

Τῇ ἀρχῇ.

It far exceeds the powers of man
With all his vast perceptions here,
A beginning that ne'er began,
To comprehend or know it clear.

Τὸ φῶς.

How beautiful unto mine eye,
How glorious in its majesty !
But to my soul it speaks of thee,
Of thee, of thee, eternally !