

unity, so that all may
been made, most un-
tim of the Reform
e. Their refusal or
on and even-handed
ill, so long as they constitute, 'in the
the foulest blot on eutheneon. But the
endured will in no
l principles, or his rm Party. He never x years he has en-
ge, cast a single vote
or any public office
erefore be accused of
r of political incon-
owever, cannot boast
to the ingratitude
or it is but too com-
n men of narrow and
attained office and
at with the coldest ingratitude, the very longest and most
elevation.