

Incidentally, he is also the chairman of the Community Chest and Council of the city of Vancouver at the present time. So that his contribution to his fellow Canadians is not limited to his medical work.

We are very proud of Dr. Wilson, Mr. Chairman, and very glad that he is devoting his time now so largely to the welfare of the veterans of Canada.

Mr. HERRIDGE: Mr. Chairman, before we adjourn, I would like to express our appreciation for having the opportunity of listening to Dr. Wilson. While he was speaking I was thinking how true the things he was saying are, even from our personal experience. Just before I came down here I met three veterans who had gone into an institution because they were afraid to live out in their cabins in case they might meet with an accident or become ill and not be found. I had a letter recently from a millworker who had retired at seventy-five years of age and he wants to find something to do—"I can't stand inactivity."

The CHAIRMAN: There will not be a meeting Monday because some of our chaps want to go to the Legion convention and if you will adjourn to the call of the chair, subject to any unforeseen changes, the next meeting will be Friday morning next.

Some of the members have suggested that if there was no conflict with the main committee which does conflict with us, namely, Defence Expenditures, we might meet on Thursday instead of Friday. I will take that into consideration but unless you hear to the contrary your notice will be for Friday.

The committee adjourned.
