BUTLER ON DYNAMITE.

Revernor Ben Recalls the " Mesources of Divilization " Resorted to by England-Shipment of Infected Clothing from Canada During the Rebeliton-The Orsint Conspirscy-America's Proper Attitude.

Naw York, March 5-General Benjamin F Butler, ex-Governor of Massachusetts, gave expression last evening to some of his views on the dynamite question at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. " By all rules of civilized warsaid he, "the use being made of dynamite cannot be justified. Yet like weapons of offense and defense have been used generally by the fanatics of weaker parties in all civilized and insurrectionary contests. Sometimes the stronger party uses weapons of such a nature." Gen. Butler then instanced the depredations committed by England on the people of the colonies during the revolution by Indian eavages, which act the British Parliament justified on the ground that "Great Britain has the right to use all weapons that the God of Nature puts into her power." "During the late civil war also," continued Butler, "Canada was the base of operations for the distribution of clothing infected with smail-pox and yellow-fever into the Union cities, and the incursion of raiders from Canida upon the peaceful village of St. Albane Vt., for the purpose of robbing its bank and the coming down of incendiaries to set fire to New York hotels, where were lodged a large number of inoffensive women and children. England then saw that the law of nations only required of it as a neutral power to see that no armed expedition left its shores to attack us. England also allowed the Alabama to be built to prey upon our merchantmen. She pleaded that her laws could not prevent such outrages; and she refused to change her laws when asked to do so."

Gen. Butler then instanced the Orsini conspiracy against Napoleon, which was hatched in London, in which 156 innocent men, women and children were either killed or wounded in Paris, and said that when afterwards Bernard, one of Orsini's accomplices, was arrested in England for his complicity in these conspiracies, he was triumph-antly acquitted by a British jury upon the assertion of his advocate that an Englishmen would never consent to convict a free man because of his endeavor to remove a tyrant from his people, and when Napoleon asked the English Government to make a conspiracy to take the life of a foreign potentate a felony, Palmerston's Ministry, on making the "project' of such a law, was driven from power by the English people."

Gen. Butler said he was curious to know what kind of a demand England would make on the United States to interfere in this dynamite business. "It does not," continued the General, "seem useful to discuss what laws might be made, because, in my judgment, it is not consistent with the honor, dignity, and power of the United States Government to undertake to enact any law for the protection of a foreign nation either from another power or from its own citizens, who may have been driven by acts of legal vengeance in doing in retaliation what no man could justify. If England de-sires that we should protect her from Ireland she must permit us to do it in our own way. In that case we should do it very effectually by freeing Ireland from her rule, and no more dynamite will be improperly exploded by an Irishman in Great Britain. And as it is impossible for us to protect her people from these horrible catastrophes in the best way, we should decline to undertake what is not our duty by either the comity or the law of

AN EGYPTIAN TIGER.

In illustration of the quality with which Gen. Gordon has to deal, it is related that in 1821 Ismail, sen of Mehemet All, the conqueror of the Soudan, was ordered by his ather to collect, the tribute due from the tribes of Bedoning of Shendy on the Nile half way, between Berber and Khartoum. Ismail summoned a chieftain known as the Tiger, and told him to furnish a large amount of forage and fodder in lieu of a money payment. Next morning Ismail and his troops found with satisfaction piles of the stuff demanded placed around the camp, but their satisfaction was short-lived. The stuff was soon set on fice, and those not burned were ploked off by men lying in wait, behind the burning piles. Mehemet, to avenge his roseted son resed the town of Shendy, but Tiger made tracks in good time into the lastnesses of the interior.

HUMAN BLOOD. Referring to some recent expert testimony as to blood stains the Microscope says: "Human blood cannot be told from dog's blood, except under favorable conditions and not invariably then." Mr. Woodward, of Washington, says: "The average of all the measurements of human blood I have made is rather larger than the average of all the measurements of dogs' blood. But it is not rare to find specimens of dogs' blood in which the corpusoies range so large that their average size is larger than and that of many sam. pies of human blood." When it is remembered that the measurements of human blood by so-called high uthorities vary from 1-3050 to 1-4360 of an inch, expert testimony on this subject takes on a serious aspect, and

juries should receive it with great caution. HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE

FOR ALCOHOLISM, Dr. J. S. Hullman, Philadelphia, Pa., says: "It is of good service in the troubles arising from alcoholism, and gives satisfaction in my practice." ABTIFICIAL FLOWERS.

In Paris no fewer than 30,000 women find their tiving by making artificial flowers. The majority of them, it is said, are real artists, imitating nature almost to perfection, with exquisite taste and well developed imagination. At present a great number of flower makers are out of work, owing partly to flowers being out of fashlon, and partly to the enormous competition in England, Germany, Switzerland and Americs, which increases with every season. No country, however, can compete with France in elegance, delicacy and taste, although the flowers are generally made after French models. It is a curlous fact, says a complacent Frenchman, that women who in France were highly esteemed for their taste in the manufacturing and arranging of flowers lose all their ingenuity when, as not unfrequently happens, they go abroad to pursue their calling.
