

'ax! If the heats are repeated beyond a reasonable number, they will have to send to England for a Derby horse—the Shaftesbury breed, who carried everything before them in the days of Pam, having gone out of favor since the death of their illustrious patron.—[Daily Telegraph, Sept. 21.]