PAIRS

Mr. BEAUBIEN: I was paired with the hon. member for West Toronto (Mr. Hocken). Had I voted I would have voted against the the bill.

Bill read the second time and the House went into committee thereon, Mr. Gordon in the chair.

Sections 1, 2 and 3 agreed to.

On section 4—Service of process.

Mr. BAXTER: Has the hon. member who introduced the bill given any consideration—I presume he has—to the possible constitutional aspect of clause 4? As I take it, the British North America Act provides that the procedure in court is a matter for the local legislature. This parliament can legislate as to the conditions of marriage and the conditions of divorce. I doubt if it can establish the procedure in a provincial court. The divorce courts are provincial courts, and I would very much doubt whether any federal legislation as to service of process would be valid, and if there is a serious doubt about it, I question whether it would be wise to insert in a bill something which may cause a great deal of difficulty to the interested parties. I suggest that it would be wiser to omit this clause and leave the matter to the regulation of the court, where it would naturally fall.

Mr. SHAW: I am glad the hon. member for St. John and Albert (Mr. Baxter) has brought the clause to the attention of the committee. It is not a matter that is without difficulty. I can readily understand how the matter of service of a process within the jurisdiction of a province is properly a matter
