is probable that a considerable portion of the nominal amount stolen will thus be rendered unavailable to the robbers, but much will be, unless arrests are speedily made, entirely lost.—Toronto Globe, 14th inst.

CANADIAN ITEMS.

A DESERVING CHARITY.—Among the many deserving charities in this city, none is doing, in its special department, a better work than the St. Bridget's Night Refuge. Mr. M. P. Ryan, the Secretary, has furnished us with the following particulars of the work of the year ending the 31st ult. showing the extent of relief afforded to poor people which is truly marvelous. Nightlodging with breakfast to 9,969 persons. Extra meals to aged and infirm, 4,525 do. Nationalities:—Irish, 6,077; French Canadians, 1,233; English, 1,637; Scotch, 1,022; total, 9,969. Religion:—Catholics, 6,678; Protestants, 3,291. Permanent inmates, old and infirm, in Refuge at beginning of year, 93; received during the year, 29; total, 122; died during the year, 16; left 12; total, 22; remaining in refuge at date, 94. Financial statement:—Dr.—To total expenditure for year ending 31st Oct. 1874, $9,077.64. Cr.—By grant from Local Government, $500; half proceeds of St. Patrick's Bazaar, $3,300; donation from City and District Savings Bank, $1,000; private charities subscribed by sundry persons, $4,477.64.—$9,077.64. These figures tell a tale of suffering and want relieved which it is impossible to exaggerate, and make for the institution a claim upon the benevolent sympathies and contributions of our citizens of all nationalities and creeds of the very strongest description. There is at this moment a pleasant and simple method provided by which this sympathy, and what is more substantial, these contributions, may be afforded. The bazaar at present being held in the Mechanics Hall, and well patronized yesterday, has for its object the supplying of funds for this charity. It is to be continued throughout to-day as well as on Monday and Tuesday, and we hope the most sanguine expectations of its promoters will be fully realized.—Gazette 14th inst.

THE CONFIDENCE GAME AGAIN.—A day or two ago a gentleman at the Bonevante station gave the following account of how he had just been "gulled." He said that he came to Montreal on the Western train, and on the way made the acquaintance of a nice looking gentleman dressed in black. The two becoming intimate the gentleman in black said he was a Montreal merchant, and the other said he was a farmer and was going to buy a stock of goods in Montreal. The merchant said he could supply the articles wanted at as low or lower prices than any one else, and the farmer agreed to buy from him. On coming to the station the merchant took the farmer under his protection and led him to a hotel, where he said he could get good accommodation. On the way a third party met them and called to the one in black, telling him that certain goods he had expected had arrived, and there was something to be paid on them. The merchant felt his pockets and found that he was just $50 short, and it was after bank hours. He then asked the countryman to lend him the amount, and on his doing so gave him what he called a baggage check to guarantee his payment. The party separated and the countryman has as yet been unable to discover the merchant. The check looks like a hotel check, and is not recognized by the Grand Trunk Railway officials.

ATTEMPT TO DEFRAUD.—A strange case of attempting to defraud creditors has just come to light. A young widow named Mrs. Gresham, who has kept a fancy store at No 11 Bleury Street, made complaint to the police that her premises had been broken into and about a thousand dollars' worth of goods stolen. Enquiries were made, but no trace of the burglars could be found. Mrs. Gresham then made an assignment, handing over what remained of her stock to her creditors and moved away from her store. On Thursday however, suspecting something wrong, Mr. Gause, one of the assignees, with the assistance of Detective Lafon, determined to sift the matter to the bottom. Coming to the conclusion that Mrs. Gresham had intended to defraud her creditors, they proceeded to search her new residence and there found all the missing articles. This places the widow in rather an awkward position, as it leaves her open to criminal prosecution.

A CLUE TO THE ST. JOSEPH STREET THIEVES.—For some time past several robberies have been committed in St. Joseph Street, but no trace could be found of who the thieves were until last night, when a daring thief was captured. About 8 o'clock last night a coat was stolen from the door of Alphonse Dorais, 376 St. Joseph Street. The excitement it caused when missing was scarcely over when a man was seen taking away another one. He was at once captured, and proved to be an old penitentiary bird, who is only a few days out of jail. His name is Sifroy Lemay, of Sydenham Street, shoemaker. He was brought to the Chabouloz Square station, and Detectives Murphy and Lafon sent for, who after arriving and having a chat with him conveyed him to the Central station. Gazette, 14th inst.

SMALL-POX.—From the mortality returns of the past week it will be seen that 38 persons whose deaths were caused by small-pox were interred in the city cemeteries. These deaths occurred in the following places:—Versailles street, 1; Albert, 1; McCord, 1; Richmond, 1; Montclair, 1; Workman, 2; St. Dominique, 2; Bissou, 3; Wolfe, 2; Berri, 1; St. Martin, 4; Delisle, 1; Seigneurs, 2; Beaudry, 1; in the Small-pox Hospital, 2; English Hospital, 1; Hotel Dieu, 4—making 30 within the city limits. There came from St. Henri, 2; Ste. Cunegunde, 2; St. Gabriel, 2; St. Jean Baptiste 1; and St. Augustine, 1. There are at present in the English Hospital 9 persons ill of small-pox all of whom, however, are doing well. In the small-pox hospital there are 20 persons ill, most of whom are in a favorable condition.

CAUTION TO GROCERS.—A case came on at the Recorder's Court yesterday, which should serve as a caution to grocers. It appears a Mrs. Ryan, a labourer's wife, cautioned a grocer's wife in McCord street, not to give her husband liquor or she would be sorry. The wife replied that as long as a man has money she would give him liquor. Mrs. Ryan's husband continued coming home drunk every night and abusing her; and to stop this, she went to this grocer's house, got liquor and paid for it, and instituted proceedings, on which the grocer was fined $50 and costs yesterday.—Gazette, 14th inst.

ROWDYISM OF THE WORST TYPE.—A number of Craig street rowdies were observed the other evening watching the young women and girls passing along that thoroughfare. The game was to run across the street, walk rapidly down the other side and, crossing over again ahead of any particular lady, to run against her and act in the most indecent manner. The police should bag a few of these miscreants, and let them be taught a lesson.

The Conservatives of Montreal West have chosen Mr. Thos. White, of the Gazette, to contest that Division with Mr. Frederick Mackenzie, their former nominee, Colonel Stevenson, having been compelled to retire through sickness.

NOT CAGNET YET.—No trace has been found of Davis, the Montreal Bank clerk, who absconded some days ago. Detective Cullen, who has been in search of the defaulter, has returned from New York, and, though at present unsuccessful, has great hope of ultimately attaining his object.

The return is gazetted of the following members to serve in the present Parliament.—William McGregor, Essex; Schuyler Shibley, Addington; William Murray, North Renfrew.

TORONTO, November 16.—On Saturday night while J. L. Thompson yard master at the Toronto, Grey & Bruce Railway, was coupling two cars, he was crushed between them and seriously injured. The express messenger and baggage man of the train that was robbed on Friday evening are under police surveillance, as it is suspected that they were accomplices in the robbery.

DIED.

On Monday, Nov. 2nd in the Township of Godmanchester, County of Huntingdon, Province of Quebec, Peter Brady, Esq., a native of the County Fermanagh, Ireland, aged 58 years.

As a loving and affectionate husband and father of a family, we hope he has had equals, but none could be his superior in that sphere; as a friend, none could breathe from a more noble, generous, sin cere and warm sympathetic heart.

As a Christian and Catholic his sincere devotion to his Father in Heaven and Holy Mother Church on earth was always fervent as was his faith and hope in the tender love and mild mercy of the blessed Redeemer.

As a citizen and Magistrate his conduct and bearing to all those with whom he came in contact was most esteemed.

Amongst his friends, neighbours, and acquaintances, he has left a void which can never be filled again. His demise is regretted by a very wide and extensive circle of friends whose ardent and devoted supplications are now poured to the throne of grace for the eternal repose and felicity of his soul. He had suffered long in feeble health, frequently very severely all which he bore with most exemplary patience and Christian resignation. His last illness although very brief was also very severe. His patience and resignation to the adorable Will of his Heavenly Father could only be equalled by his firm faith and confident hope of the unspeakable joys that can only be realized beyond the grave. Requiescat in pace.—Com.
