

ing dwell
able man y around
ers which features
ed to that
went; his
the brute
ould be
works of
y how he re, watch-
and think-
the little er he had planted on
ight hand
e!

The silver and the s gone to
ach to you
esh grave
often ut-
Set thine
e." Unbe-
ve did not to Christ
ll his mes-
t Jesus of
whither he
and his in-word of
seek, as he velling in the heart. May ye all be blessed indeed by his death and not one be wanting in the day when God makes up his jewels: then shall the sacred requiem pronounced at his grave have its complete realization. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: yea, saith the spirit, that they may rest from their labors: and their works do follow them."